ANNA GOULD LEADS

A Mob in France Crying "Vive L' Armee."

PRESIDENT LOUBET of France.

Her Husband and His Brother Arrested—President Loubet Struck Over the Head—Stormy Times on the French Race Course.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PARIS, June 5—President Loubet accompanied by the premier, M. Dupuy, and the chief of the military household Gen. M. C. Bailloud, drove to the Auteil races yesterday afternoon, closely followed by Madame Loubet in a second landau. As they drove along the avenue des Champs Elysees, the crowd bowed respectfully, but on arriving at Auteil, they were met by a violent demonstration evidently organized and directed against the president. There was a storm of hoots, yells and cries of "Panama", "A bas Loubet," and "Vive l'Armee." A few shouts of "Vive Loubet" were drowned in the clamor. A strong force of police kept order and arrested many of the disturbers, including a man who tried to force his way to the president's carriage. During the second race, the clamor increased to violence and was plainly directed by a committee of the League of Patriots, collected with their supporters both before and behind the presidential stand around which a formidable array proceeded.

During the grand steeplechase many blows were struck and several policemen were injured in their endeavors to prevent an invasion of the presidential stand. At the crisis of the excitement while shouts of "Vive l'Armee" and "Vive Deroulede" were heard on all sides, Count Christian rushed toward the president brandishing a stick and directed a blow against him, striking him over the head.

The crowd rushed upon Christian, who only escaped rough handling by being taken under police protection.

President Loubet remained all the time unmoved, talking to the premiers, while the officers of his military household were protecting him from violence.

It seems that it was intended to give the Marchand mission a big ovation. The government got wind of the affair and kept Marchand out of the way, although Captain Baratieve and the other members of the expedition were there. The Deroulledists balked of their opportunities, evidently vented their spite upon the president.

The race course committee apologized to Mr. Loubet who replied that he could not thing of holding them responsible. He remarked to an important personage that he did not intend being intimidated into resignation.

During the demonstration, M. Rochefort, editor of "Intransigeant" was seen and an attempt was made to induce him to lead the manifestation but he discreetly slipped away.

ANNA GOULD LEADS.

Comtesse Boni de Castellane, who was Miss Anna Gould of New York, placed herself at the head of the Jeunesse Royalists and marched up and down the lawn, shouting "Vive l'Armee." Comte Boni de Castellane and his brother Jean were arrested but were soon liberated.

Comte de Dion, when arrested, resisted and fought with his cane, smashing it on a policeman's head and causing the jewelled top to fly off, striking a journalist. He was detained in custody. Altogether about 130 arrests were made, one being that of Mr. Dansette, deputy mayor of Armentieres.

WHOLE DAY'S FIGHT

Futile Attempt to Surround Rebel Forces

Thirty Lost in Killed and Wounded—Antipolo Captured But Deserted by Filipinos—Gen. Hall's Battle.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MANILA, June 4—For nearly twenty-four hours General Hall's troops have been engaged in fighting scattered bands of rebels. Some of the skirmishing has been very severe and in one fight the Americans lost four killed and fifteen wounded.

In the movement which began under General Lawton, late Friday night, the Americans have lost probably thirty in killed and wounded. The killed probably number about eight. The movement was intended for a general round-up of the rebels in the Laguna de Bay district but the Filipinos are too wily to permit themselves to be caught. Time and again they have slipped away to safety when it was thought they were in a trap.

The position of the American troops tonight indicates that they will tomorrow sweep the peninsula of Morong, the land projecting to the south into Laguna de Bay, where the insurgents are supposed to have a large force near the town of Morong as well as the battery on the western shore of the peninsula, which recently smashed the propeller of the gunboat Napidan.

General Hall is marching from Antipolo, about six and a half miles northwest of Morong toward the peninsula, with his forces spread out to cover a large section. Colonel Truman, with the First North Dakota regiment, and the Twelfth Infantry, is advancing along the coast of the lake from Tartay incidentally clearing several small towns while Colonel Wholley, with the First Washington regiment, has landed on the peninsula above the town of Morong. The army gunboats Napidan, Covadonga and Oeste are in a position to co-operate.

The original plan was to surround the forces of General Pio del Pilar so that he must retreat to the Morong peninsula, where capture would have been inevitable. This was not a complete success, because General Hall's column found the country full of handicaps to marching. Colonel Wholley having successfully completed his share of the movement, brought the Washington regiment to the river Pasig, where last night about midnight, the men embarked upon cascoes and started for their destination under the convoy of the gunboats. They encountered a repetition of the experience undergone by almost every expedition on attempting to enter Laguna de Bay, as the boats went aground in the shallows in the mouth of the river and were detained there several hours. Major General Lawton in the meantime was indefatigable, riding from one force to the other and supervising the loading of the cascoes, without sleep, for two nights.

HALL MAKES A FIGHT

General Hall's column, which assembled at the water works, or pumping station, late last Friday night, consists of the Second Oregon Volunteers, a battalion of the Second Wyoming regiment, four troops of the Fourth Cavalry, one mounted on the big American horses, which so impressed the natives, the others unmounted, two battalions of the Fourth Infantry, one battalion of the Ninth Infantry, the first six companies of the First Colorado regiment and two mountain guns. The men rolled themselves in their blankets and lay upon the wet grass for a few hours under a drizzling rain.

At 4 o'clock yesterday morning (Saturday) they began to cross San Mateo river and about noon repulsed a large band of Filipinos about 12 miles east of Manila, between Mariquina and Antipolo.

HALL'S 24-HOUR FIGHT.

General Hall's column in the movement upon the Morong peninsula completed a circuit of over twenty miles over rough and mountainous country, having two engagements with the insurgents, one of them severe, and keeping up an almost constant fire against scattered bands of rebels for nearly twenty-four hours from 4 o'clock Saturday morning.

General Hall's objective point was Antipolo, 10 miles off, and there was desultory firing all along the line of march. The gunboats could be heard shelling the hills in advance of the column.

The column, after driving the rebels from the foothills near Maria Chino about noon yesterday, with a loss of but two or three slightly wounded, proceeded with all possible haste toward Laguna de Bay, the Fourth Cavalry in the lead, the Oregon regiment next, and the Fourth Infantry last.

At 5 o'clock these three regiments fought their second battle of the day, and it resulted like the first, in he complete rout of a large Filipino force located a the mountains and having every advantage of position.

In this fight the American loss was four killed, three of the Fourth Cavalry and one Oregonian, and about fifteen wounded. The Filipino loss could not be ascertained, but the terrible fire which the Americans poured into them for half an hour must have inflicted severe punishment.

In this engagement our troops made one of the most gallant charges of the war, and the enemy was forced to flee in the greatest disorder.

The troops, after camping for the night on the battlefield, started at 5 this morning for Antipolo, where it was expected a strong resistance would be made. Antipolo is a place far up in the mountains, which the Spaniards had said the Americans could never capture. It has cost Spain the lives of 300 troops.

The progress of the column was considerably delayed while passing up the steep mountan grade by a small band of insurgents; but these were effectually routed by the Fourth Cavalry, which was in advance, and the troops reached Antipolo in a few hours.

Our lines were immediately thrown around on three sides of the town and then the final advance was made. But it was found unnecessary to fire a shot. Not a rebel was visible, and the town was entirely abandoned.

Two hours later, after a conference between Generals Lawton and Hall, the column proceeded towards Morong, to drive away the rebels found in that quarter. The loss is estimated at thirty killed and wounded.

CORPUS CHRISTI

Beautiful Feast of Catholic Church

ELABORATE EXERCISES HELD AT ST. PATRICK'S

Services Held at Rustic Altars

BENIDICTION GIVEN IN CHURCH YARD

First Communion at Immaculate Conception

That most beautiful of out-door religious events, the annual Corpus Christi procession of the societies and sodalities connected with St. Patrick's church was observed yesterday, an attendance of over 1500 persons participating in the grandly solemn exercises.

The weather was most auspicious and the beautiful observance was completely successful. In honor of the event the convent grounds were very prettily decorated and two rustic altars were erected in the convent yard and a third at the monument in the church yard. The parochial residence, the home and the exterior of the church with the national and the papal colors while the beauty of the scene was enhanced by the presence of numerous American flags.

Vespers was sung in the church at 2.15 o'clock and at its conclusion the Corpus Christi procession was formed and filed out into the academy grounds. John J. Lonergan was chief marshal, and Bernard Brown, Thomas Delaney, and John Golden were aids. The procession was led by the chief marshal and his aids, followed by the cross-bearer and acolytes. Then followed the Cadet band playing alternately with the chimes "Graces from My Jesus Flowing" and other beautiful hymns. After the band were the several sodalities of little girls attired in white dresses and wearing wreaths and sashes of different colors and carrying banners representing the fifteen mysteries of the Rosary. The members of the Children of Mary sodality in white dresses and white veils followed with the Immaculate Conception sodality and a choir of girls. The altar boys escorted the Sacrament, bearing lighted candles and immediately preceding the Sacrament were the flower girls, from whose basket flowers were strewn before the Blessed Sacrament. The sacrament was borne by Rev. R. S. Burke of St. Patrick's church, under a red canopy. Fr. Burke was accompanied by Rev. Fr. Boland of St. Michael's church and James Duffy of St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore. Rev. Michael O'Brien, P. R., of St. Patrick's was master of ceremonies and his assistants were Rev. Frs. McHugh and Leonard of St. Patrick's.

The canopy bearers were His Honor, Mayor Crowley, John J. Hogan, Esq., Thomas J. Enright, Esq., Humphrey O'Sullivan, Dr. T. F. Harrington, Dennis Wholey, Patrick Gilbride and Joseph McQuade. Following the canopy were the altar boys acting as guards of honor and carrying lanterns.

The procession proceeded in the academy grounds to one of the rustic altars where a brief stop was made, during which St. Cecilia's choir of the Notre Dame academy sang "Veni Jesu" and "O Cor Amoris," and the Immaculate Conception choir sang "Peace, It Is Still Our God is Dwelling on His Silent Throne." At the second altar, benediction was given, the academy choir singing "Pantum Ergo."

The procession then proceeded into Fenwick street, thence to Suffolk, to the church grounds and the third altar the church choir under the direction of E. F. Faulkner singing "Landa Sion." Prior to benediction at the third altar, the combined chorus accompanied by the chimes rendered "O Salutoris" and "Pantum Ergo."

After benediction the procession entered the church, the congregation singing "My Lord, My God, My All." Benediction again took place at the main altar, the congregation singing "Te Deum" at the conclusion of the services and dismissal of the procession.

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION.

At the Immaculate Conception church yesterday morning at the 7.30 mass, two hundred boys and girls received their first communion. Mass was celebrated by Rev. William D. Joyce, O. M. I., who also delivered a brief yet beautiful sermon to the young folks in which he told them of the happiness that is theirs on this occasion, the happiest event in their lives, when for the first time they are permitted to receive the Holy Eucharist, the body and blood of our Blessed Lord. The children received communion from Father Joyce, and the prayers for the communicants were read by Rev. Fr. Gigault, O. M. I. the responses being by the children. At the high mass the celebrant was Rev. Fr. Lawrence, O. M. I., and Rev. Fr. Maugin, O. M. I., pastor of St. Joseph's preached on the mass. In the evening hymns in honor of the Blessed Sacrament took place and in line were the boys and girls who were the first communicants of the present year and the Children of Mary. The procession passed through Columbus park as the church yard is called and the girls sang hymn in honor of the Blessed Sacrament to the music of a small organ. The scene in the yard was as it always is, exceedingly beautiful. Benediction was given in the church and the service closed with the singing by the congregation of "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name."

At St. Peter's church at 10.30 o'clock yesterday forenoon a solemn high mass was celebrated by Rev. John H. McKenna, Rev. Edward F. Saunders, deacon, and Rev. W. George Mullin, sub-deacon. An eloquent sermon on the Blessed Sacrament was preached by Fr. Saunders in observance of the solemnity of the feast of Corpus Christi. A procession of the Blessed Sacrament took place in which the different sodalities of the church participated, also the officers of the mass and the pastor, Rev. Fr. Ronan, the whole making a very impressive spectacle.

AT ST. MICHAEL'S.

The feast of Corpus Christi was observed at St. Michael's church, Centralville, yesterday with a procession of the Blessed Sacrament through the church. Rev. Fr. Gilday conducted the services and was assisted by Rev. Fr. Boland. The procession was participated in by the altar boys, the sodalities, the Immaculate Conception society and the Children of Mary.

The sacrament of confirmation will be administered on the evening of June 19.

A BOSTON WOMAN

The Suicide Who Startled New York

ELIZABETH A. HOLT OF SOMERVILLE.

She Had Lost Her Mental Balance.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, June 5—The mysterious woman who killed herself with opium at the Metropolitan hotel has been identified as Miss Elizabeth A. Holt of Boston. She registered as S. A. Brown, Boston, and soon afterward killed herself, leaving no clew to her identity. It is believed that she was deranged mentally at the time.

A man who said he was G. H. Tucker of Boston called at the morgue at 11 o'clock yesterday and when he saw the body he became greatly agitated. He hurried away without making a statement.

Tucker went that night to the house of coroner's physician, Donlan and made an appointment to meet him at the morgue at noon today. He kept his appointment and with him came Charles E. Holt of Boston, a brother of the dead woman. Mr. Holt said his sister was 33 years old and unmarried. She had been ill for two years and gradually lost her strength, suffering from melancholia. Then she lost her mental balance but her relatives did not think her in danger and did not have her watched.

DR. CHAS. E. DONLAN

RETURNS ON A LEAVE OF ABSENCE FROM HAVANA.

Dr. Charles E. Donlan of High street, who has been serving with the 7th army corps in Cuba has returned home on a twenty days' leave of absence and at the end of that time is to be prepared to go to the Philippines or Fort Hamilton.

A number of surgeons are to be sent out to the Philippines and although the selection has not yet been completed it is pretty well understood who will be named for that duty. At Fort Hamilton, in New York harbor, the station to which most of the sick from Cuba and Porto Rico are brought, will also require the services of a large number of surgeons during the summer at least and Dr. Donlan, while he would prefer Fort Hamilton, is not at all certain that he will be selected for that post. He is undecided about going to the Philippines, yet if ordered there he may go, although his mother and other relatives are very much opposed to his going there, as they believe the war in the Philippines will last for years and there is no telling how it will terminate.

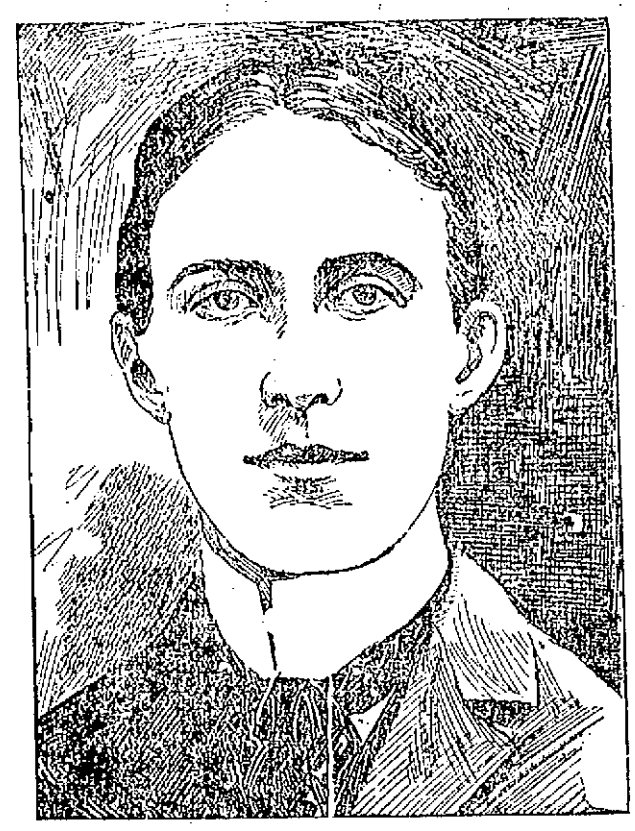

Dr. Donlan seems to have a great liking for army life and says that his experience during the time he has served in Cuba has been very valuable to him. Most of his time was spent with the 7th army corps under General Lee at Havana, although the regiment made a tour across the island to the Curriliean sea to meet General Gomez. This tour gave him an opportunity of seeing the country and he says it is a horrid spectacle of desolation, the homes of the people having been torn down or burned either by the Cubans or the Spaniards. Sometimes the Cubans when forced to abandon their homes burned them down to prevent their occupation by the Spaniards. Sometimes the Spaniards destroyed them in the ordinary course of warfare which has been carried on for so many years.

At the present time the suffering of the reconcentrados is practically over as the government has stopped distributing rations to them and they are expected to be able to shift for themselves. Conditions in Cuba, he says, are rapidly improving and the troops in Havana during the past six months enjoyed the best of health, better, in fact than did the troops in the United States at the same time. Dr. Donlan has enjoyed good health in Havana and looks well in his regimental uniform.

SUNDAY FIRES.

The mammoth bill board on the Hamilton wall caught fire in some unknown manner yesterday afternoon and was blazing briskly when a detachment from the Warren street fire station, which was called, extinguished it.

Chemical B and the protective were called out by telephone at 9.30 o'clock to extinguish a burning pile of rags in the cellar of a tenement at 87 Agawam street.

ORDERED AWAY

Ex-Pres. Cleveland Threatened With Arrest.

FOR TRESPASSING ON FORBIDDEN GROUNDS.

Farmer Johnson Did Not Know Him.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WINSTED, Conn., June 3.—It has been a long time since Grover Cleveland has been threatened with arrest and been compelled to climb a fence to escape. Probably he had that experience when he was a boy and was better able to climb fences than he is now.

The former president of the United States has been poaching. There is no doubt about it. Of course, there are mitigating circumstances. Mr. Cleveland was fishing for trout, and when so ardent a fisherman as he is having luck it cannot be expected that he should see the prohibitive signs on private premises. Mr. Cleveland, properly attired, sallied forth for trout on Tuesday. He was not troubled until he entered the land of Frank Johnson, a Tyringham farmer, with something of a temper and a vigilant farmer.

"Here, you," shouted Farmer Johnson, "get out of this quick or I will have you arrested."

Mr. Cleveland said nothing at all. He shouldered his rod, hung his basket over his shoulder and started away with as much haste as his physical proportions permitted. There was a fence in his way. He had to climb it. Mr. Cleveland was doing nobly when the fence, not built to withstand 300 pounds collapsed into kindling wood. When Johnson was told the fisherman's identity, he was surprised but not chagrined. "You don't say so," he remarked. "Well, I was after the village postoffice when he was president last time and I didn't get it. I reckon we are about even now."

SPAIN'S MINISTER

Duc D'Arcos Received by President McKinley

Friendly Relations Between United States and Spain Resumed—The Ceremony Was a Very Simple One.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Diplomatic relations with Spain, broken off April 21, 1898, were formally resumed at 11 o'clock today when President McKinley greeted the Duc d'Arcos, the newly accredited minister to the United States in the blue parlor of the White House. Simultaneous in Madrid, if the programs arranged was carried out, Bellamy Storer, the new United States minister to Spain was being presented to Christina, the queen regent during the legal minority of His Catholic Majesty, Alphonso XIII. It was a notable occasion in the world's history, the resumption of friendly relations between two nations which had been at war and in the brief struggle had changed the map of the world. The ceremony was exceedingly simple. Promptly at 11 o'clock, the hour set, the two carriages containing the Duc d'Arcos, Secretary Hay and the secretaries of the new Spanish minister, Senors Riano and Pastor, reached the White House. The party was immediately ushered into the blue parlor. The Duke was attired in his resplendent diplomatic uniform.

Across his coat he wore a scarlet sash and on his breast sparkled the insignia of half a dozen orders, the dazzling cross of the Order of the Catholic being the most conspicuous. The secretaries were likewise attired in their gorgeous diplomatic uniforms. On reaching the blue parlor they were presented by Secretary Hay to Col. Bingham, who remained with them while the secretary of state retired for a moment. He immediately reappeared with President McKinley to whom he presented the Duc d'Arcos and Senors Riano and Pastor. The president was cordial but dignified in his greeting. The Duc d'Arcos then read his address in Spanish.

THE POLICE LOST

The Native Wines and Cider Cases.

JUDGE FISHER DECIDED FOR DEFENDANTS.

The Liquor Nuisance Charge Not Maintained.

Judge Fisher gave a very important ruling in the native wine cases this morning, the result of which was the discharge of Frank W. Shannon, Geo. Callahan, James W. Whidden, John M. J. Donovan, charged with maintaining liquor nuisances on Middlesex street. Judge Fisher read the complaint against the defendants and then read section one of chapter 100 of the public statutes. He also read the amendment to the said statute, and then clearly stated that the government had ample opportunity from May 1 to the day of the complaint to make a thorough investigation of these cases, but have offered no testimony to refute that offered by the defence that the grapes, currants, elderberries and rhubarb were all the products of Massachusetts soil, and raised in Essex county. Therefore with no evidence to the contrary, he—Judge Fisher—must come to the conclusion that these wines were native ones in the meaning of the statute as previously read by him. Relative to the cider he found that the defendants were simply agents employed by the manufacturer at $5 per week each to sell the same in a building, one-half of which was leased by him for that specific purpose. He also, from evidence at hand offered by the defence, and with no refutation of the same by government witnesses that said cider was manufactured from apples raised on Massachusetts soil, and also came within the meaning of the law.

The government in the matter of nuisance relied too much upon the common law theory as applied to slaughter house and other like nuisances, but not within the statute as applied to this case. His honor was conscious of the fact that these sales were an annoyance to the neighborhood of these stores and that the persons that were committing these indiscretions were amenable to the law, and they were the ones that should have been arrested, and not the venders. There was no evidence offered that any of the wines or cider sold had been drunk on the premises or sold to be drunk on the premises. Therefore, if there was any punishment in the case it should be on the persons that drank and not the men that sold.

"It's the duty of the court," said Judge Fisher, "not to make the law, but to interpret it. He then ordered the discharge of the defendants.

The continued cases of Henry St. George and Martin Kanville for drunkenness and illegally keeping liquor were again continued until Wednesday, June 7, each being held in $500. The defendants today secured Daniel J. Donahue, Esq., as counsel, and he will conduct their case.

The case of Thomas, James and George Miller, charged with using profane language near the Wigglesville chapel was continued until Monday next, although Lawyer Donahue, the defendants' counsel was ready for the trial. The delay was to allow the prosecution to procure witnesses.

FIGHTS EVICTION

A Centralville Woman Barricades the Door

HAVING BEEN THREATENED WITH EVICTION.

The Blinds Removed From Her House.

A deplorable case of poverty and illness has come to light in Centralville with the family of Mrs. Joseph Whiteley at 10 Lilley avenue.

The father of the family some time ago, it is said, was committed to jail, leaving the wife with two children aged 9 and 6 years to support. Mrs. Whiteley worked hard to keep the little family from starvation and succeeded fairly well until recently when both children were taken ill with measles and one at the present time with mumps. As a result of her double affliction, the poor woman became greatly in debt for rent and the landlord ordered her out of the house.

She refused to go while her children were ill and the landlord removed the blinds from the house, causing the sun to pour mercilessly in upon the unfortunate tenants.

Three days ago, the landlord, it is said, attempted to remove the doors of the tenement but found them barricaded against him and it is said, the windows, as well, the mother having imprisoned herself and her little ones in preference to being thrown out in the street.

For three days' now, the family has been barricaded in and what they are doing for food is somewhat of a mystery.

RODLIFF FUNERAL

Was Very Largely Attended This Afternoon.

The funeral of the late Ferdinand Rodliff took place this afternoon from 143 Appleton street and was very largely attended, many prominent persons being present from out-of-town. The Masonic fraternity, the Old Residents' association and other fraternal organizations with which the deceased had been formerly connected were present at the obsequies as well as leading mill officials. Services were impressively conducted by Rev. Levi W. Staples, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church and there was singing by the Highland male quartet under the direction of Mr. Frank Murphy, who feelingly sang the hymns "Abide With Me," and "Heavenly Home." The interment was in the Lowell cemetery under the direction of Mr. J. B. Currier and the pall bearers were members of the Masonic fraternity. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Overseer Charles E. Farrington of the Hamilton mills. There were many beautiful floral tributes contributed by friends and relatives.

THE LEGISLATURE

MAY ADJOURN LATE THIS AFTERNOON.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, June 3.— The legislature met at 10.30 today. There was no business in the house and a recess was taken until such time as the senate should clear its calendar. The senate began its session promptly but at noon had made little progress and it seemed likely that final adjournment would not come before late in the afternoon.

The bill for the continuation of the publication of the province laws came up in the senate at the forenoon session and caused a very warm debate. The measure was strongly opposed by Senator Keneflck of Hampden but finally was passed by a vote of 22 to 12. Just before the close of the sessions, presents were given the president and clerk of the upper branch.

A CYCLONE

SWEPT A TRAIN FROM TRACKS IN INDIANA.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., June 3.—Word has just reached this city that a freight train on the Chicago and Illinois railroad near Watseka, Ill., was struck by a cyclone while running at a good rate of speed. The wind carried five cars out of the train and blew out two tracks for a distance of sixty feet, together with a good portion of the road bed. Four of the cars were loaded with barrels and heavy lumber. They were lifted bodily from the tracks and were thrown into a ditch, while an empty box car was hurled clear off the track.

DEWEY'S HEALTH IMPROVING.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

HONG KONG, June 3.—Admiral Dewey's health is still improving but he is keeping very quiet at the Peak Hotel, only once having come down to the city and accepting no invitations. He will sail on Tuesday. According to present plans, he will not visit England on his homeward journey, but will proceed straight to Gibraltar and thence to New York, where he expects to arrive at the beginning of October after a leisurely voyage.

Eczema!

The Only Cure.

Eczema is more than a skin disease, and no skin remedies can cure it. The doctors are unable to effect a cure, and their mineral mixtures are damaging to the most powerful constitution. The whole trouble is in the blood, and Swift's Specific is the only remedy which can reach such deep-seated blood diseases.

Eczema broke out on my daughter, and continued to spread until her head was entirely covered. She was treated by several good doctors, but grew worse, and the dreadful disease spread to her face. She was taken to two celebrated health springs, but received no benefit. Many patent medicines were taken, but without result, until we decided to try S. S. S., and by the time the first bottle was finished, her head began to heal. A dozen bottles cured her completely and left her skin perfectly smooth. She is now sixteen years old, and has a magnificent growth of hair. Not a sign of the dreadful disease has ever returned.

Don't expect local applications of soaps and salves to cure Eczema. They reach only the surface, while the disease comes from within. Swift's Specific is the only cure and will reach the most obstinate case. It is far ahead of all similar remedies, because it cures cases which are beyond their reach. S. S. S. is purely vegetable, and is the only blood remedy guaranteed to contain no potash, mercury or other mineral.

Confidence

Women confide their troubles to Mrs. Pinkham and rely upon her advice.

Mrs. Pinkham's counsel is safe counsel. Woman's life is a constant crisis. From girlhood to womanhood, then to motherhood and so on to the perils of the "change of life." The history of every step is on Mrs. Pinkham's records thousands of times and her vast experience and confidential advice is at the free disposal of every woman who writes to her for aid. Her address is Lynn, Mass.

"Your Medicine is a Godsend" Writes Mrs. Phillips.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I want to thank you for what you have done for me. When I wrote to you last June, I was almost a total wreck from female weakness. I was troubled with irregular and painful menstruation, leucorrhœa, bearing-down pains, soreness, and swelling of abdomen; pain at right and left of womb; headache, backache, nervousness, and could neither eat nor sleep well.

"Since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Liver Pills, and using your Sanative Wash, I do not feel like the same person. I am so glad that I wrote to you, for you have helped me very much. My nerves are stronger and more steady than ever before in my life, and my backache and all those terrible pains are gone. Before taking your medicine I weighed less than one hundred and thirty pounds. I now weigh one hundred and fifty-five pounds. My friends say I look better than they ever saw me, and I know that I feel better than I have for a good many years. I think your medicine is a godsend to poor, weak women."—Mrs. Carrie Phillips, Anna, Illinois.

Mrs. Barnard Cured by Mrs. Pinkham.

"DEAR FRIEND—I feel it my duty to express my gratitude and thanks to you for what your medicine has done for me. I was very miserable and losing flesh very fast, had bladder trouble, fluttering pains about the heart and would get so dizzy and suffered with painful menstruation. I was reading in a paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I wrote to you, and after taking two bottles I felt like a new person. Your Vegetable Compound has entirely cured me and I cannot praise it enough."—Mrs. J. O. Barnard, Milltown, Washington Co., Me.

The women of America have in Mrs. Pinkham a confidential friend whose advice is always at their disposal, free of charge. The knowledge that women only assist Mrs. Pinkham in her correspondence with women about health, makes it possible for the full details to be given, without hesitation.

Mrs. Cobb Cured of a Great Affliction.

"I think it is my duty to write you what your wonderful medicine has done for me. I suffered with itching of the external parts for six years, and was in misery day and night. I lost flesh and became weak. I tried everything I could think of. My husband wanted me to see a doctor, but I could not consent to that. He then wanted me try your medicine, and this I agreed to do. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, also used the Sanative Wash, and am to-day a changed woman. I am free from my misery, and can go to bed and sleep like a baby. I can work with comfort, and it does not tire me as it did to walk. Your remedies have done wonders for me, and cannot be praised enough. I would not be without them. They cured me of a great affliction, and why should they not cure others? I would advise every suffering woman to give them a trial."—Mrs. J. S. E. Cobb, Bridgeton Center, Me.

CYCLING NEWS

Emery Soule of this city, the well known bicycle rider, started at the beginning of the season to ride a century every Sunday. Up to date he has ridden one hundred miles every Sunday, and two of them were in the rain.

The police need to have one more "bicycle cop" on the force. High street is badly in need of a mounted policeman, for it is decidedly dangerous for anyone getting off a car or crossing the street after darkness sets in. For instance a crowd of riders will start down at the end of High street and just before they get to Sherman street they will start to "sprint" and if anyone happens to get in their way they are knocked down and in many cases severely injured. To be sure there are a couple of police on High street now, but they do not seem to stop the fast riding very much for when the "cop" shouts to them to stop they only sneer at him. If there was a mounted patrolman on the street he could give chase to the offenders until he caught one or more of them, and after a fine was imposed on these dangerous scorchers, fast riding would be a thing of the past. Already a number of the residents of High street have complained to the night policemen, but they do not seem to prohibit the uncalled for acts of men whose fast riding on wheels can only can be attributed to wheels in their head. Nuff ced.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

COL. RIPLEY MENTIONED AS REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR REPRESENATIVE.

It is now generally reported that Col. Royal S. Ripley will be a candidate for representative. It is said that he has been assured by his friends in the Lowel portion of the district that should he desire to enter the contest they will guarantee him support enough for nomination and election. The nomination of Col. Ripley would materially upset the calculations of Chelmsford Centre republicans.

Another shooting match will soon be held by the North Chelmsford Shooting club at its ground in this village.

Arthur Mallalieu has accepted a position as assistant bookeeper and assistant paymaster for the firm of H. E. Fletcher, the well known quarry man.

Mr. Fletcher has about 150 men employed at the present time on his ledge in West Chelmsford and business is rushing with him.

It is not thought that North Chelmsford will have any Fourth of July celebration this year, as nothing relating to the celebration has been done as yet. Last year the village had a grand celebration.

CITY HALL NOTES

Agent-Elect Knapp Puts in Appearance.

THE LEGALITY OF HIS ELECTION.

Special Meeting of Aldermen Tomorrow.

The committee on accounts will meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The electric wire committee will meet at 7.30 this evening.

The mayor has called a special meeting of the aldermen for tomorrow evening for the purpose of clearing up unfinished business. The Fourth of July appropriation and the $33,000 street appropriation are among the unfinished matters to be considered.

A regular meeting of the common council will be held tomorrow evening.

Horace Knapp who was voted for as agent of the board of health, was at City Hall this morning and held a conference with Agent Bates. Some people claimed that Mr. Knapp is not yet elected and that the form of election must be gone through again. This is not so, however. The law specifically states that the board of health may elect an "agent or agents." When the motion to elect Knapp was made by Mr. Fifield it was that he "be chosen agent" and not that he be "chosen agent to succeed Mr. Bates." During Saturday's meeting Mr. Mulligan questioned whether Mr. Knapp could be elected till there was a vacancy and the law bearing on the matter was cited.

Among the marriage intentions recorded at city hall today were the following: Robert Dalziel 38 to Helen A. Plummer 24 both of Manchester, N. H.

FIREMAN DEAD

JAS. P. SMITH OF THE HIGH STREET ENGINE PASSED AWAY.

James P. Smith, aged 36 years, died last evening at his home, 57 Chestnut street, after an illness of about three years' duration. The indirect cause of death was an accident which occurred to the deceased in 1896. Mr. Smith was then in the employ of of T. J. McDonald, the Dutton street grain dealer, and while at work delivering goods from a delivery wagon a bale of hay fell on him and severely wrenched his back. Although the doctors assured his family that the injury would not prove fatal, spinal disease ensued ,and after great suffering the deceased passed away early last evening.

Mr. Smith was a clerk for Mr. McDonald for three years preceeding the accident was also a call fireman. He was connected with Engine 4 on High street since September 1, 1886.

He had lived in Lowell practically all his life and his friends who are legion will be pained to learn of his death.

During his long confinement at home, Mr. Smith was never forgotton by his acquaintances whose calls were very frequent.

He leaves, besides a widow, his mother and two sisters, and a large circle of sorrowing friends to mourn his loss. The funeral will take place at 10.30 o'clock tomorrow morning from the Immaculate Conception church.

POLICE COURT

SIXTEEN DRUNKS BEFORE JUDGE FISHER THIS FORENOON.

There were sixteen drunks before the court this forenoon and Judge Fisher in nearly all of the cases imposed fines. Margaret Cavanaugh and Ellen Hannan were each fined $6.

The following each received fines of $5: Joseph A. Paris, Emile Gray, Thomas Hoye, John J. Welsh, Joseph Delisle, James Daly, Moise Lavignac, Michael Higgins.

Albert Berrand was adjudged guilty of drunkenness and also of assault upon Officer Markham and was continued until tomorrow forenoon for trial.

Dennis Wood pleaded not guilty to a charge of drunkenness and also with threatening his wife Annie Wood. The latter testified that on Saturday last the defendant chased her out of the house where they resided with a knife in his hand and threatened to kill her.

Officer Crowley testified to the inebriated condition of the defendant on Saturday.

The defence was a denial of the government witnesses' testimony and he kept up continual talking in court and begged of Judge Fisher to let him go free and he would at once go to Canada. Judge Fisher could not see it in that light and fined Wood $6 for drunkenness, or for non-payment of the same to be committed to jail. For threatening Wood was ordered in $100 to keep the peace for a period of six months.

Patrick McAndrew charged with illegally keeping liquor, was continued until tomorrow for trial. Maurice Johnson, Edward Brady and Joseph Fallon on complaint of Officer James Hadley were charged with keeping open shop on the Lord's Day at Chelmsford and were continued until Saturday next for trial.

OF COURSE NOT.

"I saw you riding in a hack yesterday. Were you going to the doctor's?"
"Do you suppose I would be fool enough to let my doctor know that I could afford to ride in a hack?"

VETERAN FIREMEN

Gen. Butlers and Burkes May Contest.

The tub of the General Butler Vets arrived in Lowell Saturday afternoon from Natick, having been hauled by horses from that place to South Framingham where it was loaded on a flat car, but not shipped until Saturday.

The Burkes are thinking of making an effort to secure the Vixen, the tub of the Lowell Vets, for the summer with a view of participating in musters. They have been getting in a little practice and may challenge the Butlers to a trial of speed. There are no tournaments announced for June 17. Last summer the Butlers went to Lynn this date. There is to be a muster at Central Falls, R. I., July 4, but the Lowell organization will probably not attend.

SPLENDID CHARITY.

"Wat youse lookin' fer mister?"
"I dropped a nickle right here."
"Well, here's a dime; now go along an' don't cry."

Real Unionism.

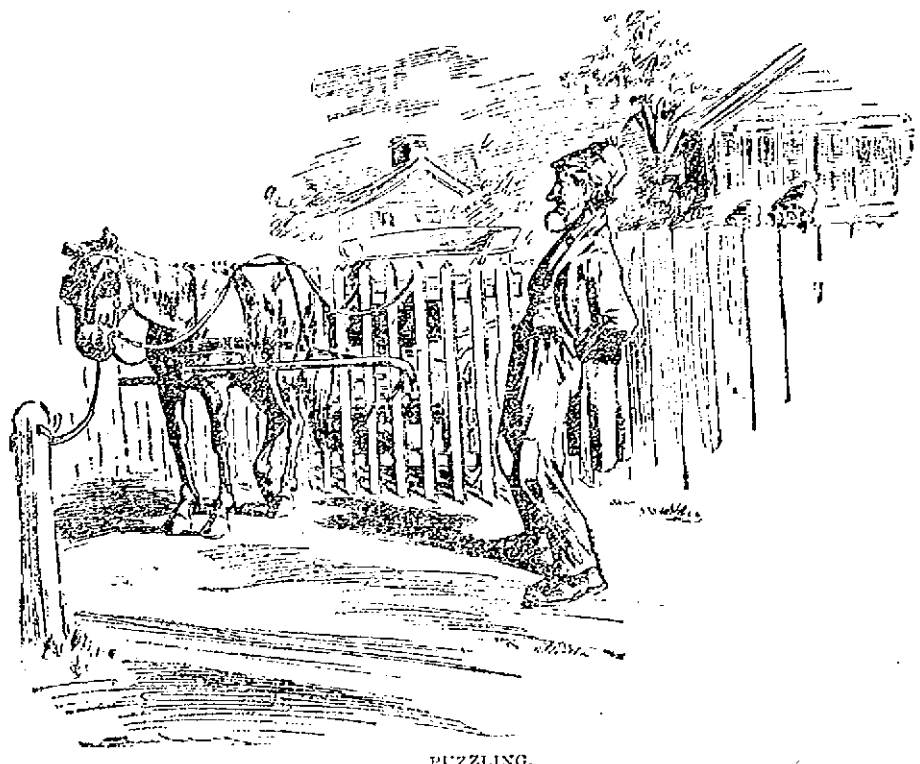

Real unionism is not an attempt to squander your employer's money as rapidly as possible, to see how little you can give him in exchange for pay, to take the money weekly and feel no further interest in whether it has brought him good or ill. Nor does it consist of a constant suspicion and a close watching of every loophole in the effort to discover something wrong about which to find fault. Real unionism is something higher and better than that. It is, and should be, protection for the employers against crookedness and incapacity, an earnest desire to give a generous return for the wage allotted, a sympathetic interest in the employer's doings, and an honest, earnest endeavor to do work cheerfully, promptly and well. Time serving is not unionism, and time servers do more to detract from the benefit of organized labor than any other known quantity. Give faithful service on the lines you contract for, or be too manly to take pay.—Typographical Journal.

I had attacks of backache and pains through my loins for over 12 years. I doctored, used liniments, plasters and remedies without number, but nothing did me any permanent good until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Ellingwood & Co.'s drug store. AS OTHERS SEE US.

The Springfield Union says: Forty-six "drunks" were arrested in no-license Lowell last Saturday night. Either the police of that city are showing extraordinary diligence or else the people find something to drink besides sarsaparilla.

The two daughters of General Wheeler were present at the mock session of the legislature Saturday. They must carry away with them a high idea of the dignity and refinement of the Great and General Court, when that body undertakes to burlesque itself. It is bad enough at best.

The committee on commons, it appears, is limited to the amount of money it has to expend on the new Rogers Park. That being so, the construction of a pond had better be abandoned as none at all is preferable to a cheap one that would not harmonize with the surroundings.

The decision of Judge Fisher in favor of the defendants in the native wines case has been favorably commented upon. It is not to be supposed that everybody brought into court on the charge of selling liquor should be convicted. There should be some unmistakable proof of their guilt.

The legislature of 1899 has been prorogued and its work has now gone into history. It would be futile to examine the records of its enactments for anything that would improve the laws or widen the scope of state policy. Perhaps the most notable measure passed was the trades unions' insurance bill; at least, it was that which appears to be the most popular measure enacted during the session.

The legislature, as usual, gave a large portion of its time to tinkering at the municipal affairs of Boston, changing and re-changing the method of electing officers and transacting business, the effect being to restrict that city's right to home rule.

The decision of the Lowell judge that under the law a newspaper in a no-license city or town cannot publish liquor advertisements, and the fact that the Massachusetts legislature refused to pass the bill making such publications legitimate can have but one effect and that is the creation of a sentiment that will result in repeal of the law. The Times does not permit the use of its columns to such advertising, but it nevertheless believes that such an application of the law as is involved in the decision at Lowell is an invasion of personal right. It is a pity that most temperance legislation seems to labor under some such handicap to toleration as this.—Brockton Times.

It is possible that the decision of the police court judge may eventually be overruled, but if not, the law will undoubtedly be repealed. It is doubtful if the framers of the law ever intended it should have this effect. It is not fair to have papers published outside Lowell and circulating here granted a privilege in this respect which Lowell papers are denied. This is an important question which will be properly cleared up in due time.

THE OHIO REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

In the nomination of the state ticket in Ohio, the republicans have given the forecast of their platform in 1900. Mark Hanna is still on top in Ohio, the boss of the faggins, the political corruptionists, rings and bodlers through his high-handed methods, by appeals and threats as the spokesman of the administration. Mark Hanna speaks for McKinley in his role as dictator to the republican party of the state and nation and although to the latter he is particularly obnoxious, his influence with the president gives him the power to overcome his enemies and to win political battles, as he has done in Ohio, securing by corrupt means his own election to the United States senate, and now the nomination of George H. Nash, in spite of the strongest opposition in the state.

The order recently issued by President McKinley withdrawing four thousand offices from the merit system was given out undoubtedly for the purpose of providing a sufficient number of places for Mr. Hanna's disposal in dictating the nominations in Ohio and elsewhere. When Mr. Hanna is not disbursing boodle, he is distributing patronage that is usually given out by the president. He is the president's political manager and agent and is recognized throughout the nation as the greatest political corruptionist in the country, not excepting Tom Platt or Ex-Senator Quay.

The anti-civil service order of the president served to conciliate some of the most bitter opponents of Boss Hanna. Sen. Foraker was perhaps the most humiliated man by the nomination of Nash, but all factions were made subservient to Hanna's purpose. The platform adopted is particularly worthy of note as forecasting the platform of 1900; it gives the republican administration full credit for whatever degree of prosperity exists now, has existed, or will exist in the near future; gives it credit for the victory in the war with Spain, and for the great territorial expansion of which we hear so much and for which there is a sort of reckoning still pending in the Philippines. But perhaps the most ludicrous feature of all was the adoption of an anti-trust plank by the organizers, defenders, stockholders and representatives of the trusts. This anti-trust plank is a piece of political claptrap put in to offset any provision of this nature which may be embodied in a democratic platform, but it means nothing except an attempt on the part of republicans to delude voters.

The president was, of course, commended in the platform for his judicious modification of the civil service rules recently promulgated and the anti-trust plank stated that: "We commend the action of the 73d general assembly of Ohio, in placing a stringent law now on our statute books, prohibiting the organization of trusts and we denounce such unlawful combinations as inimical to the interests of the people." This from a republican convention nominated by Mark Hanna is too absurd to be laughable.

The local courts of Foresters have already appointed committees to arrange for the grand court convention to be held in this city next May. It is expected that Huntington hall will be ready by that time and if so, it will be used for the grand concert and ball to visiting delegates. The convention will be held in Foresters' hall.

Everybody is privileged to spend their money for whatever and wherever they please, but it does seem very foolish for people will trouble themselves to go to Boston to do their shopping, where the prices are higher than those in this city. I had occasion to call on a friend of mine in Boston who is employed in one of the retail stores and was surprised to see people from Lowell making pretty heavy purchases of ladies' shoes. The funny part of it was that some members of the family, of these individuals are in the shoe business in Lowell. My friend informed me when I commented upon the fact that it was nothing strange or unusual as every day you might see Lowell people trading at his store. If that is so, in that particular branch of business I presume it is so in every other. But the fact still remains that it is poor economy as they can get surely better bargains at home when you take into consideration, the expense of travel, luncheon, etc. Some people argue that it is necessary to go to Boston in order to get a variety. We are rather inclined to differ with them as we believe that they can get everything they need in this city at as low prices and as good quality as in Boston.

It has been known for several years that Robert B. Mantell was unable to appear in New York save on Sundays, owing to some legal difficulty. To overcome this Mr. Mantell recently filed a petition in bankruptcy in the Chicago courts. His liabilities are placed at $14,000, which in part includes a judgment secured in that city for $10,000. If Mr. Mantell secures his discharge in bankruptcy he will be able to play in New York, a desire which his manager, M. W. Hanley has cherished for some time. Dyspepsia Has No Terrors Any More.

Macklintosh Scottish Remedy Co:

Gentlemen—It affords me great pleasure to report to you the great benefit I have received from your wonderful Dyspepsia Remedy. I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia, gastric and intestinal indigestion. At times I was on the verge of nervous prostration, and life seemed a burden. I was so depressed in spirits that a sharp word from a friends would cause me to shed tears. I was so weak and melancholy I often thought—am I a sufferer this way all the rest of my life? Meeting a friend one morning, he advised me to try the Scottish Remedies. After using for three days I noticed a change coming over me—nature seemed to be taking on new forces, and life was returning again. My tired and nervous system was so much better from the delightful sleep I commenced to have that I would awake in the morning feeling rested, and life no longer a burden. I cannot give you praise enough for your wonderful Indigestion Remedy, and allow me to thank you heartily and accept my gratitude for my renewed health. Yours with success,

OFFER TO LITTLE

By Harvey Parker a Famous Athlete

SAYS HE CAN THROW LITTLE EASY

Five Times Within Hour or Lose.

A wrestling match has practically been arranged between John J. Little of Brockton and Harvey Parker, the famous athlete considered the best wrestler of his weight in the world. Parker went to Brockton a few days ago and deposited $10 with the Times as a forfeit for a match with any wrestler in the city, also Dick Casey of Lowell. He preferred Little and offered to go for $100 a side at 140 pounds, catch-as-catch-can. Little knowing Parker and what he has done didn't care to meet him under those conditions and refused to wrestle. A meeting of the men was arranged for and they came together.

Parker simply stated that he desired a match with Little. Little stated that he did not believe he had any business with Parker. Parker looked Little over and Little made a close inspection of Parker. Little is much taller than Parker and looks fully as weighty. Little stated that he weighs 140. Parker weighed 155 with his clothing on. He stated that he would get to any weight Little would name for a match.

After some discussion Parker finding that Little was not anxious to wrestle made a very fair proposition, one that Little will, no doubt take on. He stated that he will guarantee to throw Little five times in succession in one hour or lose the match. If Little wins one fall in an hour, Little wins. Little told Parker, point blank that he would agree to do so or lose and make the falls in succession to that. The men agreed to meet later and make terms.

Little has many friends in Brockton who look upon Parker's offer as a cinch for Little. Little has not been put to his utmost yet, except in the Lowell match the other evening. He is in prime shape for a match, his knees now being on the way to quick recovery and the go between the men should be well worth seeing. It is known what Little can do. In view of that Parker's proposition looks monstrous.

LEFT TO STARVE

HOMELESS AND HUNGRY IN STREETS.

Tramps Wearing the U. S. Uniform.

Private Patrick M. Buckley of Co. M, First Infantry, after a year's good service at Pinar del Rio has returned to his home in this city, having been mustered out. In conversation with The Sun reporter Private Buckley stated that many of Uncle Sam's ex-soldiers in Cuba are destitute and starving. In support of his claim to that effect he showed the reporter a copy of the Daily American, an American newspaper published in Havana, which contained the following under the date of April 28:

The United States is looked upon as not only a civilized country, but a Christian one as well. Millions of dollars are sent annually by the good people of the States to the missionaries in heathen countries, even cannibals are fed on some of the good missionaries that are sent to convert them. While missionaries for feeding purposes are not needed in Havana, food and shelter is sadly needed for men who have received honorable discharges from the United States.

For months relief stations have been busy issuing rations to the Cubans, while Americans have been walking our streets homeless and hungry.

This is not a fancy picture, but stern reality. Tuesday morning, The Daily American told the story of the 19 men who were honorably discharged from C company, Eighth infantry, and who were refused a meal or a night's shelter in their old company, though they were discharged on Sunday afternoon.

This time it is Company A, Eighth infantry, where a number of honorably discharged soldiers were refused a meal and shelter. They received their discharges Wednesday afternoon, and it being too late to get their final statements cashed that day, they naturally expected to stay with their old company until they received the transportation and money to which they are entitled. Their surprise can be imagined when they were informed that they could neither eat nor sleep there.

Yesterday they failed to get their money, and as a result they are compelled to live on charity, and sleep on the benches in our park.

Yet the United States is feeding fat "starving" Cubans right here in the city of Havana, and the Boys in Blue are allowed to go hungry. There will be a day of reckoning for some one, and let it be hoped in the very near future.

Besides the cases recorded above there are a number of discharged soldiers in the city from the First infantry, who are in the same predicament. Milwaukee Bike, waiting to get their transportation and final statements cashed. Until then they must walk Havana's streets or sleep in the park.

At the Second Division Hospital a large number of men were discharged last Monday and Tuesday, and Major Ira Brown, the officer in charge, issued an order that all soldiers would have to leave within twenty-four hours after receiving their discharge, but when shown The Daily American's article of last Tuesday he rescinded the order."

REBELS COMPLY

With the Orders of Admiral Kautz

THEY HAVE STRENGTHENED THEIR POSITION

And are Engaged in Manufacturing Cartridges.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

APIA, Samoa, May 19 (via San Francisco, June 5) When Admiral Kautz issued his proclamation of April 23, directing Mataafa and his followers to keep beyond certain defined limits around Apia, the prescribed district covering an area 12 miles long and six miles broad, followed by a notification to Mataafa that unless the rebels were outside the prescribed limits in 24 hours, fire would be opened upon them wherever they could be reached, this brought about an immediate and unconditional compliance with the admiral's demands. From that time up to date there has been no conflict with the rebels. Since the rebels went to Faleata, a strong patrol of 700 or 800 men daily make the round seeing that all is quiet and that no looting or damage is done by the Malietoan followers. The large fort at Lotopia has been destroyed by the Malietoans and it is reported that Mataafa is highly enraged at this claiming that in the event of his willing to return to the fort after the commission has given their decision it ought to have been allowed to do so. In the meantime he is building forts inland at the town of Faleauta, and his followers stoutly declare that even if the commissioners are unanimous against him, he will never acknowledge Tanu as king and will fight it out to the bitter end. In the meantime the rebels are strengthening their position, sending out messengers for their armaments to come and join them and are busily engaged in manufacturing cartridges. Deserters from the Mataafa camp say that on the occasion of the Falke last visiting Salualata, that some of the rebel chiefs went off to the ship and asked for a supply of ammunition but that the same was refused them to their great disgust. The loyalists on the other hand are fortifying their intrenchments around Apia and are being daily drilled and instructed by officers from the different warships. A four inch gun has been taken from Her Majesty's ship Tauranga and is now mounted at Mulinu in such a position as to command the whole of the western portion of the municipality. The great question is whether the commission will order the disarmament of the natives. If they don't, it is the opinion of almost every white resident that these islands will no longer be safe to live in and many declare that if the natives are to retain their rifles, no matter what other solution of the Samoan question is made, they cannot and will not live here with their wives, families and property at the mercy of the next lot of rebels.

It is the intention of Admiral Kautz to leave here three days after this writing. He says that the commission will be a long time over its labors and that during that time nothing will be done by the war vessels. The Badger and the Brutus are both here in American interests and the Newark is expected in three weeks at least and therefore there is no need for him to wait here a lengthened period doing nothing.

TOMORROW AFTERNOON.
AT FIVE O'CLOCK.

I am out of health, all alone, and unable to take care of my property; in other words, I have either got to sell it or actually neglect it. Under the circumstances I have chosen to sell it and will on Tuesday, the sixth day of June, 1899, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, regardless of weather or any conditions sell a two and half story house of nine rooms and cellar, 1027 Gorham St. Corner lot at the corner of Gorham and Lincoln streets, containing about 3560 square feet of land, 49 or more feet on Gorham street and 82 feet on Lincoln street.

The two parcels adjoin each other. The house was built by my late husband, who was a carpenter and builder and he built it to live in himself and occupied it to the end of his life. The lumber and finish was all selected; never was a house more honestly constructed; closets, chests, sets of drawers, and many other conveniences all through the house. It is in perfect order and repair; has two tenements, one of five rooms and one of four rooms; has water closets, sewerage, etc.

The lot has sewerage, sidewalks, and all city conveniences facing it on both streets and all assessments are paid for same. Seven minutes' electric car service pass the premises. The house will be open for inspection after 10 a. m., on day of sale. Three-quarters of the purchase money on each lot can remain on mortgage if purchasers so desire. The property is well located, is in a neighborhood that has always held its own in values, will always rent, is a safe place for investment or improvement, the property is going to be sold. The purchaser of house and lot must deposit with or secure to the auctioneers $250 as soon as the lot is struck off. The purchaser of corner lot must do the same with $150.

MOTHER KILLED

While Trying to Protect Her Daughter.

COUNCILMAN McCORMICK THE ASSAILANT.

Had Paid Attention to Victim's Daughter.

HE FOUND HER WITH ANOTHER MAN

And Assaulted Her When Her Mother Interfered.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., June 3.— Mrs. Minerva Monaghen was murdered in her home on Jefferson street shortly after midnight while trying to protect her daughter, Mrs. Gertrude McCogan, from the attacks of Councilman W. C. McCormick. Mrs. Monaghan was stabbed in the neck by some sharp instrument, which severed the jugular vein and produced death in a few minutes.

McCormick, who is blind, has been paying attention to Mrs. McCogan and last night found her in the company of a young man named Diffenderfer. This so enraged him that he assaulted her with a water pitcher. Mrs. Monaghan, her mother came to her rescue and McCormick drew a knife and cut her throat. He then fled but was later arrested at his home. Mrs. Cogan was not seriously injured.

NEARLY DROWNED

John Nicholson Rescued by Police Commissioner Curtis

By Associated Press to The Sun.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., June 3.—Police Commissioner C. P. Curtis of Boston this morning saved John Nicholson, a Gloucester fisherman, from drowning. Nicholson was returning from Nahant, with a load of bait when his boat was struck by a squall, capsized and sunk about three quarters of a mile off Lincoln house point. Nicholson tried to swim ashore, but his strength gave out. Commissioner Curtis, on his way to the depot, heard the cries, procured a boat and with ex-Selectman Melzard, rowed out and rescued Nicholson who had sunk once and was just going down for the second time.

WAS RE-ARRESTED

John Deity Taken by Inspector McKay After His Release

By Associated Press to The Sun.

QUINCY, Mass., June 3.—John Deity, who was released from Cambridge jail yesterday, after serving six months, was re-arested by Inspector McKay of this city, and was arraigned in court here today, on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses from the Quincy and Boston street railway.

Deity is the man who is alleged to have defrauded a number of street railway companies. His plan was to ride on the rear platform, and, unobserved, unscrew bolts that held the handle bars. At an opportune moment it is claimed he would lean heavily aginst the handle bars and fall to the ground, carrying the handle bars with him. Deity was arrested in Framingham in November for a like offence, and was sentenced to serve six months in jail.

The case in court today was continued until Tuesday.

CHILD KILLED

BY A FALL FROM A WINDOW ON THURSDAY.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WATERVILLE, Me., June 3.—Wednesday night, Donart, the three-year-old child of Joseph Desrocher, met with a horrible accident which resulted in his death, Thursday afternoon. The child was playing in a third story room in the Baulanger block when some one in the street below called him and going to the window he raised the screen and looked out, losing his balance, falling thirty-five feet to the ground below. The child's skull was fractured, the face badly mutilated and there was also a hole of several inches into the skull, causing unconsciousness until death.

MRS. MOORE

INDIGNANTLY CONTRADICTS OFFICER McCANN'S TESTIMONY.

Mrs. M. J. Moore indignantly denies the charge of drunkenness made against her by Officer McCann in his testimony in the Barrows liquor case. She says that those who know her need not be told that it is false, but to those who do not know her she would say that the officer's testimony as regards herself was untrue. Mrs. Moore is a well known and highly respected resident and in the face of such a charge her feelings can be easily understood.

IN LONDON CIRCLES

Derby Day a Great Society Event

Lieut. Churchill Achieving Great Success in Politics and the Old Politicians are Warned to Look to Their Laurels—Sen. Wolcott Predicts McKinley's Re-Election.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, June 3.—London was plunged suddenly from winter to summer during the week. Last week fires were necessary. Now the temperature is 70 and the sky is clear and blue. London seldom seems so full of people and Hyde Park presented a very gay appearance, the light summer toilettes and bright-colored sunshades making a brilliant picture daily. The Princess of Wales, accompanied by the Princess Victoria, have been driving in Rotten Row, this being their first appearance for a long time. A number of coaches were also out. One very smart team driven by Mr. Frank McKay of Milwaukee, was often seen.

Considerable interest is being aroused in auto-cars. The Dukes of Marlborough and Manchester are doing all they can to start the fashion. A great automobile show will be opened June 17, at Richmond by Prince Edward of Saxe-Weimar. There will be tests of hill-climbing and races between fast trotting horses and automobiles.

An American company is establishing works at Coventry for the purpose of building motor cars invented by a son of Hiram Maxim.

DERBY DAY.

Derby Day is rapidly losing its character as the people's day and judging from the character of the attendance at Epsom on Wednesday, it is becoming as fashionable as Ascot Day. A vast majority of those occupying the stalls and boxes on the grand stand and on the jockey club stand were ladies well known in society while their bright costumes made the paddock look like a garden party.

The sensational collapse of the French horse Holocauste, whose death represented a loss of $20,000 to its owners, was an intense disappointment to the large French contingent which came over to see what was confidently predicted to be a victory for their representative. The French papers are furious and blame the Epsom authorities for leaving the course in a disgracefully dirty condition for it is gravely declared that Holocauste slipped on a piece of orange peel. There was a great rush for relics after Holocauste was slaughtered. His ears, mane, tail and hoofs were cut off and the gypsies did a roaring trade in selling bunches of hair from their own gray horses and palming them off as genuine Holocauste souvenirs.

A well known veterinary surgeon, Marcus Stevenson, a witness of the accident attributes in a published interview, the disaster to Sloan's method of riding, declaring that if the jockey had been sitting in his saddle instead of crouching on the horse's neck, he could have helped Holocauste to recover after the first mistake when he ticked his ankle. Holocauste, he adds, was then going very well and fifty yards further Flying Fox was only a neck ahead when Holocauste stumbled again and broke his pastern. Sloan, according to Stevenson, had no control over his mounts and "his methods extort speed by frightening his mount, as Johnny Gilpin did."

Holocauste's owner, Mr. J. de Bremond, certainly does not share the foregoing views. He said emphatically to a representative of the Associated Press: "Sloan's jockeyship was consummate and it is acknowledged on all sides that he had the race well within his grasp when the accident occurred. It was indeed ill luck to have victory snatched from me. Moreover, in Holocauste I lost a pet. The sympathy expressed on all sides will be extended to Sloan, whose disappointment is second only to mine."

LIEUT. CHURCHILL'S SUCCESS.

Lieut. Winston Leonard Churchill, eldest son of the late Lord Randolph Churchill, is making a distinct hit in the political field. He has been elected president of the Midland Conservative club and at a meeting held at Birmingham on Thursday to welcome him he made an extremely able speech during the course of which he evoked much merriment saying the expression of a presidential address always reminded him of the high politics of a queen's speech, a rescript of the Czar, or a message of President McKinley, or coming to lesser matters of Emperor William's telegrams. Former Secretary Olney's notes or other dignified styles of public utterance. Churchill also treated Lord Rosebery, Sir William Vernon-Harcourt, Mr. John Morley and other big leaders of the opposition to a dose of chaffing, but his clever criticism and speech generally attracted considerable attention. The conservative Morning Post says: "The old politicians had better look to their laurels. Churchill's speech has a force of movement and humor that delighted his hearers and discloses a sense of form and consciousness that oratory is an art, which will leave the public to expect more in that respect than has hitherto been supplied."

MANY AMERICAN VISITORS.

The hotels are now full of Americans. Senator Wolcott of Colorado is staying at Claridge's Hotel on his way to Carlsbad. In conversation with the representative of the Associated Press, he grew enthusiastic on the subject of the growing prosperity in the United States and the rapid increase in the exportation of American manufactures and predicted the triumphant re-election of President McKinley by an increase majority. He also said that the democracy would not re-adopt William J. Bryan's silver platform but would make the chief issue hostility to trusts and expansion. He was keenly interested in the forthcoming report of the Indian currency commission and hoped that it would not recommend a gold currency as he thought an international agreement on bimetallism would be reached before long with a change of ratio.

Considering the advanced state of the season, numerous changes are announced by the theatres. The Americans are looking forward with interest to Nat Goodwin's appearance at the Duke of York's theatre on Monday; at Daly's, the same night, George Edwards will revive the "Gaiety Girl;" on Tuesday, there will be a revival of "Pinafore" at the Savoy, and on Thursday, Sarah Bernhardt will open with "La Tosca" at the Adelphi.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 3.—The steamer Alameda brings the following advices from Honolulu, dated May 28: At a meeting of planters, it was decided to accept the proposal of the Italian government for laborers on the same terms as those imported from the Portuguese colonies from time to time. It has been decided by the cabinet and the board of immigration that the importation of aliens should be allowed with a single provision that the laborers shall come from the northern provinces of Italy and be of the peasant class.

ALMOST A RIOT

THE SYRIANS AND PORTUGUESE CLASH IN LAWRENCE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LAWRENCE, June 3.—A riot between the Syrian and Portuguese colonies which was rapidly assuming a serious aspect when quelled by the police took place shortly after 5 o'clock last evening. The scene of the affair was on Valley street. In the heart of the Syrian quarter. Thirty or more people were involved, and of this number nine were placed under arrest.

The disturbance occurred just as the mill operatives were returning from work and at least 2000 spectators jammed the street, making it difficult for the police to arrest all who were implicated. Stones, clubs and even chairs were used and some of the participants were badly injured, although no serious results have yet been reported.

BELLA ANDERSON

Confessed to Abducting Little Marion Clark.

SHE IS "MISS CARRIE JONES."

The Child Was Taken for Ransom.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Carrie Jones, the nurse who helped to steal Marion Clark, was found last night near Summit, N. J., and her arrest immediately followed. She confessed to being a party in the abduction and was taken to Summit in the custody of State Detective Edward Kelly.

Bella Anderson is "Carrie Jones" real name. She is a country girl.

She swears she was led into the scheme to steal children by George Beauregard Barrow and his wife, Jennie. In this confession she tells them the child was stolen to demand ransom for her; tells how the kidnapping was accomplished.

While the New York detectives and the police of nearly every city and town of the country had been searching high and low for "Carrie Jones," the girl had been staying quietly at the Mills hotel annex in Bleecker street. She had not been in hiding and had gone boldly forth on the streets daily, either walking or riding.

Until Thursday she had no fear of arrest. Then she saw Barrow and fearing that the police might learn where she was staying, she took her wheel and went to the home of her aunt, Mrs. James H. Henderson, at White Oak Ridge, five miles from Summit.

It was the resemblance of Bella Anderson to the missing "Carrie Jones," that led to her being run down.

State Detective Edward Kelly of Summit, accompanied by several reporters, made the arrest. Bella Anderson at first denied that she was Carrie Jones, but finally broke down and confessed. When arrested she was sitting in a corner of the parlor quietly reading an afternoon newspaper which told of the kidnapping and the arrest of Barrow and his wife.

Seeing there was no escape and realizing that she was about to be arrested, the girl arose, threw up her hands, screamed and would have fallen had not the detective supported her.

She burst into tears and cried aloud: "My God! My God! Why did I do it? Why did I do it?"

BELLA ANDERSON ARRAIGNED.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, June 3.—When Bella Anderson, alias Carrie Jones, was brought up for examination in the justice court at Summit, N. J., today, Detective Sergeant Price of the New York police force asked that she be delivered to the New York authorities at once. The justice refused to give up the prisoner without a requisition from the governor of New York. An order was signed committing Bella Anderson to prison at Elizabeth to await the arrival of requisition papers. The prisoner would make no statement today regarding her crime.

THE BORDEREAU

Esterhazy Confessed to Have Written It

HE DENOUNCES THE ARMY CHIEFS

And Says They are All Guilty.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, June 3.—The Daily Chronicle says that Major Comte Ferdinand Walsin Esterhazy called at its office late last evening (Friday) with a confidential friend, and after declaring that the time had arrived when the whole truth should be told, although hitherto, by reason of constant orders and inducements he had kept silence on the essential point, made the following statement:

"The chiefs of the army have disgracefully abandoned me. My cup is full and I shall speak out.

"Yes," raising his voice and glaring round, "it was I who wrote the bordereau. I wrote it upon orders received from Sandherr."

Esterhazy, the Chronicle says, then proceeded to explain that for four months before 1893 moral proofs had been obtained of leakages which were only possible through an officer belonging to the ministry of war, and it was necessary to catch the guilty party by material evidence. Hence the bordereau.

When asked what chiefs of the French general staff would say to this confession, Esterhazy, shrugging his shoulders, disdainfully replied:

"They will lie, as they know how to lie; but I have them tight. I have proofs that they know the whole thing and share the responsibility with me, and I will produce the proofs."

He then denounced the chiefs as a "set of scoundrels, who have abandoned me basely," and added, "but at one time they used to come to thank Mme. Pays for her assistance."

Esterhazy asserted that quite recently the chiefs sent M. Laguerre, a former deputy to London, with seductive offers to him to keep silence.

"Now they are doing threats," he shouted, "but I will not be deterred."

The Daily Chronicle got Esterhazy to sign the notes of the interview.

IS NOT A MEDICINE.

Love tickled the young man's ribs one day.
He scratched and scratched, but the tickle would stay;
Little he thought the young lady's heart
Had the same trouble as his from the start.
So had to drink GLORIA in order to see,
How to get out of the difficulty;
Young lady's answer, I'll surely be with you,
My mother and sisters will come along too.
He drank more Gloria and counted his cash,
Now thinks he will have to scratch gravel for hash.
Then all drink GLORIA before it's too late,
And look out well for this ticklish state.

(From Our Special Correspondent.)

Yachting days are at hand, and the most delicious creations designed for summer seas are being selected by well-dressed women.

Many of the larger steam yachts were pressed into the country's service last Summer and most of the smaller craft kept to the old adage and "staid near shore," if, indeed, the owners moved them at all from the snug winter berths. But with the promise of an international boat race, and no fear of a "shot across the bows," the coast resorts will fairly swarm with elegant yachts.

BLACKMORE HEROINES.

The Blackmore heroines were always so charming at sea that they captivated the hearts of all aboard; not only the hero fell a victim to the trim waist and blowing skirt, but the other yachtsmen succumbed as well, and the poor heroine found herself in the predicament of a girl wooed by many suitors, all properly pedigreed and suitably introduced.

The yachting girl of the summer can look even smarter than the Blackmore heroines, for in those days there were only the blues and the browns from which to choose, navy blue and seal brown being the favorites.

But to-day there is the great family of Irish tweeds, and not second to them is the variety of Scottish plaids which embrace many families, each with its separate colors. The Lindley plaid, which can be produced in small sizes, is of green and red and blue, the middle color predominating; the Simpson plaid runs more to the brilliant red; while the Fergus is a green. It is well if you have a Scotch ancestor buried somewhere over in the banks to hunt him up and to find out what his plaid was. Engraven it upon your memory and select your tweeds and your hat bands to match it. If possible, have it banded across the top of your stationery. So shall you be a very cleverly designed yachtswoman.

Fashion is making an awful effort to get away from the blouse. The makers of ready-made waists, on the other hand, are advocating the blouse. For them it has its recommendations; it fits everybody. Given your bust measure and you can wear any waist provided it has a blouse front.

But the fitted waists are neater, and you find them basted in all sizes ready for the final fitting around the waist and on the shoulders. Ready-made waists of this description are high-priced, and you can hardly get one less than $5.00, of chambray, or cambric.

NEW EMBROIDERY TRIMMINGS.

They are making a yachting dress this year of very heavy duck trimmed with the corset kind of embroidery, which, indeed, looks more like a piece of cloth decoute. This is with holes cut out to show the fabric underneath. The style, while it is extremely effective, is hardly to be recommended for the amateur dressmaker. The openings must be cut with great accuracy and the outside fastened—many tailors use glue—to the inside. The effect is that of an open work pattern, designs being cut out in scroll shape to show the material underneath. Decoute, they call it.

The heavy duck which is used for yachting dresses is different from any duck you ever saw. A simple skirt alone—priced in a Broadway shop this week—cost $16.00. You would have sworn that it was of cloth; even to the feel it was like cloth. Its advantages are that it washes so well. The embroidery, which may be simply set over the duck, extends down one side and around the foot, also around the hips. The waist was profusely trimmed with it.

They are making pique in many weights, some of the pique being quite manageable so that it is really a pleasant waist material. Other grades of pique are very heavy and are more suitable for coats and skirts. A pique coat can be worn over a dotted mull vest, to which is attached the stiff collar and the broad flat white necktie.

A DELIGHTFUL DESIGN.

One of these delightful yachting gowns was of china blue hunting trimmed with blue and white checked taffeta. The wide sailor collar of silk opened over a vest and stock of white silk muslin, laid in fine tucks.

Two wing-shaped revers buttoned on the sailor collar with round clear white glass buttons, and ended in a point at the belt. The bloused waist was trimmed with bands of the checked silk laid in three tucks. Two rows went around the figure and also around the sleeves at the same lines. The skirt was one of the new habit style with no fullness at all across the back and fastened in front a little to the left under folds of the silk. Around the hips were tucked bands of silk and also at the foot of the skirt. A belt of white kid, embroidered in silver paillettes, was worn with this gown.

Another costume that was unusual in color and very pretty was of cream white serge, trimmed with cream silk braid and sea green taffeta.

The skirt was so carefully fitted that no fullness showed across the back except to fall around the feet in graceful folds.

This skirt buttoned down the center front with crystal buttons caught through braid loops. A broad band of the silk was around the skirt eighteen inches above the hem in front and sloping down at the back. This was brought over in scrolls and lattice designs with braid.

The jacket was a close-fitting little Eton, with the silk and braiding carried elaborately across the back and sleeves and down the jacket fronts which opened over a dainty white tucked taffeta shirt waist.

INEXPENSIVE AND DAINTY.

A very inexpensive but effective yachting gown was made of coral-colored pique, plaided by fine black lines and trimmed with white duck. The short bolero, worn over a white dotted muslin shirt waist, had a narrow sailor collar of duck laid over springing revers of duck which tapered down to slightly below the belt.

The skirt was scant, and the hidden box pleats in the back were held down by tiny white cotton buttons. A stitched band of duck ran from belt to hem slightly to the left of the front continuing around the hem, and an anchor of white duck was stitched just above it, directly in front.

Sailor hats are the most popular, though soft caps are used; the smartest sailors show a soft silk scarf tied around with large loops and ends falling over the hair. These scarfs are in delicate shades of rose, mauve and turquoise, and the sailors so trimmed are called the "Zaza."

Gloves are of palest gray, tan or white silk fastening with large pearl buttons, and low shoes can be obtained in almost any colored canvas to match a gown, but white duck or kid, trimmed with patent leather, are very new.

For cleaning these semi-wash goods there comes gasoline, which is excellent for removing spots. Alcohol takes out stains other than grease. And magnesia rubbed into the goods, and afterward brushed out, seems to obliterate traces of dust. A lump of starch, moistened and rubbed into the goods and left to dry, will clean very dirty waists. Brush the starch out after it is dried in, and you will be surprised at the transformation.

There is a tendency to line skirts less with silk. The silk lining cuts so easily that a silk substitute is used. But the silk petticoat remains in style. It is so dainty that it will be hard to drive it out.

Some women always demand the stiff-bosomed shirt waist, and they are not quite so formidable when the starched front is cut like a gracefully curved shield. The shield is rather long and gives the appearance of a blouse. It should be worn only by tall, slender women of perfect figure.

The white shirt waists promise to be as popular as ever, and one dainty June bride-to-be has ordered a set of six, all to be made of white in different materials—pique, lawn, cambric, mull, lace and wash silk.

The dressy shirt waists are made with tucks and entre deux of lace or embroidery sloping down in points toward the belt, somewhat the same as those used last season, but the sleeves instead of being plain, as formerly, are tucked and trimmed.

SIMPLICITY OF THE CZARINA'S COURT.

Gowns Made in the Palace and She Has Oatmeal on Her Table.

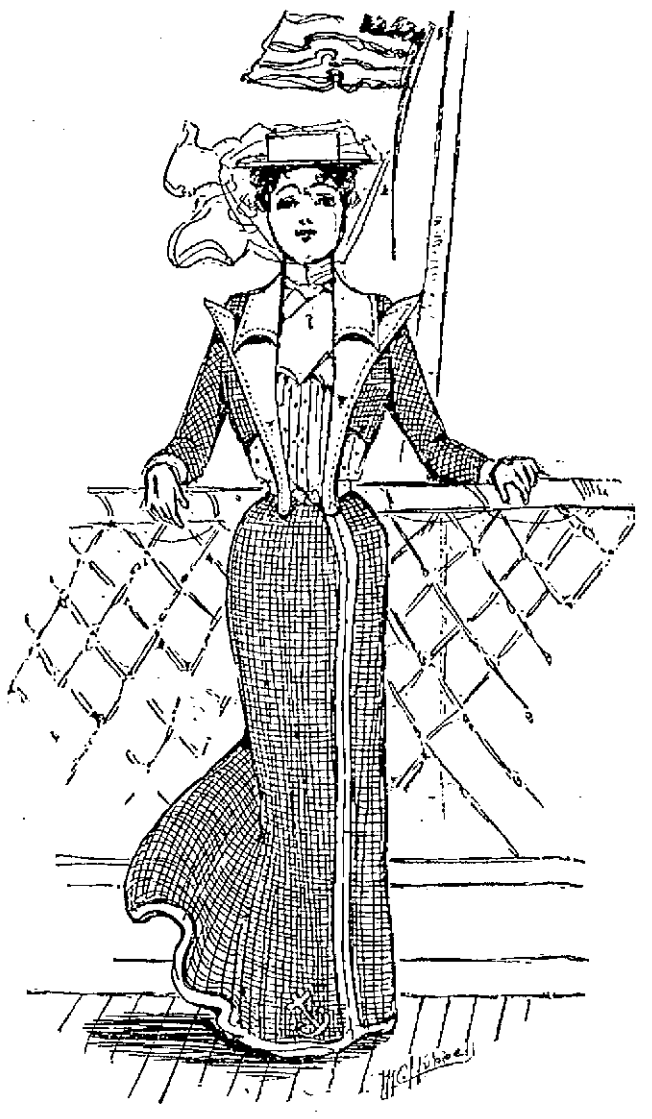

The Czarina is as unique as the Czar in the originality of her ideas. Royalty, which is not supposed to have new thoughts, is perpetually astonished at this young couple, who throw down traditions and lay aside customs as lightly as though they were mere nobodies. The Czar and his curious peace conference you know all about, but the Czarina, in her palace at St. Petersburg, has hidden behind the privacy which the palace gives her. Yet occasionally facts about her come to light which are most interesting. Her first remarkable action was in refusing to give up her baby, little Olga, to hired nurses. Her own mother had nursed her children, so had Queen Victoria. Olga should receive the same care. She did the same with the second little girl, who is called by the English name of Vicky at home.

The Czarina's second act to astonish Russia was her persistence in refusing to take a retinue of ladies with her to drive. She would have one or two, but no more. The former Czarina, now the dowager, had always ridden with a mounted equerry on each side of her. The Czarina before her had been accompanied by two carriages of ladies. But the Czarina, Alice of Hesse, wanted nothing of the sort—only a lady to act as companion.

The Czarina then took to making her own dresses, or at least to having them made in the royal palace by a seamstress. It was the etiquette of the Court to send to Paris for the evening gowns, to London for the tailor-made suits and to very elegant establishments in St. Petersburg for the every-day gowns. But the Czarina ordered all her dresses made at home by her own seamstress, brought from England, except a few that were purchased at the shops.

The Czarina likewise ordered the table furnished prettily and meals served in simple fashion. She placed oatmeal upon the breakfast table, and ordered the draperies pulled aside for the sunshine. All lights were ordered out, except in the evening, and sunshine lighted the dining room.

The Czarina has brought the Court of England into Russia, as nearly as possible, and her husband is delighted at the banishment of some of the curious old formalities.

A VACATION IN A BALOON.

The Novel Way in Which Two French Actresses Have Decided to Spend the Summer.

A story is being whispered around Paris of two pretty actresses who are going to take their vacations this summer in a balloon. They do not propose to imitate Andree and start for the Pole, but they have an idea that it will be very pleasant making short trips in a balloon. A skilled balloonist is to accompany them and manage the flight of the aerial ship.

The balloon which they will chose is an ordinary picnic balloon, such as is used every spring at county fairs. The ascension is made with the aeronauts in a car suspended from the balloon, and the travelers carry with them provisions to last a day or two, also cork life preservers, and a few toilet necessities.

Ascensions will be made pleasant mornings, with the intention of journeying only as far as some neighboring town and dropping there to rest, after which a return trip is to be made home. But as all signs fail in ballooning, there may be many a slip, and it is this which the fair balloonists are provided for.

In case the balloon soars too far away and exhausts too much air for a return, a skilled balloonist, who is of the party, will lower them to the earth. Then they will pack up the balloon and journey home on the cars. The rubber suit is to be used in case of a watery descent in the middle of the ocean or river. In this case the life preserver is hurriedly put on and the party get to shore as well as they can. The provisions are for a stomach stay until shelter and food are found. It is an adventurous plan, and the capricious young women may abandon it before the summer season is here.

MARRIAGEABLE AGE.

In Austria a "man" and "woman" are supposed to be able to be capable of conducting a home of their own from the age of fourteen.

In Germany the man must be at least eighteen years of age.

In France the man must be eighteen and the woman fifteen; in Belgium the same.

In Spain the intended husband must have passed his fourteenth year and the woman her twelfth.

In Hungary, for Roman Catholics, the man must be fourteen years old and the woman twelve; for Protestants, the man must be eighteen and the woman fifteen.

In Greece the man must have seen at least fourteen summers and the woman twelve.

In Portugal a boy of fourteen is considered marriageable, and a woman of twelve.

In Russia and Saxony they are a little more sensible, and a youth must refrain from entering into matrimony till he can count eighteen years, and the woman till she can count sixteen.

In Switzerland the men from the age of fourteen and the women from the age of twelve are allowed to marry.

In Turkey any youth and maiden who can walk properly, and can understand the necessary religious service, are allowed to be united for life.

AT HOME WITH MARIE CORELLI.

Her work is done not through drawing upon the brains of others, for she borrows nobody's style, but by observing human nature. She is also a student of geography and of the physical forces, such as light and heat; and her knowledge of these and chemistry and astronomy, enables her to plunge into realms avoided by the common novelist.

Marie Corelli has visited Queen Victoria and the Princess of Wales, and were she so inclined she could be a daily caller at the door of royalty, for these ladies are greatly interested in her.

LADY BERESFORD'S CAT CLUB.

How to Organize Such a Club and How to Make Money Raising Kittens.

Lady Charles Beresford, one of the wittiest women in England, has just been elected president of a cat's club, organized for the purpose of promoting the welfare of the cat and for giving cat exhibitions every year in London. It is along the lines of the existing cat clubs. Lady Beresford's sister-in-law, Lady William Beresford, is an honorary member, as is also the little Duchess of Marlborough.

For the benefit of such ladies in this city as may wish to organize a cat club on similar conditions, some idea of the cat club of Lady Beresford and of other cat clubs in England may be given.

To organize such a club the members pledge themselves to maintain a certain number of cats in comfort, and to discourage the keeping of any that are not up to the required markings. The pedigreed cats are the ones that win the prizes, but it has been recently decided that, if an unpedigreed cat will show the required markings she can be admitted to cat shows. There are books that tell how to judge a cat. These describe the softness of coat, the slant of the eye, the fullness of the nostrils and the shape of the head. Both the Angora and the domestic cat are admitted.

One of the cat fanciers of England, a friend of Lady Henry Somerset, has built a model cat farm. It is an acre square, and she has 300 cats comfortably housed upon it. The same idea might be carried out in as small a place as the backyard. Each cat family has a small house provided with hay and food cups. At the rear there is a runway, where the cats can get the air. They travel contentedly up and down the grassy paths, bordered by wire, and roll in the heap of sand provided for them. This woman raises Angoras only, and reaps a very nice income from her annual sale of pussies.

The cat industry is one that is highly lucrative. A pair of Angoras of pure strain were the foundation for a very flourishing cat family in Kentucky—the home of thoroughbreds—from which the kittens are shipped all over the country. The animals are hardy, take care of themselves, and are much less costly to feed than dogs.

Cat clubs are a necessity where prize animals are raised, for it is in this way that the markings are kept perfect and the highest standard preserved.

EMMA BROOKFIELD.

EUGENIE HAS A NEW GOWN.

She, Who Once Averaged a New Gown a Day, Now Hesitates at One in Three Months.

The old Empress Eugenie has a new gown. Strange to call her "old," she who within a generation electrified the world with her beauty and her spirits. And, stranger still, to record the purchase of a dress, for in her day Eugenie was the most extravagant woman that ever lived, not excepting Josephine, the queen of woman spendthrifts, or Marie Antoinette, the best-dressed woman of her day.

Eugenie spent a thousand francs as easily as another woman spends a dollar, and it all went upon the wonderful filmy gowns that were her delight.

A former lady-in-waiting tells the story of a dress of fine stuff, thin as gauze, and shimmering like silk. Silver stars were woven in its pale, blue folds, and around the foot was a flounce of wonderful lace, 500 francs a yard. Eugenie was delighted when she saw it, and could not wait to put it on. That evening in the games in the Tuileries it was ruined, torn to shreds as Eugenie romped through the plays which delighted her so.

Now the Paris newspapers record with some pride that the Empress Eugenie has a new gown. The material, which is a soft black goods, like Henrietta, was purchased during her recent visit to Paris, and was left with a modiste to be made.

Eugenie always wears one kind of gown now—plain in skirt, round in waist, with the throat cut to a point and filled in with lace, quite like a grandmother's throat.

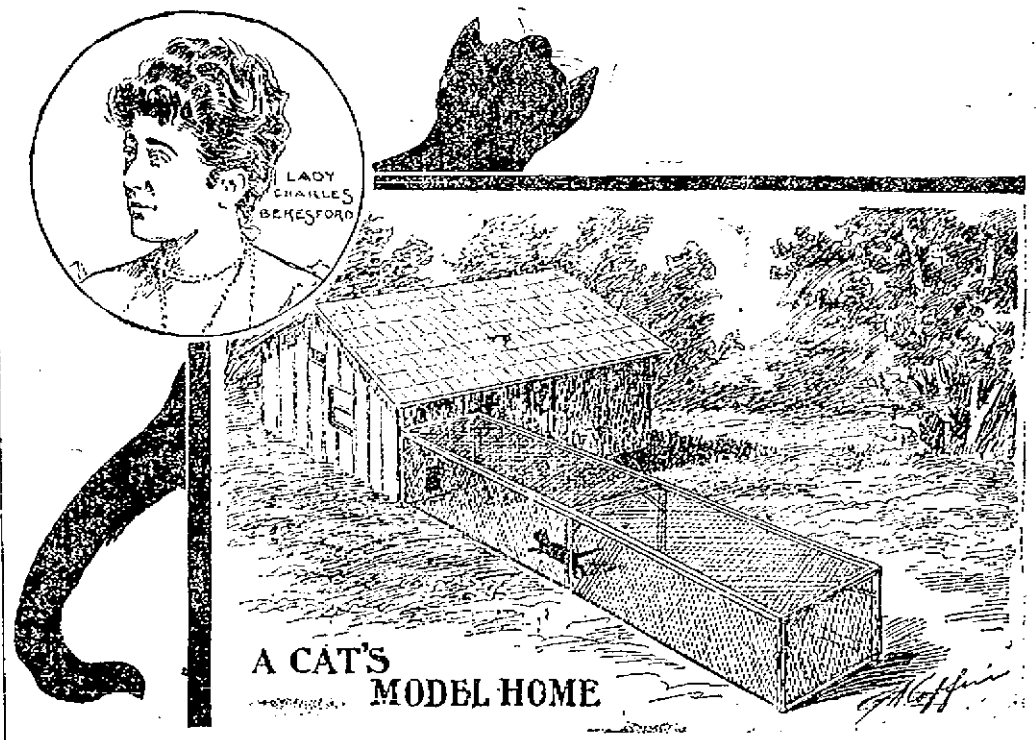

When walking Eugenie wears a long cloth cape and a small turban to match. She has never taken off mourning for the Prince Imperial, her only son, killed twenty years ago by the Zulus.

VIOLET PARASOLS.

Violets as usual are worn whenever a woman has an excuse to use them, and a pretty parasol had a bunch of them placed at the point of each spoke. The white chiffon was then so puffed and ruffled above them that it was hard to say just what the design was. But the effect was simply a white cloud. The smart coaching umbrellas are of plaid silk or the color to match a gown, and sometimes they are crimson. The color of the English hunting pink is used, and the reflection is most becoming then.

Some of the parasols have mousseline de soie stretched tightly over the frame half way, so transparent that the shady part is small indeed. However, these are novel, and when appliqued with bow knots or medallions of lace they are bewitching.

LOCAL MYSTERIES

Which the Police Cannot Penetrate

BELANGER AND CHAPUT MURDERS

The Principal But There are Many Others.

From time to time the Lowell residents who keep a close watch upon criminal happenings of the day, revert to such matters around home and seem endeavor to penetrate our local criminal mysteries. But what are our criminal mysteries, the average reader may ask though the principal ones will be easily remembered by every citizen of middle age.

Lowell has only two great mysteries that are yet unsolved and they are the Belanger and Chaput murders, and striking circumstances are connected with each. These murders as I find by asking questions concerning them will never be forgotten while certain men live. The man who knows more about the Belanger case than anyone else, the late Inspector Daniel Hayes is dead. But he left some of the knowledge of the case behind him and that the murderer of Belanger is still alive and at no great distance from Lowell is firmly planted in many minds and a death confession is expected to solve the mystery. Some criticize the police department for not apprehending the murderer of Belanger.

Some also criticize the police for not apprehending the murderer of Dr. Chaput who at an early hour in the evening, committed his bloody deed, rushed down to busy Merrimack street from the O'Donnell & Gilbride block, and made his escape through a crowd that was rushing to the scene of the murder. A few days later two canadians were arrested as suspicious persons and were let go as nothing could be brought against them. One of them many believe was the man who committed the deed, but there was no proof against him. In fact the Caput murder remains the greatest of all mysteries, there being still more doubt surrounding it than that of Belanger.

The undertakers have more mysteries in their business than the police and J. W. Brooks, the nestor of local undertakers said to the Sun reporter that he has had so many cases in 25 years of his connection with undertaking that he cannot recall anyone in particular.

Now and then an unknown body is found in the river or a canal. The police gives it to the undertaker and the newspapers make an effort to have it identified, the police giving but little attention to the case unless it is pronounced one of foul play by the medical examiner. If at the time there are any persons missing from home, the friends of the missing one flock to the undertaker's shop and view the remains.

After a few days repose in the basement of the undertaker's shop, sometimes dignified by the name of "morgue" if no one has claimed them the remains are placed in a cheap pine box and driven to Potter's field in the undertaker's van and laid away without prayers or tears. I cannot recall a case when an unknown body has been disinterred for the purpose of identification.

Another class of mysterious cases which happen with distressing frequency in Lowell is that of the new born babe presumably illegitimate, often found in packages and cigar boxes in the dump and in the canal. Only recently such a case came to light in the Suffolk canal and the usual matter-of-fact course was taken. The body was removed to the undertaker's and was later interred in the Potter's field, which makes no distinction in young and old and whether or not the police made any extended effort to find the party or parties who left the body on the canal bank is not known. It would seem that the police should give special attention to these cases of infanticide by making an example of some one the prevalence of this lowest state of morality might be checked.

A searching investigation should follow the discovery of such bodies. Then there have been minor mysteries such as the incident of the thieves who stole a valuable collection of silverware from the Storey mansion at Tyler park not long ago. But in this case the police claim to be able to solve the mystery and will do so in a few months.

LABOR MATTERS

WORSHIP OF WEALTH

THIS IS THE RELIGION OF SO CALLED MODERN CIVILIZATION.

A Governor Who Voiced the Sentiments of the Dangerous Class—But He Frankly Admitted That "Our Cultivated Men Need Character."

[Special Correspondence.]

Only a few weeks ago a governor of one of our important states made a trip to another important one, and there he delivered several of those speeches with which any bright fellow can easily electrify the bulk of our fine people, with more wealth than brains, of the right kind, and also many just as short of brains as of wealth. A few brief morsels of those speeches shall be sufficient to show the mixed up, negative and fallacious ensemble of these orations in all that relates to the upheaval of humanity. The morsels are as follows:

"We need cultivated men, and our cultivated men need character." * * * "I don't believe in nations without scraps." * * * "I believe in success for the sake of success." * * * "I wish I could work with the reformers of the day, but I am not able, because of their impracticibility or primitive savagery."

Nowhere in his speeches did our friend give us any specific ideas tending to ennoble the crudity, incoherence and vagueness of the sentences we have written down. And so our cultivated men have no character after centuries of education bent upon building up character! And our friend, one of those who in their own estimation must be extra well provided with character, he only believes in success for the sake of success, just the kind that all despots and monopolists, gamblers and schemers long for, work for, live and die for. If that has anything to do with character, then this world of ours has an abundance of it. We could afford to export quantities of that kind of character to other planets, and the less we had left the better off we would be, in so far as morality goes.

And what can be thought of the idea that nations should be ornamented with scraps? Scraps applied to the life of society, what can that mean but rascalities, corruption, problems unsolved which we should do our best not to solve? Because if we do then we shall have no troubles, no monopolists, no injustice, no poverty, no degradation anywhere. And that would never do for men like the one that talked that way, since he is well provided with earthly goods, being the son of a rich man.

Of course our friend cannot work with any set of reformers. To reform means to clean up, to get rid of scraps, of refuse and all that. A reformer, if he is somewhat fundamental, is down on monopoly, as it is the case with most savages. Monopoly has thus far been the concommittant of civilization, the wrong kind of course. Our governor was then logical with himself after all, with himself and his own class. The class that profits by our own scraps, our national filth, they like to play the reformer, and they see that iniquity may keep on flourishing as much as possible in respectable forms. Such people are always ready to swallow the camel—all fundamental wrongs, while making faces at the swallowing of gnats—incidental evils.

The preceding short analysis is intended to show our plain people the hollowness and vapidity of most of our good men with their loins well protected with wealth, or who are anxious to get it by any possible means compatible with wrong human laws. The less they talk or write on public matters the less such people expose themselves to unfold the barbarisms of their own civilization. Yet some of them are forced to talk, those who wish to court public favor for the sake of the eclat of public official positions and the means they offer for profitable investments, good salaries, etc. And they need to learn the science of manipulating language in such a way that they appear to say a great deal while saying nothing tangible or precise. They also must give the impression of being first class reformers, only for the purpose of making all reforms negative or ineffectual for general good.

In the midst of the falacious language of our governor we should thank him for his rude frankness in saying that our cultivated men need character. Unfortunately he did not give us any receipt with which to improve our cultivated men, and his own language of his own ideals means nothing but the worship of unholy ambitions, success even if we can only get it through murderous wars against our brethren abroad, through conquests called expansion, and meaning in the end extending our monopoly rule beyond our natural frontiers.

As for a receipt through which to develop cultivated men with character, we suggest that there can be but one—viz: A social organization resting on equal, strict justice to all, allowing all human beings to make the best of themselves under absolutely honest industrial adjustments. That would mean the complete demolition of our present industrial system controlled by thousands of modern satraps, each one much richer than the few in old Persia. We need an abundance for all. Wealth for none. And that implies a race which should not be crazy after wealth as ours is. JOSE GROS.

Home For Infirm Union Men.

Members of the executive board of the New Jersey Federation of Trade and Labor Unions visited Lincoln, N. J., recently for the purpose of inspecting the proposed site for the location of a home for aged and infirm union workingmen, to be erected by that body. The home will be modeled after the Printers' home in Colorado, be three stories high, with all the latest sanitary arrangements and an electric light plant. It will cost not less than $20,000.

COERCED LABOR.

Starved Into Subjection by a Soulless Money Making Machine.

Nearly three months ago the operatives of the American Plate Glass company, or trust, rather, of Alexandria, Ind., demanded more remuneration for their services. The company refused and shut down its works, declaring that it would not advance wages, nor never again permit a union man to work for it. All these long weeks the works and the employees have been idle, but the company knew it was only a question of time when the operatives would have to yield. It was merely a question of which side would get hungry for bread first and surrender. The company was rich, and the employees were poor. The other day the operatives resumed work, after renouncing allegiance to the union. They could not live without bread, and their only course of procuring it was the plate glass company. Over 800 of them are now at work at their old places, but they are not the free men they were three months ago, nor are they as hungry as they were the day before they were forced to surrender their manhood. But no one will blame them for renouncing the union and resuming work. A man may face all sorts of situations and defy them, but when his wife and little ones cry for bread, and he has none to give them, what can he do but surrender?

What the American Plate Glass trust has done other trusts will do sooner or later. Meddlesome lawmakers, honest judges and organized labor are regarded by the trusts as their foes. Lawmakers may be influenced, judges may be "persuaded," but labor organizations must be crushed. There is not an industrial trust in America that feels kindly toward organized labor. The trusts are organized for the one purpose of making money for the trusts, and they would crush everything that refuses to yield to them, from raw material to skilled labor. So long as their employees maintain labor unions they know there will be organized resistance to unnecessary wage reductions, but if they can force wage earners to depend upon their individual resistance, as the plate glass trust has just done, the solution of the wage problem would be easy enough. They could make schedules to suit themselves and enforce them. But the mad rush of the trusts to destroy labor unions, influence legislation and circumvent courts will surely be their undoing. The patience of the people is about exhausted.—Kansas City Times.

Danger Ahead.

During the past year the writer has heard through various agencies a little of the sentiment that is running in commercial, political, religious, military, police and labor quarters on the great question of the time—the industrial problem—and it seems that now we are nearing a serious crisis.

During a recent sojourn in this city Father Huntington, the itinerant Episcopal priest, in a conversation with two labor men deplored the irreconcilable views he hears while traveling over the country and mingling with all sorts, from aristocratic church congregations to workingmen in their meetings. He expressed grave apprehension of widespread trouble in the near future.

Father Huntington said what most alarmed him was the talk he had heard among the well to do business men and others in various parts of the country, in which they hoped for an increase of the army and police force, for a large strengthening of the military arm of government and for the prompt and complete suppression of industrial disturbances.

Add to this what is dropped by commercial travelers and what leaks out from the officers' rooms in armories and from the nervous men in Wall street, and you have capitalism in aggressive attitude.

A few days ago there was in this city an agent and organizer of the Minutemen of America, and he did some business while here.

The labor editor has it from reliable sources that the miners in various sections have large supplies of arms and dynamite secreted and ready for use "some day."

A well known and usually conservative delegate to the Central Federated union from a large trade union in this city, said he favored the calling of a convention to represent every central labor body in the United States to consider ways and means of forcibly resisting unwarranted military interference with civil relations.—New York Evening Journal.

The Uniform Working Card.

The uniform working card for all the different crafts in the building trades as issued by the Building Trades council of Chicago seems to be a happy solution of a question which is perplexing similar bodies in other cities, particularly in New York and St. Louis, and has proved itself a great benefit to the local unions affiliated. The card has the name, seal and location of the Building Trades council on one side. On the other is the name, seal, meeting night, number of the local union, blank line for name of holder and the quarter for which it is issued. The cards are not issued by the local unions, but by the council to which each affiliated union direct, according to its membership, thus preventing the cards falling into the hands of persons who are not entitled to their use and benefit. Should a faction of any union secede or withdraw from the Building Trades council and form an independent organization such union or faction would not be recognized nor receive the quarterly working card of the Chicago council, and any man working in the building trades without the card is considered a nonunion man, with the result that the other men on the building will not work with him, and a strike will follow unless the contractor discharges the man.—Chicago Times-Herald.

FINAL TRIBUTE

To Late Mrs. Almira N. Hobbs

REV. S. T. FORD OFFICIATING CLERGYMAN.

Quartette Singing and Many Beautiful Floral Tributes.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Mrs. Almira N. Hobbs were held yesterday afternoon at 281 High street. There was a large attendance of immediate friends and relatives, many being present from out-of-town. Services were impressively conducted by Rev. Smith T. Ford, pastor of the First Baptist church and there was singing of selected hymns by a quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. George Burns, Mrs. J. W. Sherburne, and Mr. W. Wirt. There was a profusion of costly and beautiful floral tributes. The remains were this forenoon forwarded by Undertaker Young to South Berwick, Me., for interment.

The deceased was the widow of the late Frank G. Hobbs, for a long time in charge of the local freight department of the western division of the Boston & Maine railroad and was the mother of the late Miss Grace Hobbs, who died only a few weeks ago. She leaves many friends to mourn her death. Two daughters survive, Misses Marion A. and Fannie G. Hobbs; also one brother, Postmaster A. G. Thompson, and a sister, Mrs. W. D. Nelson of Maine.

Mrs. Hobbs was a woman of many rare Christian attainments. Her faith firm, her piety genuine, she formed ties of affection that even death cannot sever. She had a keen insight of true worth and beauty, her tastes and ideals were all refined, her judgment sound, and a firm will in her conviction of right. In her church, too, she will be sadly missed, but her church associates will feel thoroughly conscious that although a great life has been taken and an impressive service ended, a beautiful character has attained its coronation.

Mrs. Hobbs' interest in all good work was constant and her charity was thoughtful, systematic and spontaneous. Fidelity was a great watchword of her life. In her home she will be particularly missed and the devotion to the bereaved daughters, now called upon to mourn a loving mother, will be an incentive and an inspiration for them to follow her in the path of righteousness.

HORACE H. KNAPP

Elected Agent of the Board of Health

FRED A. BATES WAS TRANSFERRED

To His Former Position of Inspector.

Horace H. Knapp was elected agent of the board of health at a meeting held Saturday afternoon.

At the same meeting, Fred A. Bates was transferred from the position of agent to that formerly held by him—inspector of contagious diseases—the transfer to take place upon the approval of Mayor Crowley.

After approving monthly bills, Secretary Mulligan announced that he had received from the civil service commission notice that the only persons now on the list eligible for agent of the department are John F. Murphy and Horace H. Knapp.

Mr. Fifield then moved that Mr. Bates be transferred to the office of inspector of contagious diseases after the transfer has been approved by the mayor, according to the acts of 1894, Chapter 519. Dr. Packer opposed the motion, but it passed by a vote of 2 to 1.

Mr. Fifield then moved that Horace H. Knapp be appointed agent. Chairman Packer opposed on the ground that the appropriation would not stand it and he also said Mr. Knapp had been severely criticised and had left the department "under a cloud."

Mr. Fifield denied that Mr. Knapp had gone out "under a cloud" and said that when judged by an impartial jury—the civil service commission, who heard both sides of the case—no fault was found with his conduct while in office and his name was promptly restored to the civil service list. Had there been any cause for complaint, the commission would not have restored his name.

The motion was then carried, Dr. Packer voting in the negative.

Mr. Bates said he was not prepared to say that he would ask for a hearing on his removal from the office of agent but said he would know next Tuesday. He wanted to know something about the salary in his new position if he accepted it, but Chairman Packer ruled the inquiry was not in order.

It was announced that the copy of the garbage contract was held in Toledo on account of insufficient postage and it would be here this week.

Bostons Not Troubled in Defeating Cincinnati

COLLINS PUT UP A FINE GAME.

Lewis Pitched a Good Game.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, June 5.—The Bostons made the Cincinnatis look like a lot of selling platers Saturday, winning hands down. The eminent Emerson Hawley was in the box, and held the champions down in good style in the early part of the game, but in the fifth his support gave way and in the next inning he was hit hard.

Ted Lewis was in the box for the Bostons and pitched a strong and steady game. The only run off his pitching was due to the only base on balls in the game, a steal and Beckley's double in the first. In five innings after that the Cincinnatis went out in order. Another run was made in the last on errors.

Selbach was back in the game, playing centre field and Steinfeldt relieved McPhee at second. Steinfeldt is easily the liveliest article in the Cincinnati infield. He did splendid work yesterday. "St. Jacob" Beckley played first in the finest possible style and was the only one of the Cincis who was able to wield his bat with effect.

The Bostons played their regular pennant game. Collins was a host at third, and put up a game well calculated to cause the spectators to stare in wonder. Hard hits or slow, bunts, wide or high, right or left—nothing escaped his wonderful maw and it was all done with the ease of a French professor of dancing.

The score by innings:

BIRDS STARTED LATE

SATURDAY EVENING NONE OF THOSE SET FREE HAD SHOWN UP IN LOWELL.

The fly of the Lowell Homing club Saturday from Paterson, N. J., to Lowell was not a success, owing to the lateness of the hour, 11.45 a. m. at which the birds were set free.

The number of birds entered was: Dyer 10, Youngjohns 9, Fletcher 2, Stanley 2, Fralich 1.

The weather was fair at the time of the liberation. None of the birds reported at 5 p. m. The timing will be resumed at daylight, Sunday.

The next fly will be from Philadelphia next Saturday and a request will be made to let the birds loose at 6 a. m.

ANNUAL OF DEPUTY SHERIFFS.

The deputy sheriffs of Middlesex county will hold their annual meeting next month at Lawndale Farm, a 90-acre place on the Nashua road, as guests of Deputy Sheriffs Baker and Stiles, the owners of the farm.

MACK IN TROUBLE.

James J. Mack, who was found asleep in a doorway on Newbury street, Lawrence had on a United States regular army uniform. He told Judge Stone that he had only money enough to take him back to Boston, where he was obliged to report for duty this afternoon and his honor allowed the case to be continued for sentence.

Mack recently appeared in the Lowell police court for drunkenness and making a similar plea was allowed to depart by Judge Hadley. He is a slick chap who at one time resided in Lowell.

MISS McLAUGHLIN HOME.

Miss Louise McLaughlin, Lowell's well known soprano has returned home after a two months' engagement with the Alice Neilson opera company. Miss McLaughlin joined this large company of 100 people in Providence, R. I., which has since that time appeared in all of the larger cities including New York City, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Cincinnati and Chicago where the season was recently closed. In the company were 100 people who presented the "Fortune Teller." Next season the Neilson company will present the "Singing Girl" and will cross the Atlantic, opening in London. Miss McLaughlin was the guest of honor at a trolley party given in her honor by Lowell friends last evening.

BASE BALL NEWS.

NOTES OF LOCAL PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

Neither of the local rival semi-profs. knew until the eleventh hour which team Billy Connors was going to play with.

The entrance of Flo Murray of the Shamrocks into a higher class is noted with pleasure by the base ball editor who predicts that manager Callahan of the Mathews with whom he has signed will find him "worthy of his steel," and an inspiration to his fellow-players.

On next Friday the greatest game of the season between two teams composed of school boys will take place at the Atherton grounds, where the Belvideres and Lowell High schools will contest for honors. Manager Murphy of the Highs is already out hustling for the success of the event and it is assumed Joe McCaffrey and the other Belvideres are also.

Both teams will be considerably strengthened as they have more than an ordinary wish to win. Cronin will most likely pitch for the Highs and he will be received by Bruce.

The Shamrocks have suffered more than any other amateur team this season by departure of players to bigger teams. Six of the Shamrocks have been taken away from Manager Kavanaugh's paternal fold and if the remaining ones continue to play as they are now doing, nothing will be left of the original team.

An attempt is being made by Mike Keegan, et. als to reorganize the old Wannalancits, which started out last year on a victorious career, which was seriously interrupted by only the Shamrocks. The Keeganites which were always a part of the Reds do not doubt that they can put that team in an even better condition than it was last year.

Ganley of this city is as persistent in his campaign against pitchers' curves as the Globe man who has never corrected his mistake in writing the Lowell boy's name "Gauley." Ganley has not made an error for almost a week, while his total number of hits in the same time run into the 20s.

Jimmy Slines who will go to third base for the South Ends in the future is as experienced in that position as behind the bat and he is good in both places.

The Fairmonts and Shamrocks will play at Atherton grounds for a purse of $25 on Saturday next. Manager Queenan is trying to get Kavanaugh to sign an agreement to play for that amount.

At the New England league meeting Connie Murphy of the Brockton team said that he had money enough on hand to pay all his players and leave something for himself. There was nothing said about the finances of the Cambridge-Lowell aggregation. There was talk of trying the Lawrences at Haverhill, but nothing certain could be promised and it was decided not to take any more chances.

THE STRIKERS WON

Rockport Granite Co. Grants Their Demands.

Nine Hours Will Constitute a Day's Labor—The Granite Cutters Went on Strike Fourteen Weeks Ago.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., June 5.—The Rockport Granite company today issued a notice to the effect that on and after June 19, the company would recognize the demand of their striking employes, that nine hours should constitute a day's work and that any labor in excess of this time which was done at the request of the company would be paid for at the rate of one and one-half.

The announcement was sent from the Boston office of the company and appeared in the form of an advertisement in the local paper. It bore the signature of Charles S. Rogers, treasurer of the Rockport Granite company. The original demands of the strikers comprised six articles of which the nine-hour clause was the principal one. A meeting of the stone cutters' union will probably be called at once to consider the advisability of accepting the terms offered by the company, but up to two o'clock this afternoon none of the strike leaders would offer any opinion as to the manner in which the cutters would receive the proposition. The granite workers at the several quarries of the Rockport Granite company struck 14 weeks ago. During that time, several serious disturbances have taken place on both sides of the cape, owing to the attempts of the manufacturers to work the quarries by Italian labor. Several of the strikers were found guilty in the local court on the charge of rioting but they have not been sentenced.

WHOLE DAY'S FIGHT

Futile Attempt to Surround Rebel Forces

Thirty Lost in Killed and Wounded—Antipolo Captured But Deserted by Filipinos—Gen. Hall's Battle.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MANILA, June 4.—For nearly twenty-four hours General Hall's troops have been engaged in fighting scattered bands of rebels. Some of the skirmishing has been very severe and in one fight the Americans lost four killed and fifteen wounded.

In the movement which began under General Lawton, late Friday night, the Americans have lost probably thirty in killed and wounded. The killed probably number about eight. The movement was intended for a general round-up of the rebels in the Laguna de Bay district but the Filipinos are too wily to permit themselves to be caught. Time and again they have slipped away to safety when it was thought they were in a trap.

The position of the American troops tonight indicates that they will tomorrow sweep the peninsula of Morong, the land projecting to the south into Laguna de Bay, where the insurgents are supposed to have a large force near the town of Morong as well as the battery on the western shore of the peninsula, which recently smashed the propeller of the gunboat Napidan.

General Hall is marching from Antipolo, about six and a half miles northwest of Morong toward the peninsula, with his forces spread out to cover a large section. Colonel Truman, with the First North Dakota regiment, and the Twelfth Infantry, is advancing along the coast of the lake from Taytay incidentally clearing several small towns while Colonel Wholley, with the First Washington regiment, has landed on the peninsula above the town of Morong. The army gunboats Napidan, Covadonga and Oeste are in a position to co-operate.

The original plan was to surround the forces of General Plo del Pilar so that he must retreat to the Morong peninsula, where capture would have been inevitable. This was not a complete success, because General Hall's column found the country full of handicaps to marching. Colonel Wholley having successfully completed his share of the movement, brought the Washington regiment to the river Pasig, where last night about midnight, the men embarked upon cascoes and started for their destination under the convoy of the gunboats. They encountered a repetition of the experience undergone by almost every expedition on attempting to enter Laguna de Bay, as the boats went aground in the shallows in the mouth of the river and were detained there several hours. Major General Lawton in the meantime was indefatigable, riding from one force to the other and supervising the loading of the cascoes, without sleep, for two nights.

HALL MAKES A FIGHT

General Hall's column, which assembled at the water works, or pumping station, late last Friday night, consists of the Second Oregon Volunteers, a battalion of the Second Wyoming regiment, four troops of the Fourth Cavalry, one mounted on the big American horses, which so impressed the natives, the others unmounted, two battalions of the Fourth Infantry, one battalion of the Ninth Infantry, the first six companies of the First Colorado regiment and two mountain guns. The men rolled themselves in their blankets and lay upon the wet grass for a few hours under a drizzling rain.

At 4 o'clock yesterday morning (Saturday) they began to cross San Mateo river and about noon repulsed a large band of Filipinos about 12 miles east of Manila, between Mariquina and Antipolo.

HALL'S 24-HOUR FIGHT.

General Hall's column in the movement upon the Morong peninsula consisted a circuit of over twenty miles over rough and mountainous country, having two engagements with the insurgents, one of them severe, and keeping up an almost constant fire against scattered bands of rebels for nearly twenty-four hours from 4 o'clock Saturday morning.

General Hall's objective point was Antipolo, 10 miles off, and there was desultory firing all along the line of march. The gunboats could be heard shelling the hills in advance of the column.

The column, after driving the rebels from the foothills near Maria Chino about noon yesterday, with a loss of but two or three slightly wounded, proceeded with all possible haste toward Laguna de Bay, the Fourth Cavalry in the lead, the Oregon regiment next, and the Fourth Infantry last.

At 5 o'clock these three regiments fought their second battle of the day, and it resulted like the first, in he complete rout of a large Filipino force located n the mountains and having every advantage of position.

In this fight the American loss was four killed, three of the Fourth Cavalry and one Oregonian, and about fifteen wounded. The Filipino loss could not be ascertained, but the terrible fire which the Americans poured into them for half an hour must have inflicted severe punishment.

In this engagement our troops made one of the most gallant charges of the war, and the enemy was forced to flee in the greatest disorder.

The troops, after camping for the night on the battlefield, started at 5 this morning for Antipolo, where it was expected a strong resistance would be made. Antipolo is a place far up in the mountains, which the Spaniards had said the Americans could never capture. It has cost Spain the lives of 300 troops.

The progress of the column was considerably delayed while passing up the steep mountan grade by a small band of insurgents; but these were effectually routed by the Fourth Cavalry, which was in advance, and the troops reached Antipolo in a few hours.

Our lines were immediately thrown around on three sides of the town and then the final advance was made. But it was found unnecessary to fire a shot. Not a rebel was visible, and the town was entirely abandoned.

Two hours later, after a conference between Generals Lawton and Hall, the column proceeded towards Morong, to drive away the rebels found in that quarter. The loss is estimated at thirty killed and wounded.

CATCH BY ROCHE

Saved the South Ends From Probable Defeat.

PLAY WAS BEST SEEN HERE.

The Mathews Wore Defeated by Haverhill.

The game played by the South Ends and the Newtowne A. C. on the Fair grounds Saturday afternoon was by far ahead of any other contest seen in this city since the well remembered days of the contest between the Unions and Emeralds and South Ends.

By the way the visitors were getting onto Moore's curves, things began to look dubious for the South Ends.

Moore sent a teaser over the corner of the plate, which however, did not tease the experienced Clarkson. Encouraged by the failure of the latter to assassinate the first, he sent another which would have reached Farley's hands on a parallel with the centre of the base, had not Clarkson interrupted and sent it flying through the air at an express pace headed for the joint where it says "100 doses, one dollar." Meanwhile Jack Roache who was then in centre field having previously nothing to do was seen to be going at a rivalling rate to the same place, to the enjoyment of the spectators, who had given up hope at the crack of the bat. Roache went, however, and by a wonderful piece of luck and ball playing brought the ball down into his hands. The catch was made by a spring in the air, which almost involved a somersault.

When Roache came in to the bat he had to do what made Hugh Duffy's name a household word in the homes of local base ball cranks. He was again and again obliged to respond to the deafening applause.

For the visitors H. Clarkson made a great catch of Connors' fly in the sixth inning and in the eighth Sands nailed one sent up in short left field by Slines that took the spectators off their feet. Sands had a long run before he got anywhere near the ball. Pote, the catcher, gave Clarkson excellent support. Clarkson allowed the South Ends just nine hits. Moore gave the Newtowne boys five hits with a total of twelve. Roche did not allow them a hit. H. Clarkson with one of the longest hits ever seen on the grounds, made a home run. Sands and Lane made three baggers.

Umpire Thornton was at his best. The score:

South Ends	0 0 0 3 0 1 0 2 x—6
Newtowne A. C.	0 0 0 1 0 1 0 1 0—3

Struck out, by Moore 4; by Roche 2; by Clarkson, 3; passed balls, by Pote 1; Time—2h. 10 minutes. Umpire, William Thornton. Attendance, 800.

CORPUS CHRISTI

Beautiful Feast of Catholic Church

ELABORATE EXERCISES HELD AT ST. PATRICK'S

Services Held at Rustic Altars,

BENEDICTION GIVEN IN CHURCH YARD

First Communion at Immaculate Conception

That most beautiful of out-door religious events, the annual Corpus Christi procession of the societies and sodalities connected with St. Patrick's church was observed yesterday, an attendance of over 1500 persons participating in the grandly solemn exercises.

The weather was most auspicious and the beautiful observance was completely successful. In honor of the event the convent grounds were very prettily decorated and two rustic altars were erected in the convent yard and a third at the monument in the church yard. The parochial residence, the home and the exterior of the church facing the church yard, was adorned with the national and the papal colors while the beauty of the scene was enhanced by the presence of numerous American flags.

Vespers was sung in the church at 2.15 o'clock and at its conclusion the Corpus Christi procession was formed and filed out into the academy grounds, John J. Lonergan was chief marshal, and Bernard Brown, Thomas Delaney, and John Golden were aids. The procession was led by the chief marshal and his aids, followed by the cross-bearer and acolytes. Then followed the Cadet band playing alternately with the chimes "Graces from My Jesus Flowing" and other beautiful hymns. After the band were the several sodalities of little girls attired in white dresses and wearing wreaths and sashes of different colors and carrying banners representing the fifteen mysteries of the Rosary. The members of the Children of Mary sodality in white dresses and white veils followed with the Immaculate Conception sodality and a choir of girls. The altar boys escorted the Sacrament, bearing lighted candles and immediately preceding the Sacrament were the flower girls, from whose basket flowers were strewn before the Blessed Sacrament. The sacrament was borne by Rev. R. S. Burke of St. Patrick's church, under a red canopy. Fr. Burke was accompanied by Rev. Fr. Roland of St. Michael's church and James Duffy of St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore. Rev. Michael O'Brien, P. R., of St. Patrick's was master of ceremonies and his assistants were Rev. Frs. McHugh and Leonard of St. Patrick's.

The canopy bearers were His Honor, Mayor Crowley, John J. Hogan, Esq., Thomas J. Enright, Esq., Humphrey O'Sullivan, Dr. T. F. Harrington, Dennis Wholey, Patrick Gilbride and Joseph McQuade. Following the canopy were the altar boys acting as guards of honor and carrying lanterns.

The procession proceeded in the academy grounds to one of the rustic altars where a brief stop was made during which St. Cecilia's choir of the Notre Dame academy sang "Vent Jesu" and "O Cor Amoris," and the Immaculate Conception choir sang "Peace, Be Still Our God is Dwelling on His Silent Throne." At the second altar, benediction was given, the academy choir singing "Tantum Ergo."

The procession then proceeded into Fenwick street, thence to Suffolk, to the church grounds and the third altar the church choir under the direction of E. F. Faulkner singing "Laudu Sion." Prior to benediction at the third altar, the combined chorus accompanied by the chimes rendered "O Salutaris" and "Tantum Ergo."

After benediction the procession entered the church, the congregation singing "My Lord, My God, My All." Benediction again took place at the main altar, the congregation singing "Te Deum" at the conclusion of the services and dismissal of the procession.

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION.

At the Immaculate Conception church yesterday morning at the 7.30 mass, two hundred boys and girls received their first communion. Mass was celebrated by Rev. William D. Joyce, O. M. I., who also delivered a brief yet beautiful sermon to the young folks in which he told them of the happiness that is theirs on this occasion, the happiest event in their lives, when for the first time they are permitted to receive the Holy Eucharist, the body and blood of our Blessed Lord. The children received communion from Father Joyce, and the prayers for the communicants were read by Rev. Fr. Gigault, O. M. I., the responses being by the children. At the high mass the celebrant was Rev. Fr. Lawrence, O. M. I., and Rev. Fr. Murphy, O. M. I., pastor of St. Joseph's preached on the mass. In the evening hymns in honor of the Blessed Sacrament took place and in line were the boys and girls who were the first communicants of the present year and the Children of Mary. The procession passed through Columbus park as the church yard is called and the girls sang hymn in honor of the Blessed Sacrament to the music of a small organ. The scene in the yard was as it always is, exceedingly beautiful. Benediction was given in the church and the service closed with the singing by the congregation of "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name."

AT ST. PETER'S.

At St. Peter's church at 10.30 o'clock yesterday forenoon a solemn high mass was celebrated by Rev. John H. McKenna, Rev. Edward F. Saunders, deacon, and Rev. W. George Mullin, sub-deacon. An eloquent sermon on the Blessed Sacrament was preached by Fr. Saunders in observance of the solemnity of the feast of Corpus Christi. A procession of the Blessed Sacrament took place in which the different sodalities of the church participated, also the officers of the mass and the pastor, Rev. Fr. Ronan, the whole making a very impressive spectacle.

AT ST. MICHAEL'S.

The feast of Corpus Christi was observed at St. Michael's church, Centralville, yesterday with a procession of the Blessed Sacrament through the church. Rev. Fr. Gildny conducted the services and was assisted by Rev. Fr. Boland. The procession was participated in by the altar boys, the sodalities, the Immaculate Conception society and the Children of Mary.

The sacrament of confirmation will be administered on the evening of June 19.

SACRED HEART CHURCH.

At the Sacred Heart church at eight o'clock, yesterday morning, mass was celebrated by Rev. John P. Reynolds, O. M. I., the pastor, and the children of the parish who have been preparing for confirmation, received first communion in a body. At 10.30 o'clock mass was also celebrated by Rev. Fr. Reynolds and Rev. John McRory, O.M.I. preached the sermon on the Blessed Sacrament.

ACCIDENT TO BICYCLIST.

Miss Florence Kelley of Middlesex Village, while riding through North Chelmsford on her bicycle Sunday evening about 7 o'clock, ran into the large steam roller that is being used in the building of the new state road and she received a bad shaking up. Dr. Harvey of North Chelmsford was notified and he had Miss Kelley removed to her home in Middlesex Village. It will take several days before Miss Kelley will be out again.

MANY FATALITIES

One Day's Deaths and Accidents in Chicago

A LITTLE BOY WAS DROWNED

And a Girl Was Fatally Injured.

A STRANGE CHAIN OF DISASTER

Began When a G. A. R. Vet Was Buried.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

CHICAGO, June 5.—A special from Arthur, Ill., says: One boy drowned, a little girl fatally injured beneath the hoofs of horses, two women and a man brought to death's door by the shocks of the accident, all incidents accompanying funeral of a man having sudden death, made Sunday a remarkable day in this city.

The strange chain of disaster began when the local Grand Army post buried T. P. Wells, who was asphyxiated by gas at a hotel in Chicago last Wednesday night. While the ceremony was in progress at the cemetery, news reached Gus Baker that his 13-year-old son had just been drowned while in swimming. The shock prostrated Mr. Baker and he had to be taken home in a carriage. When the news was broken to his wife, she became frantic and both became unconscious. Both are in a precarious condition. While the funeral was returning from the cemetery, one of the carriages ran over Mrs. William Sullivan's two-year-old daughter, mangling her in a horrible manner. Miss Ola Clark, a witness to the latter accident, fainted and was carried to the nearest house, where she lay for hours before recovering sufficiently to be removed to her home.

The animal came over Bridge street and struck the telegraph pole in front of The Sun building and collided with a light buggy when it was stopped by Officer Lane. ANNA GOULD LEADS

A Mob in France Crying "Vive L' Armee."

PRESIDENT LOUBET of France.

Her Husband and His Brother Arrested—President Loubet Struck Over the Head—Stormy Times on the French Race Course.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PARIS, June 5—President Loubet accompanied by the premier, M. Dupuy, and the chief of the military household Gen. M. C. Bailloud, drove to the Auteil races yesterday afternoon, closely followed by Madame Loubet in a second landau. As they drove along the avenue des Champs Elysees, the crowd bowed respectfully, but on arriving at Auteil, they were met by a violent demonstration evidently organized and directed against the president. There was a storm of hoots, yells and cries of "Panama", "A bas Loubet," and "Vive l'Armee." A few shouts of "Vive Loubet" were drowned in the clamor. A strong force of police kept order and arrested many of the disturbers, including a man who tried to force his way to the president's carriage. During the second race, the clamor increased to violence and was plainly directed by a committee of the League of Patriots, collected with their supporters both before and behind the presidential stand around which a formidable army proceeded.

During the grand steeplechase many blows were struck and several policemen were injured in their endeavors to prevent an invasion of the presidential stand. At the crisis of the excitement while shouts of "Vive l'Armee" and "Vive Deroulede" were heard on all sides, Count Christian rushed toward the president brandishing a stick and directed a blow against him, striking him over the head.

The crowd rushed upon Christian, who only escaped rough handling by being taken under police protection.

President Loubet remained all the time unmoved, talking to the premiers, while the officers of his military household were protecting him from violence.

It seems that it was intended to give the Marchand mission a big ovation. The government got wind of the affair and kept Marchand out of the way, although Captain Baratieve and the other members of the expedition were there. The Deroudlelists balked of their opportunities, evidently vented their spite upon the president.

The race course committee apologized to Mr. Loubet who replied that he could not think of holding them responsible. He remarked to an important personage that he did not intend being intimidated into resignation.

During the demonstration, M. Rochefort, editor of "Intransigeant" was seen and an attempt was made to induce him to lead the manifestation but he discreetly slipped away.

ANNA GOULD LEADS.

Comtesse Boni de Castellane, who was Miss Anna Gould of New York, placed herself at the head of the Jeunesse Royalists and marched up and down the lawn, shouting "Vive l'Armee." Comte Boni de Castellane and his brother Jean were arrested but were soon liberated.

Comt de Dion, when arrested, resisted and fought with his cane, smashing it on a policeman's head and causing the jewelled top to fly off, striking a journalist. He was detained in custody. Altogether about 120 arrests were made, one being that of Mr. Dansette, deputy mayor of Armentieres.

SUNDAY FIRES.

The mammoth bill board on the Hamilton wall caught fire in some unknown manner yesterday afternoon and was blazing briskly when a detachment from the Watren street fire station, which was called, extinguished it.

DR. CHARLES E. DONLAN, Seventh U. S. Army Corps.

A BOSTON WOMAN

The Suicide Who Startled New York

ELIZABETH A. HOLT OF SOMERVILLE.

She Had Lost Her Mental Balance.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, June 5—The mysterious woman who killed herself with opium at the Metropolitan hotel has been identified as Miss Elizabeth A. Holt of Boston. She registered as S. A. Brown, Boston, and soon afterward killed herself, leaving no clew to her identity. It is believed that she was deranged mentally at the time.

A man who said he was C. H. Tucker of Boston called at the morgue at 11 o'clock yesterday and when he saw the body he became greatly agitated. He hurried away without making a statement.

Tucker went that night to the house of coroner's physician, Donlan and made an appointment to meet him at the morgue at noon today. He kept his appointment and with him came Charles E. Holt of Boston, a brother of the dead woman. Mr. Holt said his sister was 33 years old and unmarried. She had been ill for two years and gradually lost her strength, suffering from melancholia. Then she lost her mental balance but her relatives did not think her in danger and did not have her watched.

DR. CHAS. E. DONLAN

RETURNS ON A LEAVE OF ABSENCE FROM HAVANA.

Dr. Charles E. Donlan of High street, who has been serving with the 7th army corps in Cuba has returned home on a twenty days' leave of absence and at the end of that time is to be prepared to go to the Philippines or Fort Hamilton.

A number of surgeons are to be sent out to the Philippines and although the selection has not yet been completed it is pretty well understood who will be named for that duty. At Fort Hamilton, in New York harbor, the station to which most of the sick from Cuba and Porto Rico are brought, will also require the services of a large number of surgeons during the summer at least and Dr. Donlan, while he would prefer Fort Hamilton, is not at all certain that he will be selected for that post. He is undecided about going to the Philippines, yet if ordered there he may go, although his mother and other relatives are very much opposed to his going there, as they believe the war to the Philippines will last for years and there is no telling how it will terminate.

Dr. Donlan seems to have a great liking for army life and says that his experience during the time he has served in Cuba has been very valuable to him. Most of his time was spent with the 7th army corps under General Lee at Havana, although the regiment made a tour across the island to the Caribbean sea to meet General Gomez. This tour gave him an opportunity of seeing the country and he says it is a horrid spectacle of desolation, the homes of the people having been torn down or burned either by the Cubans or the Spaniards. Sometimes the Cubans when forced to abandon their homes burned them down to prevent their occupation by the Spaniards. Sometimes the Spaniards destroyed them in the ordinary course of warfare which has been carried on for so many years.

At the present time the suffering of the reconcentrados is practically over as the government has stopped distributing rations to them and they are expected to be able to shift for themselves. Conditions in Cuba, he says, are rapidly improving and the troops in Havana during the past six months enjoyed the best of health, better, in fact than did the troops in the United States at the same time. Dr. Donlan has enjoyed good health in Havana and looks well in his regimental uniform.

Confidence

Women confide their troubles to Mrs. Pinkham and rely upon her advice.

Mrs. Pinkham's counsel is safe counsel.

Woman's life is a constant crisis. From girlhood to womanhood, then to motherhood and so on to the perils of the "change of life." The history of every step is on Mrs. Pinkham's records thousands of times and her vast experience and confidential advice is at the free disposal of every woman who writes to her for aid. Her address is Lynn, Mass.

"Your Medicine is a Godsend" Writes Mrs. Phillips.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I want to thank you for what you have done for me. When I wrote to you last June, I was almost a total wreck from female weakness. I was troubled with irregular and painful menstruation, leucorrhœa, bearing-down pains, soreness, and swelling of abdomen; pain at right and left of womb; headache, backache, nervousness, and could neither eat nor sleep well.

"Since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Liver Pills, and using your Sanative Wash, I do not feel like the same person. I am so glad that I wrote to you, for you have helped me very much. My nerves are stronger and more steady than ever before in my life, and my backache and all those terrible pains are gone. Before taking your medicine I weighed less than one hundred and thirty pounds. I now weigh one hundred and fifty-five pounds. My friends say I look better than they ever saw me, and I know that I feel better than I have for a good many years. I think your medicine is a godsend to poor, weak women."—Mrs. Carrie Phillips, Anna, Illinois.

Mrs. Barnard Cured by Mrs. Pinkham.

"DEAR FRIEND—I feel it my duty to express my gratitude and thanks to you for what your medicine has done for me. I was very miserable and losing flesh very fast, had bladder trouble, fluttering pains about the heart and would get so dizzy and suffered with painful menstruation. I was reading in a paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I wrote to you, and after taking two bottles I felt like a new person. Your Vegetable Compound has entirely cured me and I cannot praise it enough."—Mrs. J. O. Barnard, Milltown, Washington Co., Me.

The women of America have in Mrs. Pinkham a confidential friend whose advice is always at their disposal, free of charge. The knowledge that women only assist Mrs. Pinkham in her correspondence with women about health, makes it possible for the full details to be given, without hesitation.

Mrs. Cobb Cured of a Great Affliction.

"I think it is my duty to write you what your wonderful medicine has done for me. I suffered with itching of the external parts for six years, and was in misery day and night. I lost flesh and became weak. I tried everything I could think of. My husband wanted me to see a doctor, but I could not consent to that. He then wanted me try your medicine, and this I agreed to do. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, also used the Sanative Wash, and am to-day a changed woman. I am free from my misery, and can go to bed and sleep like a baby. I can work with comfort, and it does not tire me as it did to walk. Your remedies have done wonders for me, and cannot be praised enough. I would not be without them. They cured me of a great affliction, and why should they not cure others? I would advise every suffering woman to give them a trial."—Mrs. J. S. B. Cobb, Bridgeton Center, Me.

CYCLING NEWS

Emery Soule of this city, the well known bicycle rider, started at the beginning of the season to ride a century every Sunday. Up to date he has ridden one hundred miles every Sunday, and two of them were in the rain.

The police need to have one more "bicycle cop" on the force. High street is badly in need of a mounted policeman, for it is decidedly dangerous for anyone getting off a car or crossing the street after darkness sets in. For instance a crowd of riders will start down at the end of High street and just before they get to Shefmany street they will start to "sprint" and if anyone happens to get in their way they are knocked down and in many cases severely injured. To be sure there are a couple of police on High street now, but they do not seem to stop the fast riding very much for when the "cop" shouts to them to stop they only sneer at him. If there was a mounted patrolman on the street he could give chase to the offenders until he caught one or more of them, and after a fine was imposed on these dangerous scorchers, fast riding would be a thing of the past. Already a number of the residents of High street have complained to the night policemen, but they do not seem to prohibit the uncalled for acts of men whose fast riding on wheels can only can be attributed to wheels in their head. Nuff ced.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

COL. RIPLEY MENTIONED AS REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR REPRESENATIVE.

It is now generally reported that Col. Royal S. Ripley will be a candidate for representative. It is said that he has been assured by his friends in the Lowel portion of the district that should he desire to enter the contest they will guarantee him support enough for nomination and election. The nomination of Col. Ripley would materially upset the calculations of Chelmsford Centre republicans.

Another shooting match will soon be held by the North Chelmsford Shooting club at its ground in this village.

Arthur Mallalieu has accepted a position as assistant bookeeper and assistant paymaster for the firm of H. E. Fletcher, the well known quarry man.

Mr. Fletcher has about 120 men employed at the present time on his ledge in West Chelmsford and business is rushing with him.

It is not thought that North Chelmsford will have any Fourth of July celebration this year, as nothing relating to the celebration has been done as yet. Last year the village had a grand celebration.

John J. Monahan is having a new well built on his land on Highland avenue.

CITY HALL NOTES

Agent-Elect Knapp Puts in Appearance.

THE LEGALITY OF HIS ELECTION.

Special Meeting of Aldermen Tomorrow.

The committee on accounts will meet at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The electric wire committee will meet at 7.30 this evening.

The mayor has called a special meeting of the aldermen for tomorrow evening for the purpose of clearing up unfinished business. The Fourth of July appropriation and the $33,000 street appropriation are among the unfinished matters to be considered.

A regular meeting of the common council will be held tomorrow evening.

Horace Knapp who was voted for as agent of the board of health, was at City Hall this morning and held a conference with Agent Bates. Some people claimed that Mr. Knapp is not yet elected and that the form of election must be gone through again. This is not so, however. The law specifically states that the board of health may elect an "agent or agents." When the motion to elect Knapp was made by Mr. Fifield it was that he "be chosen agent" and not that he be "chosen agent to succeed Mr. Bates." During Saturday's meeting Mr. Mulligan questioned whether Mr. Knapp could be elected till there was a vacancy and the law bearing on the matter was cited.

Among the marriage intentions recorded at city hall today were the following: Robert Dalziel 38 to Helen A. Plummer 24 both of Manchester, N. H.

FIREMAN DEAD

JAS. P. SMITH OF THE HIGH STREET ENGINE PASSED AWAY.

James P. Smith, aged 36 years, died last evening at his home, 57 Chestnut street, after an illness of about three years' duration. The indirect cause of death was an accident which occurred to the deceased in 1896. Mr. Smith was then in the employ of of T. J. McDonald, the Dutton street grain dealer, and while at work delivering goods from a delivery wagon a bale of hay fell on him and severely wrenched his back. Although the doctors assured his family that the injury would not prove fatal, spinal disease ensued and after great suffering the deceased passed away early last evening.

Mr. Smith was a clerk for Mr. McDonald for three years preceding the accident was also a call fireman. He was connected with Engine 4 on High street since September 1, 1886.

He had lived in Lowell practically all his life and his friends who are legion will be pained to learn of his death.

During his long confinement at home, Mr. Smith was never forgotten by his acquaintances whose calls were very frequent.

He leaves, besides a widow, his mother and two sisters, and a large circle of sorrowing friends to mourn his loss. The funeral will take place at 10.30 o'clock tomorrow morning from the Immaculate Conception church.

POLICE COURT

SIXTEEN DRUNKS BEFORE JUDGE FISHER THIS FORENOON.

There were sixteen drunks before the court this forenoon and Judge Fisher in nearly all of the cases imposed fines. Margaret Cavanaugh and Ellen Hannan were each fined $6.

The following each received fines of $5: Joseph A. Paris, Emile Gray, Thomas Hoye, John J. Welsh, Joseph DeIsle, James Daly, Moise Lavigueur, Michael Higgins.

Albert Berrand was adjudged guilty of drunkenness and also of assault upon Officer Markham and was continued until tomorrow forenoon for trial.

Dennis Wood pleaded not guilty to a charge of drunkenness and also with threatening his wife Annie Wood. The latter testified that on Saturday last the defendant chased her out of the house where they resided with a knife in his hand and threatened to kill her.

Officer Crowley testified to the inebriated condition of the defendant on Saturday.

The defence was a denial of the government witnesses' testimony and he kept up continual talking to court and begged of Judge Fisher to let him go free and he would at once go to Canada. Judge Fisher could not see it in that light and fined Wood $6 for drunkenness, or for non-payment of the same to be committed to jail. For threatening Wood was ordered in $100 to keep the peace for a period of six months.

Patrick McAndrew charged with illegally keeping liquor, was continued until tomorrow for trial. Maurice Johnson, Edward Brady and Joseph Fallan on complaint of Officer James Hadley were charged with keeping open shop on the Lord's Day at Chelmsford and were continued until Saturday next for trial.

OF COURSE NOT.

"I saw you riding in a hack yesterday. Were you going to the doctor's?"

"Do you suppose I would be fool enough to let my doctor know that I could afford to ride in a hack?"

VETERAN FIREMEN

Gen. Butlers and Burkes May Contest.

The tub of the General Butler Vets arrived in Lowell Saturday afternoon from Natick, having been hauled by horses from that place to South Framingham where it was loaded on a flat car, but not shipped until Saturday.

The Burkes are thinking of making an effort to secure the Vixen, the tub of the Lowell Vets, for the summer with a view of participating in musters. They have been getting in a little practice and may challenge the Butlers to a trial of speed. There are no tournaments announced for June 17. Last summer the Butlers went to Lynn this date. There is to be a muster at Central Falls, R. I., July 4, but the Lowell organization will probably not attend.

SPLENDID CHARITY.

"W'at youse lookin' fer mister?"

"I dropped a nickle right here."

"Well, here's a dime; now go along an' don't cry."

Real Unionism.

Real unionism is not an attempt to squander your employer's money as rapidly as possible, to see how little you can give him in exchange for pay, to take the money weekly and feel no further interest in whether it has brought him good or ill. Nor does it consist of a constant suspicion and a close watching of every loophole in the effort to discover something wrong about which to find fault. Real unionism is something higher and better than that. It is, and should be, protection for the employers against crookedness and incapacity, an earnest desire to give a generous return for the wage allotted, a sympathetic interest in the employer's doings, and an honest, earnest endeavor to do work cheerfully, promptly and well. Time serving is not unionism, and time servers do more to detract from the benefit of organized labor than any other known quantity. Give faithful service on the lines you contract for, or be too manly to take pay.—Typographical Journal.

Mr. William A. Buckley, for four years President of Lowell Central Labor Union, residing at 7 Chestnut street, says: "It is hard to say more in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills than their great merit warrants. I had attacks of backache and pains through my loins for over 12 years. I doctored, used liniments, plasters and remedies without number, but nothing did me any permanent good until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Ellingwood & Co.'s drug store. The use of three boxes absolutely cured me. I regard it a pleasure to testify to the great value of this preparation."

CIRCULATION COUNTS....

In estimating the cost of advertising, remember that circulation is what counts. When a paper with one-half or one-third the circulation of The Sun asks Sun rates for advertising space, you can readily see how cheap our rates really are.

The real cost of advertising is not the rate per inch, but the rate per inch per thousand of circulation.

The Sun not only leads all the local papers in circulation but it easily leads any two of them combined. The Sun is conceded to be

LOWELL'S

NEWSPAPER.

There seems to be no head to the Textile school since Prof. Brooks left it.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

The Springfield Union says: Forty-six "drunks" were arrested in no-license Lowell last Saturday night. Either the police of that city are showing extraordinary diligence or else the people find something to drink besides sarsaparilla.

The two daughters of General Wheeler were present at the mock session of the legislature Saturday. They must carry away with them a high idea of the dignity and refinement of the Great and General Court, when that body undertakes to burlesque itself. It is bad enough at best.

The committee on commons, it appears, is limited to the amount of money it has to expend on the new Rogers Park. That being so, the construction of a pond had better be abandoned as none at all is preferable to a cheap one that would not harmonize with the surroundings.

The decision of Judge Fisher in favor of the defendants in the native wines case has been favorably commented upon. It is not to be supposed that everybody brought into court on the charge of selling liquor should be convicted. There should be some unmistakable proof of their guilt.

The legislature of 1899 has been prorogued and its work has now gone into history. It would be futile to examine the records of its enactments for anything that would improve the laws or widen the scope of state policy. Perhaps the most notable measure passed was the trades unions' insurance bill; at least, it was that which appears to be the most popular measure enacted during the session.

The legislature, as usual, gave a large portion of its time to tinkering at the municipal affairs of Boston, changing and re-changing the method of electing officers and transacting business, the effect being to restrict that city's right to home rule.

The decision of the Lowell judge that under the law a newspaper in a no-license city or town cannot publish liquor advertisements, and the fact that the Massachusetts legislature refused to pass the bill making such publications legitimate can have but one effect and that is the creation of a sentiment that will result in repeal of the law. The Times does not permit the use of its columns to such advertising, but it nevertheless believes that such an application of the law as is involved in the decision at Lowell is an invasion of personal right. It is a pity that most temperance legislation seems to labor under some such handicap to toleration as this.—Brockton Times.

It is possible that the decision of the police court judge may eventually be overruled, but if not, the law will undoubtedly be repealed. It is doubtful if the framers of the law ever intended it should have this effect. It is not fair to have papers published outside Lowell and circulating here granted a privilege in this respect which Lowell papers are denied. This is an important question which will be properly cleared up in due time.

THE OHIO REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

In the nomination of the state ticket in Ohio, the republicans have given the forecast of their platform in 1900. Mark Hanna is still on top in Ohio, the boss of the factions, the political corruptionists, rings and bodlers through his high-handed methods, by appeals and threats as the spokesman of the administration. Mark Hanna speaks for McKinley in his role as dictator to the republican party of the state and nation and although to the latter he is particularly obnoxious, his influence with the president gives him the power to overcome his enemies and to win political battles, as he has done in Ohio, securing by corrupt means his own election to the United States senate, and now the nomination of George H. Nash, in spite of the strongest opposition in the state.

The order recently issued by President McKinley withdrawing four thousand offices from the merit system was given out undoubtedly for the purpose of providing a sufficient number of places for Mr. Hanna's disposal in dictating the nominations in Ohio and elsewhere. When Mr. Hanna is not disbursing boodle, he is distributing patronage that is usually given out by the president. He is the president's political manager and agent and is recognized throughout the nation as the greatest political corruptionist in the country, not excepting Tom Platt or Ex-Senator Quay.

The anti-civil service order of the president served to conciliate some of the most bitter opponents of Boss Hanna. Sen. Foraker was perhaps the most humiliated man by the nomination of Nash, but all factions were made subservient to Hanna's purpose. The platform adopted is particularly worthy of note as forecasting the platform of 1900; it gives the republican administration full credit for whatever degree of prosperity exists now, has existed, or will exist in the near future; gives it credit for the victory in the war with Spain, and for the great territorial expansion of which we hear so much and for which there is a sort of reckoning still pending in the Philippines. But perhaps the most ludicrous feature of all was the adoption of an anti-trust plank by the organizers, defenders, stockholders and representatives of the trusts. This anti-trust plank is a piece of political chap trap put in to offset any provision of this nature which may be embodied in a democratic platform, but it means nothing except an attempt on the part of republicans to delude voters.

The president was, of course, commended in the platform for his judicious modification of the civil service rules recently promulgated and the anti-trust plank stated that: "We commend the action of the 73d general assembly of Ohio, in placing a stringent law now on our statute books, prohibiting the organization of trusts and we denounce such unlawful combinations as inimical to the interests of the people." This from a republican convention nominated by Mark Hanna is too absurd to be laughable.

SOCIAL CHIT CHAT.

The local courts of Forestiers have already appointed committees to arrange for the grand court convention to be held in this city next May. It is expected that Huntington hall will be ready by that time and if so, it will be used for the grand concert and ball to visiting delegates. The convention will be held in Foresters' hall.

Everybody is privileged to spend their money for whatever and wherever they please, but it does seem very [illegible] will trouble themselves to go to Boston to do their shopping where the prices are higher than those in this city. I had occasion to call on a friend of mine in Boston who is employed in one of the retail stores and was surprised to see people from Lowell making pretty heavy purchases of ladies' shoes. The funny part of it was that some members of the family, of these individuals are in the shoe business in Lowell. My friend informed me when I commented upon the fact that it was nothing strange or unusual as every day you might see Lowell people trading at his store. If that is so, in that particular branch of business I presume it is so in every other. But the fact still remains that it is poor economy as they can get surely better bargains at home when you take into consideration, the expense of travel, luncheon, etc. Some people argue that it is necessary to go to Boston in order to get a variety. We are rather inclined to differ with them as we believe that they can get everything they need in this city at as low prices and as good quality as in Boston.

It has been known for several years that Robert B. Mantell was unable to appear in New York save on Sundays, owing to some legal difficulty. To overcome this Mr. Mantell recently filed a petition in bankruptcy in the Chicago courts. His liabilities are placed at $14,000, which in part includes a judgement secured in that city for $10,000. If Mr. Mantell secures his discharge in bankruptcy he will be able to play in New York, a desire which his manager, M. W. Hanley has cherished for some time. Mr. Mantell has used several new plays during his tours which New York would like to see.

Scottish Sovereign Remedies Cure

Dyspepsia Has No Terrors Any More.

Mackintosh Scottish Remedy Co:

Gentlemen—It affords me great pleasure to report to you the great benefit I have received from your wonderful Dyspepsia Remedy. I have been a great sufferer from Dyspepsia, gastric and intestinal indigestion. At times I was on the verge of nervous prostration, and life seemed a burden. I was so depressed in spirits that a sharp word from a friends would cause me to shed tears. I was so weak and melancholy I often thought—am I a sufferer this way all the rest of my life? Meeting a friend one morning, he advised me to try the Scottish Remedies. After using for three days I noticed a change coming over me—nature seemed to be taking on new forces, and life was returning again. My tired and nervous system was so much better from the delightful sleep I commenced to have that I would awake in the morning feeling rested, and life no longer a burden. I cannot give you praise enough for your wonderful Indigestion Remedy, and allow me to thank you heartily and accept my gratitude for my renewed health. Yours with success,

OFFER TO LITTLE

By Harvey Parker a Famous Athlete

SAYS HE CAN THROW LITTLE EASY

Five Times Within Hour or Lose.

A wrestling match has practically been arranged between John J. Little of Brockton and Harvey Parker, the famous athlete considered the best wrestler of his weight in the world. Parker went to Brockton a few days ago and deposited $10 with the Times as a forfeit for a match with any wrestler in the city, also Dick Casey of Lowell. He preferred Little and offered to go for $100 a side at 146 pounds, catch-as-catch-can. Little knowing Parker and what he has done didn't care meet him under those conditions and refused to wrestle. A meeting of the men was arranged for and they came together.

Parker simply stated that he desired a match with Little. Little stated that he did not believe he had any business with Parker. Parker looked Little over and Little made a close inspection of Parker. Little is much taller than Parker and looks fully as weighty. Little stated that he weighs 140. Parker weighed 156 with his clothing on. He stated that he would get to any weight Little would name for a match.

After some discussion Parker finding that Little was not anxious to wrestle made a very fair proposition, one that Little will, no doubt take on. He stated that he will guarantee to throw Little five times in succession in one hour or lose the match. If Little wins one fall in an hour, Little wins. Little told Parker, point blank that he would agree to do so or lose and make the falls in succession to that. The men agreed to meet later and make terms.

Little has many friends in Brockton who look upon Parker's offer as a cinch for Little. Little has not been put to his utmost yet, except in the Lowell match the other evening. He is in prime shape for a match, his knees now being on the way to quick recovery and the go between the men should be well worth seeing. It is known what Little can do. In view of that Parker's proposition looks monstrous.

HOMELESS AND HUNGRY IN STREETS.

Tramps Wearing the U. S. Uniform.

Private Patrick M. Buckley of Co. M, First infantry, after a year's good service at Pinar del Rio has returned to his home in this city, having been mustered out. In conversation with The Sun reporter Private Buckley stated that many of Uncle Sam's ex-soldiers in Cuba are destitute and starving. In support of his claim to that effect he showed the reporter a copy of the Daily American, an American newspaper published in Havana, which contained the following under the date of April 28:

"The United States is looked upon as not only a civilized country, but a Christian one as well. Millions of dollars are sent annually by the good people of the States to the missionaries in heathen countries, even cannibals are fed on some of the good missionaries that are sent to convert them. While missionaries for feeding purposes are not needed in Havana, food and shelter is sadly needed for men who have received honorable discharges from the United States.

For months relief stations have been busy issuing rations to the Cubans, while Americans have been walking our streets homeless and hungry.

This is not a fancy picture, but stern reality. Tuesday morning, The Daily American told the story of the 19 men who were honorably discharged from C company, Eighth infantry, and who were refused a meal or a night's shelter in their old company, though they were discharged on Sunday afternoon.

This time it is Company A, Eighth infantry, where a number of honorably discharged soldiers were refused a meal and shelter. They received their discharges Wednesday afternoon, and it being too late to get their final statements cashed that day, they naturally expected to stay with their old company until they received the transportation and money to which they are entitled. Their surprise can be imagined when they were informed that they could neither eat nor sleep there.

Yesterday they failed to get their money, and as a result they are compelled to live on charity, and sleep on the benches in our park.

Yet the United States is feeding fat "starving" Cubans right here in the city of Havana, and the Boys in Blue are allowed to go hungry. There will be a day of reckoning for some one, and let it be hoped in the very near future.

Besides the cases recorded above there are a number of discharged soldiers in the city from the First infantry, who are in the same predicament, Micawber like, waiting to get their transportation and final statements cashed. Until then they must walk Havana's streets or sleep in the park.

At the Second Division Hospital a large number of men were discharged last Monday and Tuesday, and Major Ira Brown, the officer in charge, issued an order that all soldiers would have to leave within twenty-four hours after receiving their discharge, but when shown The Daily American's article of last Tuesday he rescinded the order."

GOOD FOR TROLLEY LEAGUE

"So Lowell and Lawrence have been dropped from the New England circuit and no clubs have been substituted in their places" observes "Heard About Town" of the Nashua Telegraph who adds that this move on the part of league officers should and doubtless will, help the Trolley league out, for it has teams in both Lowell and Lawrence.

REBELS COMPLY

With the Orders of Admiral Kautz

THEY HAVE STRENGTHENED THEIR POSITION

And are Engaged in Manufacturing Cartridges.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

APIA, Samoa, May 19 (via San Francisco, June 5) When Admiral Kautz issued his proclamation of April 23, directing Mataafa and his followers to keep beyond certain defined limits around Apia, the prescribed district covering an area 12 miles long and six miles broad, followed by a notification to Mataafa that unless the rebels were outside the prescribed limits in 24 hours, fire would be opened upon them wherever they could be reached, this brought about an immediate and unconditional compliance with the admiral's demands. From that time up to date there has been no conflict with the rebels. Since the rebels went to Falenta, a strong patrol of 700 or 800 men daily make the round seeing that all is quiet and that no looting or damage is done by the Mataafa followers. The large fort at Lotopia has been destroyed by the Malietoans and it is reported that Mataafa is highly enraged at this claiming that in the event of his wishing to return to the fort after the commission has given their decision it ought to have been allowed to do so. In the meantime he is building forts inland at the town of Falenuta, and his followers stoutly declare that even if the commissioners are unanimous against him, he will never acknowledge Tanu as king and will fight it out to the bitter end. In the meantime the rebels are strengthening their position, sending out messengers for their sympathizers to come and join them and are busily engaged in manufacturing cartridges. Deserters from the Mataafa camp say that on the occasion of the Falke last visiting Saluafata, that some of the rebel chiefs went off to the ship and asked for a supply of ammunition but that the same was refused them to their great disgust. The loyalists on the other hand are fortifying their intrenchments around Apia and are being daily drilled and instructed by officers from the different warships. A four inch gun has been taken from Her Majesty's ship Tauranga and is now mounted at Mullum in such a position as to command the whole of the western portion of the municipality. The great question is whether the commission will order the disarmament of the natives. If they don't it is the opinion of almost every white resident that these islands will no longer be safe to live in and many delare that if the natives are to retain their rifles, no matter what other solution of the Samoan question is made, they cannot and will not live here with their wives, families and property at the mercy of the next lot of rebels.

It is the intention of Admiral Kautz to leave here three days after this writing. He sees that the commission will be a long time over its labors and that during that time nothing will be done by the war vessels. The Badger and the Brutus are both here in American interests and the Newark is expected in three weeks at least and therefore there is no need for him to wait here a lengthened period doing nothing.

TOMORROW AFTEROOON.
AT FIVE O'CLOCK.

I am out of health, all alone, and unable to take care of my property; in other words, I have either got to sell it or actually neglect it. Under the circumstances I have chosen to sell it and will on Tuesday, the sixth day of June, 1899, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, regardless of weather or any conditions sell a two and half story house of nine rooms and cellar, 1027 Gorham St, Corner lot at the corner of Gorham and Lincoln streets, containing about 3500 square feet of land, 40 or more feet on Gorham street and 82 feet on Lincoln street.

The two parcels adjoin each other. The house was built by my late husband, who was a carpenter and builder and he built it to live in himself and occupied it to the end of his life. The lumber and finish was all selected; never was a house more honestly constructed; closets, chests, sets of drawers, and many other conveniences all through the house. It is in perfect order and repair; has two tenements, one of five rooms and one of four rooms; has water closets, sewerage, etc.

The lot has sewerage, sidewalks, and all city conveniences facing it on both streets and all assessments are paid for same. Seven minutes' electric car service pass the premises. The house will be open for inspection after 10 a. m., on day of sale. Three-quarters of the purchase money on each lot can remain on mortgage if purchasers so desire. The property is well located, is in a neighborhood that has always held its own in values, will always rent, is a safe place for investment or improvement, the property is going to be sold. The purchaser of house and lot must deposit with or secure to the auctioneers $250 as room as the lot is struck off. The purchaser of corner lot must do the same with $150.

MOTHER KILLED

While Trying to Protect Her Daughter.

COUNCILMAN McCORMICK THE ASSAILANT.

Had Paid Attention to Victim's Daughter.

HE FOUND HER WITH ANOTHER MAN

And Assaulted Her When Her Mother Interfered.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., June 3.— Mrs. Minerva Monaghen was murdered in her home on Jefferson street shortly after midnight while trying to protect her daughter, Mrs. Gertrude McCogan, from the attacks of Councilman W. C. McCormick. Mrs. Monaghan was stabbed in the neck by some sharp instrument, which severed the jugular vein and produced death in a few minutes.

McCormick, who is blind, has been paying attention to Mrs. McCogan and last night found her in the company of a young man named Diffenderfer. This so enraged him that he assaulted her with a water pitcher. Mrs. Monaghan, her mother came to her rescue and McCormick drew a knife and cut her throat. He then fled but was later arrested at his home. Mrs. Cogan was not seriously injured.

NEARLY DROWNED

John Nicholson Rescued by Police Commissioner Curtis

By Associated Press to The Sun.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., June 3.—Police Commissioner C. P. Curtis of Boston this morning saved John Nicholson, a Gloucester fisherman, from drowning. Nicholson was returning from Nahant, with a load of bait when his boat was struck by a squall, capsized and sunk about three quarters of a mile off Lincoln house point. Nicholson tried to swim ashore, but his strength gave out. Commissioner Curtis, on his way to the depot, heard the cries, procured a boat and with ex-Selectman Melzard, rowed out and rescued Nicholson who had sunk once and was just going down for the second time.

WAS RE-ARRESTED

John Deity Taken by Inspector McKay After His Release

By Associated Press to The Sun.

QUINCY, Mass., June 3.—John Deity, who was released from Cambrdge jail yesterday, after serving six months, was re-arrested by Inspector McKay of this city, and was arraigned n court here today, on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses from the Quincy and Boston street railway.

Deity is the man who is alleged to have defrauded a number of street railway companies. His plan was to ride on the rear platform, and, unobserved, unscrew bolts that held the handle bars. At an opportune moment it is claimed he would lean heavily aginst the handle bars and fall to the ground, carrying the handle bars with him. Deity was arrested in Framingham in November for a like offence, and was sentenced to serve six months in jail.

The case in court today was continued until Tuesday.

Mrs. Moore is a well known and highly respected resident and in the face of such a charge her feelings can be easily understood.

IN LONDON CIRCLES

Derby Day a Great Society Event

Lieut. Churchill Achieving Great Success in Politics and the Old Politicians are Warned to Look to Their Laurels—Sen. Wolcott Predicts McKinley's Re-Election.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, June 3.—London was plunged suddenly from winter to summer during the week. Last week fires were necessary. Now the temperature is 70 and the sky is clear and blue. London seldom seems so full of people and Hyde Park presented a very gay appearance, the light summer toilettes and bright-colored sunshades making a brilliant picture daily. The Princess of Wales, accompanied by the Princess Victoria, have been driving in Rotten Row, this being their first appearance for a long time. A number of coaches were also out. One very smart team driven by Mr. Frank McKay of Milwaukee, was often seen.

Considerable interest is being aroused in auto-cars. The Dukes of Marlborough and Manchester are doing all they can to start the fashion. A great automobile show will be opened June 17, at Richmond by Prince Edward of Saxe-Weimar. There will be tests of hill-climbing and races between fast trotting horses and automobiles.

An American company is establishing works at Coventry for the purpose of building motor cars invented by a son of Hiram Maxim.

DERBY DAY.

Derby Day is rapidly losing its character as the people's day and judging from the character of the attendance at Epsom on Wednesday, it is becoming as fashionable as Ascot Day. A vast majority of those occupying the stalls and boxes on the grand stand and on the jockey club stand were ladies well known in society while their bright costumes made the paddock look like a garden party.

The sensational collapse of the French horse Holocauste, whose death represented a loss of $30,000 to its owners, was an intense disappointment to the large French contingent which came over to see what was confidently predicted to be a victory for their representative. The French papers are furious and blame the Epsom authorities for leaving the course in a disgracefully dirty condition for it is generally declared that Holocauste slipped on a piece of orange peel. There was a great rush for relics after Holocauste was slaughtered. His ears, mane, tail and hoofs were cut off and the gypsies did a roaring trade in selling bunches of hair from their own gray horses and palming them off as genuine Holocauste souvenirs.

A well known veterinary surgeon, Markus Stevenson, a witness of the accident attributes in a published interview, the disaster to Sloan's method of riding, declaring that if the jockey had been sitting in his saddle instead of crouching on the horse's neck, he could have helped Holocauste to recover after the first mistake when he nicked his ankle. Holocauste, he adds, was then going very well and fifty yards further Flying Fox was only a neck ahead when Holocauste stumbled again and broke his pastern. Sloan, according to Stevenson, had no control over his mounts and "his methods extort speed by frightening his mount, as Johnny Gilpin did."

Holocauste's owner, Mr. J. de Bremond, certainly does not share the foregoing views. He said emphatically to a representative of the Associated Press: "Sloan's jockeyship was consummate and it is acknowledged on all sides that he had the race well within his grasp when the accident occurred. It was indeed ill luck to have victory snatched from me. Moreover, in Holocauste I lost a pet. The sympathy expressed on all sides will be extended to Sloan, whose disappointment is second only to mine."

LIEUT. CHURCHILL'S SUCCESS.

Lieut. Winston Leonard Churchill, eldest son of the late Lord Randolph Churchill, is making a distinct hit in the political field. He has been elected president of the Midland Conservative club and at a meeting held at Birmingham on Thursday to welcome him he made an extremely able speech during the course of which he evoked much merriment saying the expression of a presidential address always reminded him of the high politics of a queen's speech, a rescript of the Czar, or a message of President McKinley, or coming to lesser matters of Emperor William's telegrams, Former Secretary Olney's notes or other dignified styles of public utterance. Churchill also treated Lord Rosebery, Sir William Vernon-Harcourt, Mr. John Morley and other big leaders of the opposition to a dose of chaffing, but his clever criticism and speech generally attracted considerable attention. The conservative Morning Post says: "The old politicians had better look to their laurels. Churchill's speech has a force of movement and humor that delighted his hearers and discloses a sense of form and consciousness that oratory is an art, which will leave the public to expect more in that respect than has hitherto been supplied."

MANY AMERICAN VISITORS.

The hotels are now full of Americans. Senator Wolcott of Colorado is staying at Claridge's Hotel on his way to Carlsbad. In conversation with the representative of the Associated Press, he grew enthusiastic on the subject of the growing prosperity in the United States and the rapid increase in the exportation of American manufactures and predicted the triumphant re-election of President McKinley by an increase in majority. He also said that the democracy would not re-adopt William J. Bryan's silver platform but would make the chief issue hostility to trusts and expansion. He was keenly interested in the forthcoming report of the Indian currency commission and hoped that it would not recommend a gold currency as he thought an international agreement on bimetallism would be reached before long with a change of ratio.

Considering the advanced state of the season, numerous changes are announced by the theatres. The Americans are looking forward with interest to Nat Goodwin's appearance at the Duke of York's theatre on Monday; at Daly's, the same night, George Edwards will revive the "Gaiety Girl;" on Tuesday, there will be a revival of "Pinafore" at the Savoy, and on Thursday, Sarah Bernhardt will open with "La Tosca" at the Adelphi.

ALMOST A RIOT

THE SYRIANS AND PORTUGUESE CLASH IN LAWRENCE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LAWRENCE, June 3.—A riot between the Syrian and Portuguese colonies which was rapidly assuming a serious aspect when quelled by the police took place shortly after 6 o'clock last evening. The scene of the affair was on Valley street, in the heart of the Syrian quarter. Thirty or more people were involved, and of this number nine were placed under arrest.

The disturbance occurred just as the mill operatives were returning from work and at least 2000 spectators jammed the street, making it difficult for the police to arrest all who were implicated. Stones, clubs and even chairs were used and some of the participants were badly injured, although no serious results have yet been reported.

BELLA ANDERSON

Confessed to Abducting Little Marion Clark.

SHE IS "MISS CARRIE JONES."

The Child Was Taken for Ransom.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Carrie Jones, the nurse who helped to steal Marion Clark, was found last night near Summit, N. J., and her arrest immediately followed. She confessed to being a party in the abduction and was taken to Summit in the custody of State Detective Edward Kelly.

Bella Anderson is "Carrie Jones" real name. She is a country girl.

She swears she was led into the scheme to steal children by George Beauregard Barrow and his wife, Jennie. In this confession she tells them the child was stolen to demand ransom for her; tells how the kidnapping was accomplished.

While the New York detectives and the police of nearly every city and town of the country had been searching high and low for "Carrie Jones," the girl had been staying quietly at the Mills hotel annex in Bleecker street. She had not been in hiding and had gone boldly forth on the streets daily, either walking or riding.

Until Thursday she had no fear of arrest. Then she saw Barrow and fearing that the police might learn where she was staying, she took her wheel and went to the home of her aunt, Mrs. James H. Henderson, at White Oak Ridge, five miles from Summit.

It was the resemblance of Bella Anderson to the missing "Carrie Jones," that led to her being run down.

State Detective Edward Kelly of Summit, accompanied by several reporters, made the arrest. Bella Anderson at first denied that she was Carrie Jones, but finally broke down and confessed. When arrested she was sitting in a corner of the parlor quietly reading an afternoon newspaper which told of the kidnapping and the arrest of Barrow and his wife.

Seeing there was no escape and realizing that she was about to be arrested, the girl arose, threw up her hands, screamed and would have fallen had not the detective supported her.

She burst into tears and cried aloud: "My God! My God! Why did I do it? Why did I do it?"

BELLA ANDERSON ARRAIGNED.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, June 3.—When Bella Anderson, alias Carrie Jones, was brought up for examination in the justice court at Summit, N. J., today, Detective Sergeant Price of the New York police force asked that she be delivered to the New York authorities at once. The justice refused to give up the prisoner without a requisition from the governor of New York. An order was signed committing Bella Anderson to prison at Elizabeth to await the arrival of requisition papers. The prisoner would make no statement today regarding her crime.

THE BORDEREAU

Esterhazy Confessed to Have Written It

HE DENOUNCES THE ARMY CHIEFS

And Says They are All Guilty.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, June 3.—The Daily Chronicle says that Major Compte Ferdinand Walsin Esterhazy called at its office late last evening (Friday) with a confidential friend, and after declaring that the time had arrived when the whole truth should be told, although hitherto, by reason of constant orders and inducements he had kept silence on the essential point, made the following statement:

"The chiefs of the army have disgracefully abandoned me. My cup is full and I shall speak out.

"Yes," raising his voice and glaring round, "it was I who wrote the bordereau. I wrote it upon orders received from Sandherr."

Esterhazy, the Chronicle says, then proceeded to explain that for four months before 1893 moral proofs had been obtained of leakages which were only possible through an officer belonging to the ministry of war, and it was necessary to catch the guilty party by material evidence. Hence the bordereau.

When asked what chiefs of the French general staff would say to this confession, Esterhazy, shrugging his shoulders, disdainfully replied:

"They will lie, as they know how to lie; but I have them tight. I have proofs that they know the whole thing and share the responsibility with me, and I will produce the proofs."

He then denounced the chiefs as a "set of scoundrels, who have abandoned me basely," and added, "but at one time they used to come to thank Mme. Pays for her assistance."

Esterhazy asserted that quite recently the chiefs sent M. Lagnerre, a former deputy to London, with seductive offers to him to keep silence.

"Now they are doing threats," he shouted, "but I will not be deterred."

The Daily Chronicle got Esterhazy to sign the notes of the interview.

GLORIA

IS NOT A MEDICINE.

Love tickled the young man's ribs one day.
He scratched and scratched, but the tickle would stay;
Little he thought the young lady's heart
Had the same trouble at his from the start.
He had to drink GLORIA in order to see,
How to get out of the difficulty;
Young lady's answer, I'll surely be with you,
My mother and sisters will come along too.
He drank more Gloria and counted his cash,
Now thinks he will have to scratch gravel for hash.
Then all drink GLORIA before it's too late,
And look out well for this ticklish state.

CIRCULATION COUNTS . . . .

In estimating the cost of advertising, remember that circulation is what counts. When a paper with one-half or one-third the circulation of The Sun asks Sun rates for advertising space, you can readily see how cheap our rates really are.

The real cost of advertising is not the rate per inch, but the rate per inch per thousand of circulation.

The Sun not only leads all the local papers in circulation but it easily leads any two of them combined. The Sun is conceded to be

LOWELL'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER.

There seems to be no head to the Textile school since Prof. Brooks left it.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

The Springfield Union says: Forty-six "drunks" were arrested in no-license Lowell last Saturday night. Either the police of that city are showing extraordinary diligence or else the people find something to drink besides sarsaparilla.

The two daughters of General Wheeler were present at the mock session of the legislature Saturday. They must carry away with them a high idea of the dignity and refinement of the Great and General Court, when that body undertakes to burlesque itself. It is bad enough at best.

The committee on commons, it appears, is limited to the amount of money it has to expend on the new Rogers Park. That being so, the construction of a pond had better be abandoned as none at all is preferable to a cheap one that would not harmonize with the surroundings.

The decision of Judge Fisher in favor of the defendants in the native wines case has been favorably commented upon. It is not to be supposed that everybody brought into court on the charge of selling liquor should be convicted. There should be some unmistakable proof of their guilt.

The legislature of 1899 has been prorogued and its work has now gone into history. It would be futile to examine the records of its enactments for anything that would improve the laws or widen the scope of state policy. Perhaps the most notable measure passed was the trades unions' insurance bill; at least, it was that which appears to be the most popular measure enacted during the session.

The legislature, as usual, gave a large portion of its time to tinkering at the municipal affairs of Boston, changing and re-changing the method of electing officers and transacting business, the effect being to restrict that city's right to home rule.

The decision of the Lowell judge that under the law a newspaper in a no-license city or town cannot publish liquor advertisements, and the fact that the Massachusetts legislature refused to pass the bill making such publications legitimate can have but one effect and that is the creation of a sentiment that will result in repeal of this law. The Times does not permit the use of its columns to such advertising, but it nevertheless believes that such an application of the law as is involved in the decision at Lowell is an invasion of personal right. It is a pity that most temperance legislation seems to labor under some such handicap to toleration as this.—Brockton Times.

It is possible that the decision of the police court judge may eventually be overruled, but if not, the law will undoubtedly be repealed. It is doubtful if the framers of the law ever intended it should have this effect. It is not fair to have papers published outside Lowell and circulating here granted a privilege in this respect which Lowell papers are denied. This is an important question which will be properly cleared up in due time.

THE OHIO REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

In the nomination of the state ticket in Ohio, the republicans have given the forecast of their platform in 1900. Mark Hanna is still on top in Ohio, the boss of the factions, the political corruptionists, rings and bodlers through his high-handed methods, by appeals and threats as the spokesman of the administration. Mark Hanna speaks for McKinley in his role as dictator to the republican party of the state and nation and although to the latter he is particularly obnoxious, his influence with the president gives him the power to overcome his enemies and to win political battles, as he has done in Ohio, securing by corrupt means his own election to the United States senate, and now the nomination of George H. Nash, in spite of the strongest opposition in the state.

The order recently issued by President McKinley withdrawing four thousand offices from the merit system was given out undoubtedly for the purpose of providing a sufficient number of places for Mr. Hanna's disposal in dictating the nominations in Ohio and elsewhere. When Mr. Hanna is not disbursing boodle, he is distributing patronage that is usually given out by the president. He is the president's political manager and agent and is recognized throughout the nation as the greatest political corruptionist in the country, not excepting Tom Platt or Ex-Senator Quay.

The anti-civil service order of the president served to conciliate some of the most bitter opponents of Boss Hanna. Sen. Foraker was perhaps the most humiliated man by the nomination of Nash, but all factions were made subservient to Hanna's purpose. The platform adopted is particularly worthy of note as forecasting the platform of 1900; it gives the republican administration full credit for whatever degree of prosperity exists now, has existed, or will exist in the near future; gives it credit for the victory in the war with Spain, and for the great territorial expansion of which we hear so much and for which there is a sort of reckoning still pending in the Philippine Islands. But perhaps the most ludicrous feature of all was the adoption of an anti-trust plank by the organizers, defenders, stockholders and representatives of the trusts. This anti-trust plank is a piece of political chap trap put in to offset any provision of this nature which may be embodied in a democratic platform, but it means nothing except an attempt on the part of republicans to delude voters.

The president was, of course, commended in the platform for his judicious modification of the civil service rules recently promulgated and the anti-trust plank stated that: "We commend the action of the 73d general assembly of Ohio, in placing a stringent law now on our statute books, prohibiting the organization of trusts and we denounce such unlawful combinations as inimical to the interests of the people." This from a republican convention nominated by Mark Hanna is too absurd to be laughable.

SOCIAL CHAT.

The local courts of Forensics have already appointed committees to arrange for the grand court convention to be held in this city next May. It is expected that Huntington hall will be ready by that time and if so, it will be used for the grand concert and ball to visiting delegates. The convention will be held in Foresters' hall.

Everybody is privileged to spend their money for whatever and wherever they please, but it does seem very [illegible] will trouble themselves to go to Boston to do their shopping when the prices are higher than those in this city. I had occasion to call on a friend of mine in Boston who is employed in one of the retail stores and was surprised to see people from Lowell making pretty heavy purchases of ladies' shoes. The funny part of it was that some members of the family, of these individuals are in the shoe business in Lowell. My friend informed me when I commented upon the fact that it was nothing strange or unusual as every day you might see Lowell people trading at his store. If that is so, in that particular branch of business I presume it is so in every other. But the fact still remains that it is poor economy as they can get surely better bargains at home when you take into consideration, the expense of travel, luncheon, etc. Some people argue that it is necessary to go to Boston in order to get a variety. We are rather inclined to differ with them as we believe that they can get everything they need in this city at as low prices and as good quality as in Boston.

It has been known for several years that Robert B. Mantell was unable to appear in New York save on Sundays, owing to some legal difficulty. To overcome this Mr. Mantell recently filed a petition in bankruptcy in the Chicago courts. His liabilities are placed at $14,000, which in part includes a judgement secured in that city for $10,000. If Mr. Mantell secures his discharge in bankruptcy he will be able to play in New York, a desire which his manager, M. W. Hanley has cherished for some time. Mr. Mantell has used several new plays during his tours which New York would like to see.

Scottish Sovereign Remedies Cure

Dyspepsia Has No Terrors Any More.

Mackintosh Scottish Remedy Co:

Gentlemen—It affords me great pleasure to report to you the great benefit I have received from your wonderful Dyspepsia Remedy. I have been a great sufferer from Dyspepsia, gastric and intestinal indigestion. At times I was on the verge of nervous prostration, and life seemed a burden. I was so depressed in spirits that a sharp word from a friends would cause me to shed tears. I was so weak and melancholy I often thought—am I a sufferer this way all the rest of my life? Meeting a friend one morning, he advised me to try the Scottish Remedies. After using for three days I noticed a change coming over me—nature seemed to be taking on new forces, and life was returning again. My tired and nervous system was so much better from the delightful sleep I commenced to have that I would awake in the morning feeling rested, and life no longer a burden. I cannot give you praise enough for your wonderful Indigestion Remedy, and allow me to thank you heartily and accept my gratitude for my renewed health. Yours with success,

OFFER TO LITTLE

By Harvey Parker a Famous Athlete

SAYS HE CAN THROW LITTLE EASY

Five Times Within Hour or Lose.

A wrestling match has practically been arranged between John J. Little of Brockton and Harvey Parker, the famous athlete considered the best wrestler of his weight in the world. Parker went to Brockton a few days ago and deposited $10 with the Times as a forfeit for a match with any wrestler in the city, also Dick Casey of Lowell. He preferred Little and offered to go for $100 a side at 140 pounds, catch-as-catch-can. Little knowing Parker and what he has done didn't care to meet him under those conditions and refused to wrestle. A meeting of the men was arranged for and they came together.

Parker simply stated that he desired a match with Little. Little stated that he did not believe he had any business with Parker. Parker looked Little over and Little made a close inspection of Parker. Little is much taller than Parker and looks fully as weighty. Little stated that he weighs 140. Parker weighed 136 with his clothing on. He stated that he would get to any weight Little would name for a match.

After some discussion Parker finding that Little was not anxious to wrestle made a very fair proposition, one that Little will, no doubt take on. He stated that he will guarantee to throw Little five times in succession in one hour or lose the match. If Little wins one fall in an hour, Little wins. Little told Parker, point blank that he would agree to do so or lose and make the falls in succession to that. The men agreed to meet later and make terms.

Little has many friends in Brockton who look upon Parker's offer as a cinch for Little. Little has not been put to his utmost yet, except in the Lowell match the other evening. He is in prime shape for a match, his knees now being on the way to quick recovery and the go between the men should be well worth seeing. It is known what Little can do. In view of that Parker's proposition looks monstrous.

Fitz's famous left, which robbed Corbett of his laurels at Carson City may put an end to the boilermaker's aspirations. Fitzsimmons has been practicing the solar plexus blow at his training quarters. LEFT TO STARVE

Ex-Soldiers are in Want in Cuba

HOMELESS AND HUNGRY IN STREETS.

Tramps Wearing the U. S. Uniform.

Private Patrick M. Buckley of Co. M, First infantry, after a year's good service at Pinar del Rio has returned to his home in this city, having been mustered out. In conversation with The Sun reporter Private Buckley stated that many of Uncle Sam's ex-soldiers in Cuba are destitute and starving. In support of his claim to that effect he showed the reporter a copy of the Daily American, an American newspaper published in Havana, which contained the following under the date of April 23:

The United States is looked upon as not only a civilized country, but a Christian one as well. Millions of dollars are sent annually by the good people of the States to the missionaries in heathen countries, even cannibals in heathen countries, even cannibals are fed on some of the good missionaries that are sent to convert them. While missionaries for feeding purposes are not needed in Havana, food and shelter is sadly needed for men who have received honorable discharges from the United States.

For months relief stations have been busy issuing rations to the Cubans, while Americans have been walking our streets homeless and hungry.

This is not a fancy picture, but stern reality. Tuesday morning, The Daily American told the story of the 19 men who were honorably discharged from C company, Eighth infantry, and who were refused a meal or a night's shelter in their old company, though they were discharged on Sunday afternoon.

This time it is Company A, Eighth infantry, where a number of honorably discharged soldiers were refused a meal and shelter. They received their discharges Wednesday afternoon, and it being too late to get their final statements cashed that day, they naturally expected to stay with their old company until they received the transportation and money to which they are entitled. Their surprise can be imagined when they were informed that they could neither eat nor sleep there.

Yesterday they failed to get their money, and as a result they are compelled to live on charity, and sleep on the benches in our park.

Yet the United States is feeding fat "starving" Cubans right here in the city of Havana, and the Boys in Blue are allowed to go hungry. There will be a day of reckoning for some one, and let it be hoped in the very near future.

Besides the cases recorded above there are a number of discharged soldiers in the city from the First infantry, who are in the same predicament, Micawber like, waiting to get their transportation and final statements cashed. Until then they must walk Havana's streets or sleep in the park.

At the Second Division Hospital a large number of men were discharged last Monday and Tuesday, and Major Ira Brown, the officer in charge, issued an order that all soldiers would have to leave within twenty-four hours after receiving their discharge, but when shown The Daily American's article of last Tuesday he rescinded the order."

GOOD FOR TROLLEY LEAGUE

"So Lowell and Lawrence have been dropped from the New England circuit and no clubs have been substituted in their places" observes "Heard About Town" of the Nashua Telegraph who adds that this move on the part of league officers should and doubtless will, help the Trolley league out, for it has teams in both Lowell and Lawrence.

REBELS COMPLY

With the Orders of Admiral Kautz

THEY HAVE STRENGTHENED THEIR POSITION

And are Engaged in Manufacturing Cartridges.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

APIA, Samoa, May 19 (via San Francisco, June 5) When Admiral Kautz issued his proclamation of April 23, directing Mataafa and his followers to keep beyond certain defined limits around Apia, the prescribed district covering an area 12 miles long and six miles broad, followed by a notification to Mataafa that unless the rebels were outside the prescribed limits in 24 hours, fire would be opened upon them wherever they could be reached, this brought about an immediate and unconditional compliance with the admiral's demands. From that time up to date there has been no conflict with the rebels. Since the rebels went to Falenta, a strong patrol of 700 or 800 men daily make the round seeing that all is quiet and that no looting or damage is done by the Malietoa followers. The large fort at Lotopia has been destroyed by the Malietoans and it is reported that Mataafa is highly enraged at this claiming that in the event of his wishing to return to the fort after the commission has given their decision it ought to have been allowed to do so. In the meantime he is building forts inland at the town of Falenuta, and his followers stoutly declare that even if the commissioners are unanimous against him, he will never acknowledge Tanu as king and will fight it out to the bitter end. In the meantime the rebels are strengthening their position, sending out messengers for their sympathizers to come and join them and are busily engaged in manufacturing cartridges. Deserters from the Mataafa camp say that on the occasion of the Falke last visiting Saluafata, that some of the rebel chiefs went off to the ship and asked for a supply of ammunition but that the same was refused them to their great disgust. The loyalists on the other hand are fortifying their intrenchments around Apia and are being daily drilled and instructed by officers from the different warships. A four inch gun has been taken from Her Majesty's ship Tauranga and is now mounted at Mulinu in such a position as to command the whole of the western portion of the municipality. The great question is whether the commission will order the disarmament of the natives. If they don't it is the opinion of almost every white resident that these islands will no longer be safe to live in and many delare that if the natives are to retain their rifles, no matter what other solution of the Samoan question is made, they cannot and will not live here with their wives, families and property at the mercy of the next lot of rebels.

It is the intention of Admiral Kautz to leave here three days after this writing. He sees that the commission will be a long time over its labors and that during that time nothing will be done by the war vessels. The Badger and the Brutus are both here in American interests and the Newark is expected in three weeks at least and therefore there is no need for him to wait here a lengthened period doing nothing.

TOMORROW AFTEROOON.

AT FIVE O'CLOCK.

I am out of health, all alone, and unable to take care of my property; in other words, I have either got to sell it or actually neglect it. Under the circumstances I have chosen to sell it and will on Tuesday, the sixth day of June, 1899, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, regardless of weather or any conditions sell a two and half story house of nine rooms and cellar, 1027 Gorham St. Corner lot at the corner of Gorham and Lincoln streets, containing about 3500 square feet of land, 40 or more feet on Gorham street and 82 feet on Lincoln street.

The two parcels adjoin each other. The house was built by my late husband, who was a carpenter and builder and he built it to live in himself and occupied it to the end of his life. The lumber and finish was all selected; never was a house more honestly constructed; closets, chests, sets of drawers, and many other conveniences all through the house. It is in perfect order and repair; has two tenements, one of five rooms and one of four rooms; has water closets, sewerage, etc.

The lot has sewerage, sidewalks, and all city conveniences facing it on both streets and all assessments are paid for same. Seven minutes' electric car service pass the premises. The house will be open for inspection after 10 a. m. on day of sale. Three-quarters of the purchase money on each lot can remain on mortgage if purchasers so desire. The property is well located, is in a neighborhood that has always held its own in values, will always rent, is a safe place for investment or improvement, the property is going to be sold. The purchaser of house and lot must deposit with or secure to the auctioneers $250 as soon as the lot is struck off. The purchaser of corner lot must do the same with $150.

MOTHER KILLED

While Trying to Protect Her Daughter.

COUNCILMAN McCORMICK THE ASSAILANT.

Had Paid Attention to Victim's Daughter.

HE FOUND HER WITH ANOTHER MAN

And Assaulted Her When Her Mother Interfered.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., June 3.— Mrs. Minerva Monaghen was murdered in her home on Jefferson street shortly after midnight while trying to protect her daughter, Mrs. Gertrude McCogan, from the attacks of Councilman W. C. McCormick. Mrs. Monaghan was stabbed in the neck by some sharp instrument, which severed the jugular vein and produced death in a few minutes.

McCormick, who is blind, has been paying attention to Mrs. McCogan and last night found her in the company of a young man named Diffenderfer. This so enraged him that he assaulted her with a water pitcher. Mrs. Monaghan, her mother came to her rescue and McCormick drew a knife and cut her throat. He then fled but was later arrested at his home. Mrs. Cogan was not seriously injured.

NEARLY DROWNED

John Nicholson Rescued by Police Commissioner Curtis

By Associated Press to The Sun.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., June 3.—Police Commissioner C. P. Curtis of Boston this morning saved John Nicholson, a Gloucester fisherman, from drowning. Nicholson was returning from Nahant, with a load of bait when his boat was struck by a squall, capsized and sunk about three quarters of a mile off Lincoln house point. Nicholson tried to swim ashore, but his strength gave out. Commissioner Curtis, on his way to the depot, heard the cries, procured a boat and with ex-Selectman Melzard, rowed out and rescued Nicholson who had sunk once and was just going down for the second time.

WAS RE-ARRESTED

John Deity Taken by Inspector McKay After His Release

By Associated Press to The Sun.

QUINCY, Mass., June 3.—John Deity, who was released from Cambridge jail yesterday, after serving six months, was re-arested by Inspector McKay of this city, and was arraigned n court here today, on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses from the Quincy and Boston street railway.

Deity is the man who is alleged to have defrauded a number of street railway companies. His plan was to ride on the rear platform, and, unobserved, unscrew bolts that held the handle bars. At an opportune moment it is claimed he would lean heavily against the handle bars and fall to the ground, carrying the handle bars with him. Deity was arrested in Framingham in November for a like offence, and was seatenced to serve six months in jail.

The case in court today was continued until Tuesday.

CHILD KILLED

BY A FALL FROM A WINDOW ON THURSDAY.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

WATERVILLE, Me., June 3.—Wednesday night, Donart, the three-year-old child of Joseph Desrocher, met with a horrible accident which resulted in his death, Thursday afternoon. The child was playing in a third story room in the Baulanger block when some one in the street below called him and going to the window he raised the screen and looked out, losing his balance, falling thirty-five feet to the ground below. The child's skull was fractured, the face badly mutilated and there was also a hole of several inches into the skull, causing unconsciousness until death.

Mrs. M. J. Moore indignantly denies the charge of drunkenness made against her by Officer McCann in his testimony in the Barrows liquor case. She says that those who know her need not be told that it is false, but to those who do not know her she would say that the officer's testimony as regards herself was untrue. Mrs. Moore is a well known and highly respected resident and in the face of such a charge her feelings can be easily understood.

IN LONDON CIRCLES

Derby Day a Great Society Event

Lieut. Churchill Achieving Great Success in Politics and the Old Politicians are Warned to Look to Their Laurels—Sen. Wolcott Predicts McKinley's Re-Election.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, June 3.—London was plunged suddenly from winter to summer during the week. Last week fires were necessary. Now the temperature is 70 and the sky is clear and blue. London seldom seems so full of people and Hyde Park presented a very gay appearance, the light summer toilettes and bright-colored sunshades making a brilliant picture daily. The Princess of Wales, accompanied by the Princess Victoria, have been driving in Rotten Row, this being their first appearance for a long time. A number of coaches were also out. One very smart team driven by Mr. Frank McKay of Milwaukee, was often seen.

Considerable interest is being aroused in auto-cars. The Dukes of Marlborough and Manchester are doing all they can to start the fashion. A great automobile show will be opened June 17, at Richmond by Prince Edward of Saxe-Weimar. There will be tests of hill-climbing and races between fast trotting horses and automobiles.

An American company is establishing works at Coventry for the purpose of building motor cars invented by a son of Hiram Maxim.

DERBY DAY.

Derby Day is rapidly losing its character as the people's day and judging from the character of the attendance at Epsom on Wednesday, it is becoming as fashionable as Ascot Day. A vast majority of those occupying the stalls and boxes on the grand stand and on the jockey club stand were ladies well known in society while their bright costumes made the paddock look like a garden party.

The sensational collapse of the French horse Holocauste, whose death represented a loss of $30,000 to its owners, was an intense disappointment to the large French contingent which came over to see what was confidently predicted to be a victory for their representative. The French papers are furious and blame the Epsom authorities for leaving the course in a disgracefully dirty condition for it is generally declared that Holocauste slipped on a piece of orange peel. There was a great rush for relics after Holocauste was slaughtered. His ears, mane, tail and hoofs were cut off and the gypsies did a roaring trade in selling bunches of hair from their own gray horses and palming them off as genuine Holocauste souvenirs.

A well known veterinary surgeon, Marcus Stevenson, a witness of the accident attributes in a published interview, the disaster to Sloan's method of riding, declaring that if the jockey had been sitting in his saddle instead of crouching on the horse's neck, he could have helped Holocauste to recover after the first mistake when he nicked his ankle. Holocauste, he adds, was then going very well and fifty yards further Flying Fox was only a neck ahead when Holocauste stumbled again and broke his pastern. Sloan, according to Stevenson, had no control over his mounts and "his methods extort speed by frightening his mount, as Johnny Gilpin did."

Holocauste's owner, Mr. J. de Bremond, certainly does not share the foregoing views. He said emphatically to a representative of the Associated Press: "Sloan's jockeyship was consummate and it is acknowledged on all sides that he had the race well within his grasp when the accident occurred. It was indeed ill luck to have victory snatched from me. Moreover, in Holocauste I lost a pet. The sympathy expressed on all sides will be extended to Sloan, whose disappointment is second only to mine."

LIEUT. CHURCHILL'S SUCCESS.

Lieut. Winston Leonard Churchill, eldest son of the late Lord Randolph Churchill, is making a distinct hit in the political field. He has been elected president of the Midland Conservative club and at a meeting held at Birmingham on Thursday to welcome him he made an extremely able speech during the course of which he evoked much merriment saying the expression of a presidential address always reminded him of the high politics of a queen's speech, a rescript of the Czar, or a message of President McKinley, or coming to lesser matters of Emperor William's telegrams, Former Secretary Olney's notes or other dignified styles of public utterance. Churchill also treated Lord Rosebery, Sir William Vernon-Harcourt, Mr. John Morley and other big leaders of the opposition to a dose of chaffing, but his clever criticism and speech generally attracted considerable attention. The conservative Morning Post says: "The old politicians had better look to their laurels. Churchill's speech has a force of movement and humor that delighted his hearers and discloses a sense of form and consciousness that oratory is an art, which will leave the public to expect more in that respect than has hitherto been supplied."

MANY AMERICAN VISITORS.

The hotels are now full of Americans. Senator Wolcott of Colorado is staying at Claridge's Hotel on his way to Carlsbad. In conversation with the representative of the Associated Press, he grew enthusiastic on the subject of the growing prosperity in the United States and the rapid increase in the exportation of American manufactures and predicted the triumphant re-election of President McKinley by an increase majority. He also said that the democracy would not re-adopt William J. Bryan's silver platform but would make the chief issue hostility to trusts and expansion. He was keenly interested in the forthcoming report of the Indian currency commission and hoped that it would not recommend a gold currency as he thought an international agreement on bimetallism would be reached before long with a change of ratio.

Considering the advanced state of the season, numerous changes are announced by the theatres. The Americans are looking forward with interest to Nat Goodwin's appearance at the Duke of York's theatre on Monday; at Daly's, the same night. George Edwards will revive the "Gaiety Girl," on Tuesday, there will be a revival of "Pinafore" at the Savoy, and on Thursday, Sarah Bernhardt will open with "La Tosca" at the Adelphi.

ALMOST A RIOT

THE SYRIANS AND PORTUGUESE CLASH IN LAWRENCE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LAWRENCE, June 3.—A riot between the Syrian and Portuguese colonies which was rapidly assuming a serious aspect when quelled by the police took place shortly after 6 o'clock last evening. The scene of the affair was on Valley street, in the heart of the Syrian quarter. Thirty or more people were involved, and of this number nine were placed under arrest.

The disturbance occurred just as the mill operatives were returning from work and at least 2000 spectators jammed the street, making it difficult for the police to arrest all who were implicated. Stones, clubs and even chairs were used and some of the participants were badly injured, although no serious results have yet been reported.

BELLA ANDERSON

Confessed to Abducting Little Marion Clark.

SHE IS "MISS CARRIE JONES."

The Child Was Taken for Ransom.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Carrie Jones, the nurse who helped to steal Marion Clark, was found last night near Summit, N. J., and her arrest immediately followed. She confessed to being a party in the abduction and was taken to Summit in the custody of State Detective Edward Kelly.

Bella Anderson is "Carrie Jones" real name. She is a country girl.

She swears she was led into the scheme to steal children by George Beauregard Barrow and his wife, Jennie. In this confession she tells them the child was stolen to demand ransom for her; tells how the kidnapping was accomplished.

While the New York detectives and the police of nearly every city and town of the country had been searching high and low for "Carrie Jones," the girl had been staying quietly at the Mills hotel annex in Bleecker street. She had not been in hiding and had gone boldly forth on the streets daily, either walking or riding.

Until Thursday she had no fear of arrest. Then she saw Barrow and fearing that the police might learn where she was staying, she took her wheel and went to the home of her aunt, Mrs. James H. Henderson, at White Oak Ridge, five miles from Summit.

It was the resemblance of Bella Anderson to the missing "Carrie Jones," that led to her being run down.

State Detective Edward Kelly of Summit, accompanied by several reporters, made the arrest. Bella Anderson at first denied that she was Carrie Jones, but finally broke down and confessed. When arrested she was sitting in a corner of the parlor quietly reading an afternoon newspaper which told of the kidnapping and the arrest of Barrow and his wife.

Seeing there was no escape and realizing that she was about to be arrested, the girl arose, threw up her hands, screamed and would have fallen had not the detective supported her.

She burst into tears and cried aloud: "My God! My God! Why did I do it? Why did I do it?"

BELLA ANDERSON ARRAIGNED.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, June 3.—When Bella Anderson, alias Carrie Jones, was brought up for examination in the justice court at Summit, N. J., today, Detective Sergeant Price of the New York police force asked that she be delivered to the New York authorities at once. The justice refused to give up the prisoner without a requisition from the governor of New York. An order was signed committing Bella Anderson to prison at Elizabeth to await the arrival of requisition papers. The prisoner would make no statement today regarding her crime.

THE BORDEREAU

Esterhazy Confessed to Have Written It

HE DENOUNCES THE ARMY CHIEFS

And Says They are All Guilty.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, June 3.—The Daily Chronicle says that Major Compte Ferdinand Walsin Esterhazy called at its office late last evening (Friday) with a confidential friend, and after declaring that the time had arrived when the whole truth should be told, although hitherto, by reason of constant orders and inducements he had kept silence on the essential point, made the following statement:

"The chiefs of the army have disgracefully abandoned me. My cup is full and I shall speak out.

"Yes," raising his voice and glaring round, "it was I who wrote the bordereau. I wrote it upon orders received from Sandherr."

Esterhazy, the Chronicle says, then proceeded to explain that for four months before 1893 moral proofs had been obtained of leakages which were only possible through an officer belonging to the ministry of war, and it was necessary to catch the guilty party by material evidence. Hence the bordereau.

When asked what chiefs of the French general staff would say to this confession, Esterhazy, shrugging his shoulders, disdainfully replied:

"They will lie, as they know how to lie; but I have them tight. I have proofs that they know the whole thing and share the responsibility with me, and I will produce the proofs."

He then denounced the chiefs as a "set of scoundrels, who have abandoned me basely," and added, "but at one time they used to come to thank Mme. Pays for her assistance."

Esterhazy asserted that quite recently the chiefs sent M. Laguerre, a former deputy to London, with seductive offers to him to keep silence.

"Now they are doing threats," he shouted, "but I will not be deterred."

The Daily Chronicle got Esterhazy to sign the notes of the interview.

GLORIA

IS NOT A MEDICINE.

Love tickled the young man's ribs one day.
He scratched and scratched, but the tickle would stay;
Little he thought the young lady's heart
Had the same trouble as his from the start.
He had to drink GLORIA in order to see,
How to get out of the difficulty;
Young lady's answer, I'll surely be with you,
My mother and sisters will come along too.
He drank more Gloria and counted his cash,
Now thinks he will have to scratch gravel for hash.
Then all drink GLORIA before it's too late,
And look out well for this ticklish state.

PLAIDS FOR TRIMMINGS.

The Blues and Browns are Enlivened By the Most Brilliant Scotch Effects.

HOW DRESSES ARE CUT.

(From Our Special Correspondent.)

Yachting days are at hand, and the most delicious creations designed for summer seas are being selected by well-dressed women.

Many of the larger steam yachts were pressed into the country's service last Summer and most of the smaller craft kept to the old adage and "staid near shore," if, indeed, the owners moved them at all from the snug winter berths. But with the promise of an international boat race, and no fear of a "shot across the bows," the coast resorts will fairly swarm with elegant yachts.

BLACKMORE HEROINES.

The Blackmore heroines were always so charming at sea that they captivated the hearts of all aboard; not only the hero fell a victim to the trim waist and blowing skirt, but the other yachtsmen succumbed as well, and the poor heroine found herself in the predicament of a girl wooed by many suitors, all properly pedigreed and suitably introduced.

The yachting girl of the summer can look even smarter than the Blackmore heroines; for in those days there were only the blues and the browns from which to choose, navy blue and seal brown being the favorites.

But to-day there is the great family of Irish tweeds, and not second to them is the variety of Scottish plaids which embrace many families, each with its separate colors. The Lindley plaid, which can be produced in small sizes, is of green and red and blue, the middle color predominating; the Simpson plaid runs more to the brilliant red; while the Fergus is a green. It is well if you have a Scotch ancestor buried somewhere over in the banks to hunt him up and to find out what his plaid was. Engraven it upon your memory and select your tweeds and your hat bands to match it. If possible, have it banded across the top of your stationary. So shall you be a very cleverly designed yachtswoman.

Fashion is making an awful effort to get away from the blouse. The makers of ready-made waists, on the other hand, are advocating the blouse. For them it has its recommendations; it fits everybody. Given your bust measure and you can wear any waist provided it has a blouse front.

But the fitted waists are neater, and you find them busted in all sizes ready for the final fitting around the waist and on the shoulders. Ready-made waists of this description are high-priced, and you can hardly get one less than $5.00, of chambray, or cambric.

NEW EMBROIDERY TRIMMINGS.

They are making a yachting dress this year of very heavy duck trimmed with the coarsest kind of embroidery, which, indeed, looks more like a piece of cloth decorate. This is with holes cut out to show the fabric underneath. The style, while it is extremely effective, is hardly to be recommended for the amateur dressmaker. The openings must be cut with great accuracy and the outside fastened—many tailors use glue—to the inside. The effect is that of an open work pattern, designs being cut out in scroll shape to show the material underneath. Decorate, they call it.

The heavy duck which is used for yachting dresses is different from any duck you ever saw. A simple skirt alone—priced in a Broadway shop this week—cost $10.00. You would have sworn that it was of cloth; even to the feel it was like cloth. Its advantages are that it washes so well. The embroidery, which may be simply set over the duck, extends down one side and around the foot, also around the hips. The waist was profusely trimmed with it.

They are making pique in many weights, some of the pique being quite manageable so that it is really a pleasant waist material. Other grades of pique are very heavy and are more suitable for coats and skirts. A pique coat can be worn over a dotted mull vest, to which is attached the stiff collar and the broad flat white necktie.

A DELIGHTFUL DESIGN.

One of these delightful yachting gowns was of china blue hunting trimmed with blue and white checked taffeta. The wide sailor collar of silk opened over a vest and stock of white silk muslin, laid in fine tucks.

Two wing-shaped revers buttoned on the sailor collar with round clear white glass buttons, and ended in a point at the belt. The bloused waist was trimmed with bands of the checked silk laid in three tucks. Two rows went around the figure and also around the sleeves at the same lines. The skirt was one of the new habit style with no fullness at all across the back and fastened in front a little to the left under folds of the silk. Around the hips were tucked bands of silk and also at the foot of the skirt. A belt of white kid, embroidered in silver bullettes, was worn with this gown.

Another costume that was unusual in color and very pretty was of cream white serge, trimmed with cream silk braid and sea green taffeta.

The skirt was so carefully fitted that no fullness showed across the back except to fall around the feet in graceful folds.

This skirt buttoned down the center front with crystal buttons caught through braid loops. A broad band of the silk was around the skirt eighteen inches above the hem in front and sloping down at the back. This was brought over in scrolls and lattice designs with braid.

The jacket was a close-fitting little Eton, with the silk and braiding carried elaborately across the back and sleeves and down the jacket fronts which opened over a dainty white tucked taffeta shirt waist.

INEXPENSIVE AND DAINTY.

A very inexpensive but effective yachting gown was made of coral-colored pique, plaided by fine black lines and trimmed with white duck. The short bolero, worn over a white dotted muslin shirt waist, had a narrow sailor collar of duck laid over springing revers of duck which tapered down to slightly below the belt.

The skirt was scant, and the hidden box pleats in the back were held down by tiny white cotton buttons. A stitched band of duck ran from belt to hem slightly to the left of the front continuing around the hem, and an anchor of white duck was stitched just above it, directly in front.

Sailor hats are the most popular, though soft caps are used; the smartest sailors show a soft silk scarf tied around with large loops and ends falling over the hair. These scarfs are in delicate shades of rose, mauve and turquoise, and the sailors so trimmed are called the "Zaza."

Gloves are of palest gray, tan or white silk fastening with large pearl buttons, and low shoes can be obtained in almost any colored canvas to match a gown, but white duck or kid, trimmed with patent leather, are very new.

For cleaning these semi-wash goods there comes gasoline, which is excellent for removing spots. Alcohol takes out stains other than grease. And magnesia rubbed into the goods, and afterward brushed out, seems to obliterate traces of dust. A lump of starch, moistened and rubbed into the goods and left to dry, will clean very dirty waists. Brush the starch out after it is dried in, and you will be surprised at the transformation.

There is a tendency to line skirts less with silk. The silk lining cuts so easily that a silk substitute is used. But the silk petticoat remains in style. It is so dainty that it will be hard to drive it out.

Some women always demand the stiff-bosomed shirt waist, and they are not quite so formidable when the starched front is cut like a gracefully curved shield. The shield is rather long and gives the appearance of a blouse. It should be worn only by tall, slender women of perfect figure.

The white shirt waists promise to be as popular as ever, and one dainty June bride-to-be has ordered a set of six, all to be made of white in different materials—pique, lawn, cambric, mull, lace and wash silk.

The dressy shirt waists are made with tucks and entre deux of lace or embroidery sloping down in points toward the belt, somewhat the same as those used last season, but the sleeves instead of being plain, as formerly, are tucked and trimmed.

SIMPLICITY OF THE CZARINA'S COURT.

Gowns Made in the Palace and She Has Oatmeal on Her Table.

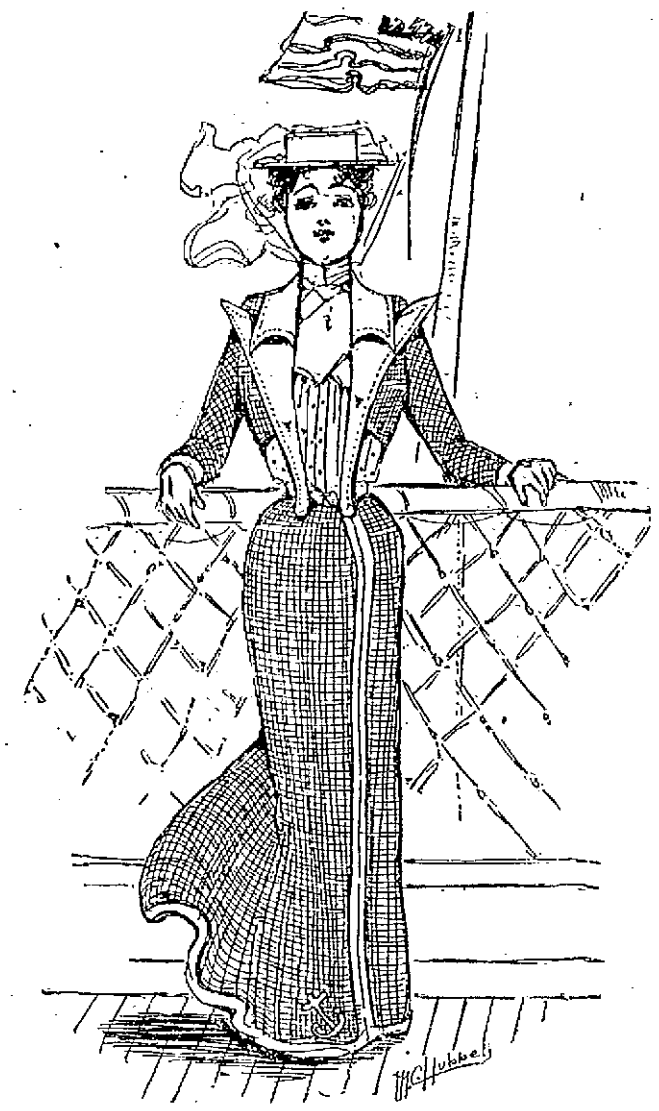

The Czarina is as unique as the Czar in the originality of her ideas. Royalty, which is not supposed to, have new thoughts, is perpetually astonished at this young couple, who throw down traditions and lay aside customs as lightly as though they were mere nobodies. The Czar and his curious peace conference you know all about, but the Czarina, in her palace at St. Petersburg, has hidden behind the privacy which the palace gives her. Yet occasionally facts about her come to light which are most interesting. Her first remarkable action was in refusing to give up her baby, little Olga, to hired nurses. Her own mother had nursed her children, so had Queen Victoria. Olga should receive the same care. She did the same with the second little girl, who is called by the English name of Vicky at home.

The Czarina's second act to astonish Russia was her persistence in refusing to take a retinue of ladies with her to drive. She would have one or two, but no more. The former Czarina, now the dowager, had always ridden with a mounted equerry on each side of her. The Czarina before her had been accompanied by two carriages of ladies. But the Czarina, Alice of Hesse, wanted nothing of the sort—only a lady to act as companion.

The Czarina then took to making her own dresses, or at least to having them made in the royal palace by a seamstress. It was the etiquette of the Court to send to Paris for the evening gowns, to London for the tailor-made suits and to very elegant establishments in St. Petersburg for the every-day gowns. But the Czarina ordered all her dresses made at home by her own seamstress, brought from England, except a few that were purchased at the shops.

The Czarina likewise ordered the table furnished prettily and meals served in simple fashion. She placed oatmeal upon the breakfast table, and ordered the draperies pulled aside for the sunshine. All lights were ordered out, except in the evening, and sunshine lighted the dining room.

The Czarina has brought the Court of England into Russia, as nearly as possible, and her husband is delighted at the banishment of some of the curious old formalities.

A VACATION IN A BALOON.

The Novel Way in Which Two French Actresses Have Decided to Spend the Summer.

A story is being whispered around Paris of two pretty actresses who are going to take their vacations this summer in a balloon. They do not propose to imitate Andree and start for the Pole, but they have an idea that it will be very pleasant making short trips in a balloon. A skilled balloonist is to accompany them and manage the flight of the aerial ship.

The balloon which they will chose is an ordinary picnic balloon, such as is used every spring at county fairs. The ascension is made with the aeronauts in a car suspended from the balloon, and the travelers carry with them provisions to last a day or two, also cork life preservers, and a few toilet necessities.

Ascensions will be made pleasant mornings, with the intention of journeying only as far as some neighboring town and dropping there to rest, after which a return trip is to be made home. But as all signs fail in ballooning, there may be many a slip, and it is this which the fair balloonists are provided for.

In case the balloon soars too far away and exhausts too much air for a return, a skilled balloonist, who is of the party, will lower them to the earth. Then they will pack up the balloon and journey home on the cars. The rubber suit is to be used in case of a watery descent in the middle of the ocean or river. In this case the life preserver is hurriedly put on and the party get to shore as well as they can. The provisions are for a stomach stay until shelter and food are found. It is an adventurous plan, and the capricious young women may abandon it before the summer season is here.

MARRIAGEABLE AGE.

In Austria a "man" and "woman" are supposed to be able to be capable of conducting a home of their own from the age of fourteen.

In Germany the man must be at least eighteen years of age.

In France the man must be eighteen and the woman fifteen; in Belgium the same.

In Spain the intended husband must have passed his fourteenth year and the woman her twelfth.

In Hungary, for Roman Catholics, the man must be fourteen years old and the woman twelve; for Protestants, the man must be eighteen and the woman fifteen.

In Greece the man must have seen at least fourteen summers and the woman twelve.

In Portugal a boy of fourteen is considered marriageable, and a woman of twelve.

In Russia and Saxony they are a little more sensible, and a youth must refrain from entering into matrimony till he can count eighteen years, and the woman till she can count sixteen.

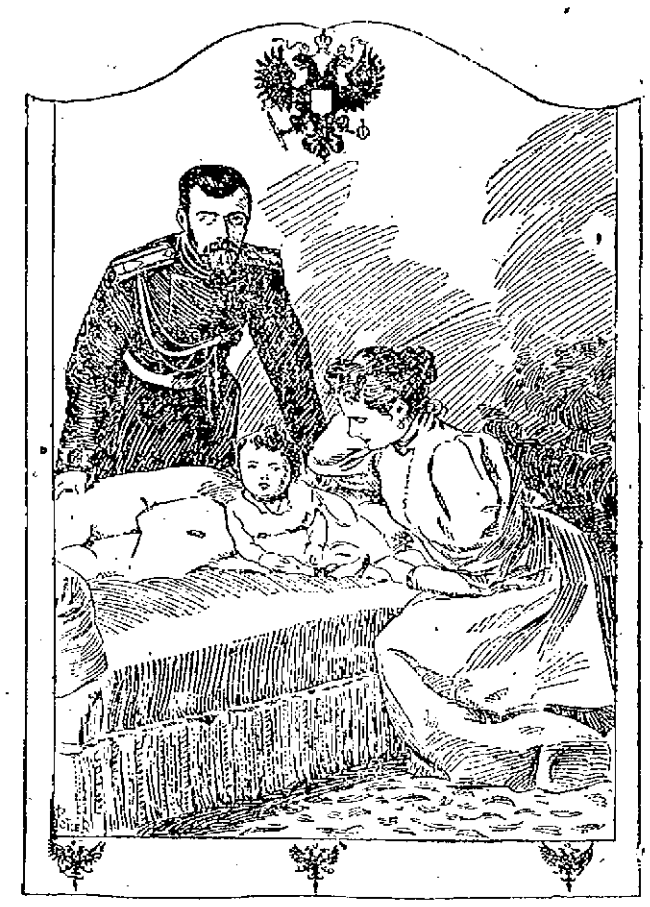

In Switzerland the men from the age of fourteen and the women from the age of twelve are allowed to marry.

In Turkey any youth and maiden who can walk properly, and can understand the necessary religious service, are allowed to be united for life.

Her work is done not through drawing upon the brains of others, for she borrows nobody's style, but by observing human nature. She is also a student of geography and of the physical forces, such as light and heat; and her knowledge of these and chemistry and astronomy, enables her to plunge into realms avoided by the common novelist.

Marie Corelli has visited Queen Victoria and the Princess of Wales, and were she so inclined she could be a daily caller at the door of royalty, for these ladies are greatly interested in her.

LADY BERESFORD'S CAT CLUB.

How to Organize Such a Club and How to Make Money Raising Kittens.

Lady Charles Beresford, one of the wittiest women in England, has just been elected president of a cat's club, organized for the purpose of promoting the welfare of the cat and for giving cat exhibitions every year in London. It is along the lines of the existing cat clubs. Lady Beresford's sister-in-law, Lady William Beresford, is an honorary member, as is also the little Duchess of Marlborough.

For the benefit of such ladies in this city as may wish to organize a cat club on similar conditions, some idea of the cat club of Lady Beresford and of other cat clubs in England may be given:

To organize such a club the members pledge themselves to maintain a certain number of cats in comfort, and to discourage the keeping of any that are not up to the required markings. The pedigreed cats are the ones that win the prizes, but it has been recently decided that, if an unpedigreed cat will show the required markings she can be admitted to cat shows. There are books that tell how to judge a cat. These describe the softness of coat, the slant of the eye, the fullness of the nostrils and the shape of the head. Both the Angora and the domestic cat are admitted.

One of the cat fanciers of England, a friend of Lady Henry Somerset, has built a model cat farm. It is an acre square, and she has 300 cats comfortably housed upon it. The same idea might be carried out in as small a place as the backyard. Each cat family has a small house provided with hay and food cups. At the rear there is a runway, where the cats can get the air. They travel contentedly up and down the grassy paths, bordered by wire, and roll in the heap of sand provided for them. This woman raises Angoras only, and reaps a very nice income from her annual sale of pussies.

The cat industry is one that is highly lucrative. A pair of Angoras of pure strain were the foundation for a very flourishing cat family in Kentucky—the home of thoroughbreds—from which the kittens are shipped all over the country. The animals are hardy, take care of themselves, and are much less costly to feed than dogs.

That clubs are a necessity where prize animals are raised, for it is in this way that the markings are kept perfect and the highest standard preserved.

EMMA BROOKFIELD.

EUGENIE HAS A NEW GOWN.

She, Who Once Averaged a New Gown a Day, Now Hesitates at One in Three Months.

The old Empress Eugenie has a new gown. Strange to call her "old," she who within a generation electrified the world with her beauty and her spirits. And, stranger still, to record the purchase of a dress, for in her day Eugenie was the most extravagant woman that ever lived, not excepting Josephine, the queen of woman spendthrifts, or Marie Antoinette, the best-dressed woman of her day.

Eugenie spent a thousand francs as easily as another woman spends a dollar, and it all went upon the wonderful filmy gowns that were her delight.

A former lady-in-waiting tells the story of a dress of fine stuff, thin as gauze, and shimmering like silk. Silver stars were woven in its pale, blue folds, and around the foot was a flounce of wonderful lace, 500 francs a yard. Eugenie was delighted when she saw it, and could not wait to put it on. That evening in the games in the Tuileries it was ruined, torn to shreds as Eugenie romped through the plays which delighted her so.

Now the Paris newspapers record with some pride that the Empress Eugenie has a new gown. The material, which is a soft black goods, like Henrietta, was purchased during her recent visit to Paris, and was left with a modiste to be made.

Eugenie always wears one kind of gown now—plain in skirt, round in waist, with the throat cut to a point and filled in with lace, quite like a grandmother's throat.

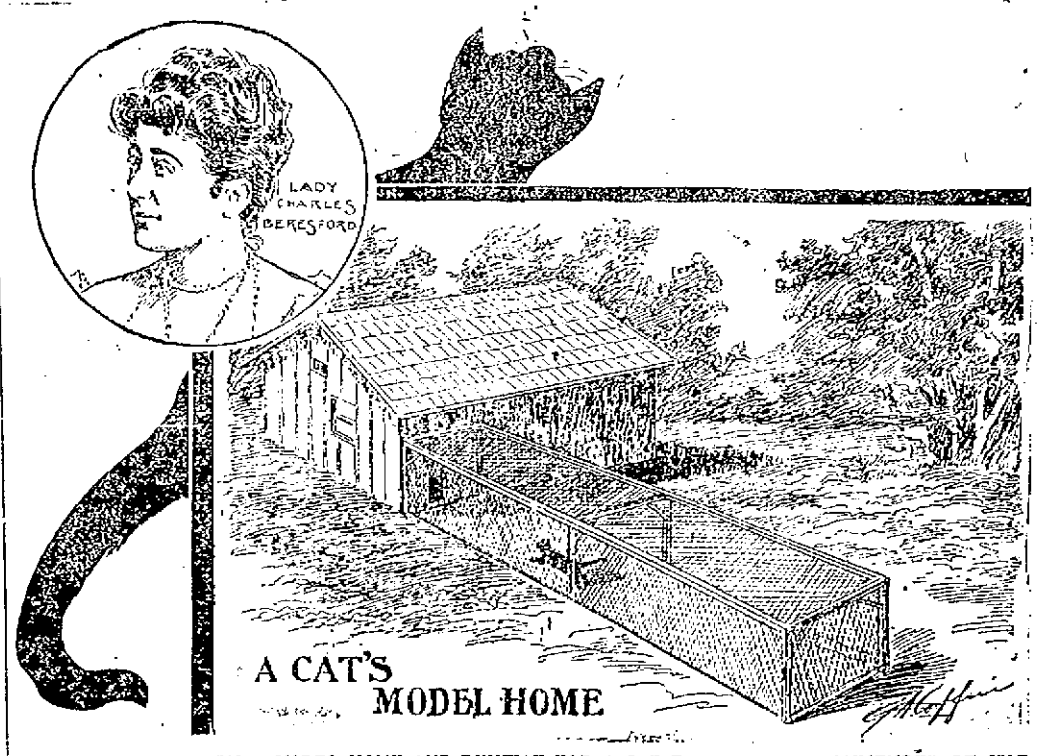

When walking Eugenie wears a long cloth cape and a small turban to match. She has never taken off mourning for the Prince Imperial, her only son, killed twenty years ago by the Zulus.

VIOLET PARASOLS.

Violets as usual are worn whenever a woman has an excuse to use them, and a pretty parasol had a bunch of them placed at the point of each spoke. The white chiffon was then so puffed and ruffled above them that it was hard to say just what the design was. But the effect was simply a white cloud. The smart coaching umbrellas are of plaid silk or the color to match a gown, and sometimes they are crimson. The color of the English hunting pink is used, and the reflection is most becoming then.

Some of the parasols have mousseline de soie stretched tightly over the frame half way, so transparent that the shady part is small indeed. However, these are novel, and when appliqued with bow knots or medallions of lace they are bewitching.

LADY CHARLES BERESFORD, ONE OF THE MOST INTERESTING WOMEN IN ENGLAND, HAS A FAD FOR PET CATS. SHE IS THE PRESIDENT OF A CATS' CLUB AND IS THE OWNER OF VERY MANY FINE ANGORAS, AS WELL AS DOMESTIC BREEDS.

THIS PICTURE SHOWS A MODEL HOME AND RUNWAY FOR A CAT FAMILY AS RECOMMENDED BY THE CAT CLUB OF LONDON.

LOCAL MYSTERIES

BELANGER AND CHAPUT MURDERS

The Principal But There are Many Others.

From time to time the Lowell residents who keep a close watch upon criminal happenings of the day, revert to such matters around home and seem endeavor to penetrate our local criminal mysteries. But what are our criminal mysteries, the average reader may ask though the principal ones will be easily remembered by every citizen of middle age.

Lowell has only two great mysteries that are yet unsolved and they are the Belanger and Chaput murders, and striking circumstances are connected with each. These murders as I find by asking questions concerning them will never be forgotten while certain men live. The man who knows more about the Belanger case than anyone else, the late Inspector Daniel Hayes is dead. But he left some of the knowledge of the case behind him and that the murderer of Belanger is still alive and at no great distance from Lowell is firmly planted in many minds and a death confession is expected to solve the mystery. Some criticize the police department for not apprehending the murderer of Belanger.

Some also criticize the police for not apprehending the murderer of Dr. Chaput who at an early hour in the evening, commited his bloody deed, rushed down to busy Merrimack street from the O'Donnell & Gilbride block, and made his escape through a crowd that was rushing to the scene of the murder. A few days later two canadians were arrested as suspicious persons and were let go as nothing could be brought against them. One of them many believe was the man who committed the deed, but there was no proof against him. In fact the Caput murder remains the greatest of all mysteries, there being still more doubt surrounding it than that of Belanger.

The undertakers have more mysteries in their business than the police and J. W. Brooks, the nestor of local undertakers said to the Sun reporter that he has had so many cases in 35 years of his connection with undertaking that he cannot recall anyone in particular.

Now and then an unknown body is found in the river or a canal. The police gives it to the undertaker and the newspapers make an effort to have it identified, the police giving but little attention to the case unless it is pronounced one of foul play by the medical examiner. If at the time there are any persons missing from home, the friends of the missing one flock to the undertaker's shop and view the remains.

After a few days repose in the basement of the undertaker's shop, sometimes dignified by the name of "morgue" if no one has claimed them the remains are placed in a cheap pine box and driven to Potter's field in the undertaker's van and laid away without prayers or tears. I cannot recall a case when an unknown body has been disinterred for the purpose of identification.

Another class of mysterious cases which happen with distressing frequency in Lowell is that of the new born babe presumably illegitimate, often found in packages and cigar boxes in the dump and in the canal. Only recently such a case came to light in the Suffolk canal and the usual matter-of-fact course was taken. The body was removed to the undertaker's and was later interred in the Potter's field, which makes no distinction in young and old and whether or not the police made any extended effort to find the party or parties who left the body on the canal bank is not known. It would seem that the police should give special attention to these cases of infanticide by making an example of some one the prevalence of this lowest state of morality might be checked.

A searching investigation should follow the discovery of such bodies. Then there have been minor mysteries such as the incident of the thieves who stole a valuable collection of silverware from the Storey mansion at Tyler park not long ago. But in this case, the police claim to be able to solve the mystery and will do so in a few months.

LABOR MATTERS

WORSHIP OF WEALTH

THIS IS THE RELIGION OF SO CALLED MODERN CIVILIZATION.

A Governor Who Voiced the Sentiments of the Dangerous Class—But He Frankly Admitted That "Our Cultivated Men Need Character."

[Special Correspondence.]

Only a few weeks ago a governor of one of our important states made a trip to another important one, and there he delivered several of those speeches with which any bright fellow can easily electrify the bulk of our fine people, with more wealth than brains, of the right kind, and also many just as short of brains as of wealth. A few brief morsels of those speeches shall be sufficient to show the mixed up, negative and fallacious ensemble of those orations in all that relates to the upheaval of humanity. The morsels are as follows:

"We need cultivated men, and our cultivated men need character." * * * "I don't believe in nations without scraps." * * * "I believe in success for the sake of success." * * * "I wish I could work with the reformers of the day, but I am not able, because of their impractibility or primitive savagery."

Nowhere in his speeches did our friend give us any specific ideas tending to ennoble the crudity, incoherence and vagueness of the sentences we have written down. And so our cultivated men have no character after centuries of education bent upon building up character! And our friend, one of those who in their own estimation must be extra well provided with character, he only believes in success for the sake of success, just the kind that all despots and monopolists, gamblers and schemers long for, work for, live and die for. If that has anything to do with character, then this world of ours has an abundance of it. We could afford to export quantities of that kind of character to other planets, and the less we had left the better off we would be, in so far as morality goes.

And what can be thought of the idea that nations should be ornamented with scraps? Scraps applied to the life of society, what can that mean but rascalities, corruption, problems unsolved which we should do our best not to solve? Because if we do then we shall have no troubles, no monopolists, no injustice, no poverty, no degradation anywhere. And that would never do for men like the one that talked that way, since he is well provided with earthly goods, being the son of a rich man.

Of course our friend cannot work with any set of reformers. To reform means to clean up, to get rid of scraps, of refuse and all that. A reformer, if he is somewhat fundamental, is down on monopoly, as it is the case with most savages. Monopoly has thus far been the concommittant of civilization, the wrong kind of course. Our governor was then logical with himself after all, with himself and his own class. The class that profits by our own scrape, our national filth, they like to play the reformer, and they see that iniquity may keep on flourishing as much as possible in respectable forms. Such people are always ready to swallow the camel—all fundamental wrongs, while making faces at the swallowing of gnats—incidental evils.

The preceding short analysis is intended to show our plain people the hollowness and vapidity of most of our good men with their loins well protected with wealth, or who are anxious to get it by any possible means compatible with wrong human laws. The less they talk or write on public matters the less such people expose themselves to unfold the barbarisms of their own civilization. Yet some of them are forced to talk, those who wish to court public favor for the sake of the eclat of public official positions and the means they offer for profitable investments, good salaries, etc. And they need to learn the science of manipulating language in such a way that they appear to say a great deal while saying nothing tangible or precise. They also must give the impression of being first class reformers, only for the purpose of making all reforms negative or ineffectual for general good.

In the midst of the falacious language of our governor we should thank him for his rude frankness in saying that our cultivated men need character. Unfortunately he did not give us any receipt with which to improve our cultivated men, and his own language of his own ideals means nothing but the worship of unholy ambitions, success even if we can only get it through murderous wars against our brethren abroad, through conquests called expansion, and meaning in the end extending our monopoly rule beyond our natural frontiers.

As for a receipt through which to develop cultivated men with character, we suggest that there can be but one—viz: A social organization resting on equal, strict justice to all, allowing all human beings to make the best of themselves under absolutely honest industrial adjustments. That would mean the complete demolition of our present industrial system controlled by thousands of modern satraps, each one much richer than the few in old Persia. We need an abundance for all. Wealth for none. And that implies a race which should not be crazy after wealth as ours is.

JOSE GROS.

Home For Infirm Union Men.

Members of the executive board of the New Jersey Federation of Trade and Labor Unions visited Lincoln, N. J., recently for the purpose of inspecting the proposed site for the location of a home for aged and infirm union workingmen, to be erected by that body. The home will be modeled after the Printers' home in Colorado, be three stories high, with all the latest sanitary arrangements and an electric light plant. It will cost not less than $20,000.

COERCED LABOR.

Starved Into Subjection by a Soulless Money Making Machine.

Nearly three months ago the operatives of the American Plate Glass company, or trust, rather, of Alexandria, Ind., demanded more remuneration for their services. The company refused and shut down its works, declaring that it would not advance wages, nor never again permit a union man to work for it. All these long weeks the works and the employees have been idle, but the company knew it was only a question of time when the operatives would have to yield. It was merely a question of which side would get hungry for bread first and surrender. The company was rich, and the employees were poor. The other day the operatives resumed work, after renouncing allegiance to the union. They could not live without bread, and their only course of procuring it was the plate glass company. Over 800 of them are now at work at their old places, but they are not the free men they were three months ago, nor are they as hungry as they were the day before they were forced to surrender their manhood. But no one will blame them for renouncing the union and resuming work. A man may face all sorts of situations and defy them, but when his wife and little ones cry for bread, and he has none to give them, what can he do but surrender?

What the American Plate Glass trust has done other trusts will do sooner or later. Meddlesome lawmakers, honest judges and organized labor are regarded by the trusts as their foes. Lawmakers may be influenced, judges may be "persuaded," but labor organizations must be crushed. There is not an industrial trust in America that feels kindly toward organized labor. The trusts are organized for the one purpose of making money for the trusts, and they would crush everything that refuses to yield to them, from raw material to skilled labor. So long as their employees maintain labor unions they know there will be organized resistance to unnecessary wage reductions, but if they can force wage earners to depend upon their individual resistance, as the plate glass trust has just done, the solution of the wage problem would be easy enough. They could make schedules to suit themselves and enforce them. But the mad rush of the trusts to destroy labor unions, influence legislation and circumvent courts will surely be their undoing. The patience of the people is about exhausted.—Kansas City Times.

Danger Ahead.

During the past year the writer has heard through various agencies a little of the sentiment that is running in commercial, political, religious, military, police and labor quarters on the great question of the time—the industrial problem—and it seems that now we are nearing a serious crisis.

During a recent sojourn in this city Father Huntington, the itinerant Episcopal priest, in a conversation with two labor men deplored the irreconcilable views he hears while traveling over the country and mingling with all sorts, from aristocratic church congregations to workingmen in their meetings. He expressed grave apprehension of widespread trouble in the near future.

Father Huntington said what most alarmed him was the talk he had heard among the well to do business men and others in various parts of the country, in which they hoped for an increase of the army and police force, for a large strengthening of the military arm of government and for the prompt and complete suppression of industrial disturbances.

Add to this what is dropped by commercial travelers and what leaks out from the officers' rooms in armories and from the nervous men in Wall street, and you have capitalism in aggressive attitude.

A few days ago there was in this city an agent and organizer of the Minutemen of America, and he did some business while here.

The labor editor has it from reliable sources that the miners in various sections have large supplies of arms and dynamite secreted and ready for use "some day."

A well known and usually conservative delegate to the Central Federated union from a large trade union in this city said he favored the calling of a convention to represent every central labor body in the United States to consider ways and means of forcibly resisting unwarranted military interference with civil relations.—New York Evening Journal.

The Uniform Working Card.

The uniform working card for all the different crafts in the building trades as issued by the Building Trades council of Chicago seems to be a happy solution of a question which is perplexing similar bodies in other cities, particularly in New York and St. Louis, and has proved itself a great benefit to the local unions affiliated. The card has the name, seal and location of the Building Trades council on one side. On the other is the name, seal, meeting night, number of the local union, blank line for name of holder and the quarter for which it is issued. The cards are not issued by the local unions, but by the council to which each affiliated union direct, according to its membership, thus preventing the cards falling into the hands of persons who are not entitled to their use and benefit. Should a faction of any union secede or withdraw from the Building Trades council and form an independent organization such union or faction would not be recognized nor receive the quarterly working card of the Chicago council, and any man working in the building trades without the card is considered a nonunion man, with the result that the other men on the building will not work with him, and a strike will follow unless the contractor discharges the man.—Chicago Times-Herald.

FINAL TRIBUTE

To Late Mrs. Almira N. Hobbs

REV. S. T. FORD OFFICIATING CLERGYMAN.

Quartette Singing and Many Beautiful Floral Tributes.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Mrs. Almira N. Hobbs were held yesterday afternoon at 281 High street. There was a large attendance of immediate friends and relatives, many being present from out-of-town. Services were impressively conducted by Rev. Smith T. Ford, pastor of the First Baptist church and there was singing of selected hymns by a quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. George Burns, Mrs. J. W. Sherburne, and Mr. W. Wirt. There was a profusion of costly and beautiful floral tributes. The remains were this forenoon forwarded by Undertaker Young to South Berwick, Me., for interment.

The deceased was the widow of the late Frank G. Hobbs, for a long time in charge of the local freight department of the western division of the Boston & Maine railroad and was the mother of the late Miss Grace Hobbs, who died only a few weeks ago. She leaves many friends to mourn her death. Two daughters survive, Misses Marion A., and Fannie G. Hobbs; also one brother, Postmaster A. G. Thompson, and a sister, Mrs. W. D. Nelson of Maine.

Mrs. Hobbs was a woman of many rare Christian attainments. Her faith firm, her piety genuine, she formed ties of affection that even death cannot sever. She had a keen insight of true worth and beauty, her tastes and ideals were all refined, her judgment sound, and a firm will in her conviction of right. In her church, too, she will be sadly missed, but her church associates will feel thoroughly conscious that although a great life has been taken and an impressive service ended, a beautiful character has attained its coronation.

Mrs. Hobbs' interest in all good work was constant and her charity was thoughtful, systematic and spontaneous. Fidelity was a great watchword of her life. In her home she will be particularly missed and the devotion to the bereaved daughters, now called upon to mourn a loving mother, will be an incentive and an inspiration for them to follow her in the path of righteousness.

HORACE H. KNAPP

Elected Agent of the Board of Health

FRED A. BATES WAS TRANSFERRED

To His Former Position of Inspector.

Horace H. Knapp was elected agent of the board of health at a meeting held Saturday afternoon.

At the same meeting, Fred A. Bates was transferred from the position of agent to that formerly held by him—inspector of contagious diseases—the transfer to take place upon the approval of Mayor Crowley.

After approving monthly bills, Secretary Mulligan announced that he had received from the civil service commission notice that the only persons now on the list eligible for agent of the department are John F. Murphy and Horace H. Knapp.

Mr. Fifield then moved that Mr. Bates be transferred to the office of inspector of contagious diseases after the transfer has been approved by the mayor, according to the acts of 1894, Chapter 519. Dr. Packer opposed the motion, but it passed by a vote of 2 to 1.

Mr. Fifield then moved that Horace H. Knapp be appointed agent. Chairman Packer opposed on the ground that the appropriation would not stand it and he also said Mr. Knapp had been severely criticised and had left the department "under a cloud."

Mr. Fifield denied that Mr. Knapp had gone out "under a cloud" and said that when judged by an impartial jury—the civil service commission, who heard both sides of the case—no fault was found with his conduct while in office and his name was promptly restored to the civil service list. Had there been any cause for complaint, the commission would not have restored his name.

The motion was then carried, Dr. Packer voting in the negative.

Mr. Bates said he was not prepared to say that he would ask for a hearing on his removal from the office of agent but said he would know next Tuesday. He wanted to know something about the salary in his new position if he accepted it, but Chairman Packer ruled the inquiry was not in order.

It was announced that the copy of the garbage contract was held in Toledo on account of insufficient postage and it would be here this week.

Bostons Not Troubled in Defeating Cincinnati

COLLINS PUT UP A FINE GAME.

Lewis Pitched a Good Game.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, June 5.—The Bostons made the Cincinnatis look like a lot of selling platers Saturday, winning hands down. The eminent Emerson Hawley was in the box, and held the champions down in good style in the early part of the game, but in the fifth his support gave way and in the next inning he was hit hard.

Ted Lewis was in the box for the Bostons and pitched a strong and steady game. The only run off his pitching was due to the only base on balls in the game, a steal and Beckley's double in the first. In five innings after that the Cincinnatis went out in order. Another run was made in the last on errors.

Selbach was back in the game, playing centre field and Steinfeldt relieved McPhee at second. Steinfeldt is easily the liveliest article in the Cincinnati infield. He did splendid work yesterday. "St. Jacob" Beckley played first in the finest possible style and was the only one of the Cincis who was able to wield his bat with effect.

The Bostons played their regular pennant game. Collins was a host at third, and put up a game well calculated to cause the spectators to stare in wonder. Hard hits or slow, bunts, wide or high, right or left—nothing escaped his wonderful maw and it was all done with the ease of a French professor of dancing.

The score by innings:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Boston	0	1	0	0	2	4	1	0	—8

Earned runs—Boston 6. Two-base hits—Duffy, Beckley. Home runs, Stafford, Clarke. Sacrifice hits.—Lowe Stafford, Selbach, Long. Stolen bases—Smith, Steinfeldt. First base on balls—Smith. First base on errors—Boston, 3, Cincinnati 4. Left on bases, Boston 4, Cincinnati 6. Struck out,—Selbach, Peitz. Double play—Corcoran and Beckley. Passed ball, Clarke. Time, 1h. 53m. Umpires—Messrs. Burns and Smith. Attendance—5600.

The other games resulted as follows:

Brooklyn 13; Cleveland 4.
Louisville, 5, New York 2.
Pittsburg 15; Philadelphia 3.
Washington 11; St. Louis, 2.
Chicago 14; Baltimore 5.

SATURDAY EVENING NONE OF THOSE SET FREE HAD SHOWN UP IN LOWELL.

The fly of the Lowell Homing club Saturday from Paterson, N. J., to Lowell was not a success, owing to the lateness of the hour, 11.45 a. m., at which the birds were set free.

The number of birds entered was: Dyer 10, Youngjohns 9, Fletcher 2, Stanley 2, Frulich 1.

The weather was fair at the time of the liberation. None of the birds reported at 8 p. m. The timing will be resumed at daylight, Sunday.

The next fly will be from Philadelphia next Saturday and a request will be made to let the birds loose at 6 a. m.

MACK IN TROUBLE.

James J. Mack, who was found asleep in a doorway on Newbury street, Lawrence had on a United States regular army uniform. He told Judge Stone that he had only money enough to take him back to Boston, where he was obliged to report for duty this afternoon and his honor allowed the case to be continued for sentence.

Mack recently appeared in the Lowell police court for drunkenness and making a similar plea was allowed to depart by Judge Hadley. He is a slick chap who at one time resided in Lowell.

MISS McLAUGHLIN HOME.

Miss Louise McLaughlin, Lowell's well known soprano has returned home after a two months' engagement with the Alice Neilson opera company. Miss McLaughlin joined this large company of 100 people in Providence, R. In the company were 100 people who presented the "Fortune Teller." Next season the Neilson company will present the "Singing Girl" and will cross the Atlantic, opening in London. Miss McLaughlin was the guest of honor at a trolley party given in her honor by Lowell friends last evening.

BASE BALL NEWS.

NOTES OF LOCAL PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

Neither of the local rival semi-pros. knew until the eleventh hour which team Billy Connors was going to play with.

The entrance of Flo Murray of the Shamrocks into a higher class is noted with pleasure by the base ball editor who predicts that manager Callahan of the Mathews with whom he has signed will find him "worthy of his steel," and an inspiration to his fellow-players.

On next Friday the greatest game of the season between two teams composed of school boys will take place at the Atherton grounds, where the Belvideres and Lowell High schools will contest for honors. Manager Murphy of the Highs is already out hustling for the success of the event and it is assumed Joe McCaffrey and the other Belvideres are also.

Both teams will be considerably strengthened as they have more than an ordinary wish to win. Cronin will most likely pitch for the Highs and he will be received by Bruce.

The Shamrocks have suffered more than any other amateur team this season by departure of players to bigger teams. Six of the Shamrocks have been taken away from Manager Kavanaugh's paternal fold and if the remaining ones continue to play as they are now doing, nothing will be left of the original team.

An attempt is being made by Mike Keegan, et. als to reorganize the old Wannalanelts, which started out last year on a victorious career, which was seriously interrupted by only the Shamrocks. The Keeganites which were always a part of the Reds do not doubt that they can put that team in an even better condition than it was last year.

Ganley of this city is as persistent in his campaign against pitchers' curves as the Globe man who has never corrected his mistake in writing the Lowell boy's name "Gauley." Ganley has not made an error for almost a week, while his total number of hits in the same time run into the 20s.

Jimmy Slines who will go to third base for the South Ends in the future is experienced in that position as behind the bat and he is good in both places.

The Fairmonts and Shamrocks will play at Atherton grounds for a purse of $25 on Saturday next. Manager Queenan is trying to get Kavanaugh to sign an agreement to play for that amount.

At the New England league meeting Connie Murphy of the Brockton team said that he had money enough on hand to pay all his players and leave something for himself. There was nothing said about the finances of the Cambridge-Lowell aggregation. There was talk of trying the Lawrences at Haverhill, but nothing certain could be promised and it was decided not to take any more chances.

THE STRIKERS WON

Rockport Granite Co. Grants Their Demands.

Nine Hours Will Constitute a Day's Labor—The Granite Cutters Went on Strike Fourteen Weeks Ago.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., June 5.—The Rockport Granite company today issued a notice to the effect that on and after June 19, the company would recognize the demand of their striking employes, that nine hours should constitute a day's work and that any labor in excess of this time which was done at the request of the company would be paid for at the rate of one and one-half.

The announcement was sent from the Boston office of the company and appeared in the form of an advertisement in the local paper. It bore the signature of Charles S. Rogers, treasurer of the Rockport Granite company. The original demands of the strikers comprised six articles of which the nine-hour clause was the principal one. A meeting of the stone cutters' union will probably be called at once to consider the advisability of accepting the terms offered by the company, but up to two o'clock this afternoon none of the strike leaders would offer any opinion as to the manner in which the cutters would receive the proposition. The granite workers at the several quarries of the Rockport Granite company struck 14 weeks ago. During that time, several serious disturbances have taken place on both sides of the cape, owing to the attempts of the manufacturers to work the quarries by Italian labor. Several of the strikers were found guilty in the local court on the charge of rioting but they have not been sentenced.

BANKS' DOORS SHUT

Warrant Out for Treasurer Hough's Arrest.

A Shortage of $3500 in His Accounts Discovered—People of Dover Greatly Excited Over the Closing of the Cocheco Savings Bank.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

DOVER, N. H., June 5.—The Cocheco Savings bank of this city was enjoined today from paying out or receiving money and a warrant was issued for the arrest of Harry Hough, the treasurer, who is charged with a shortage of $3500. The Cocheco National bank also closed its doors today and National Bank Examiner Carroll is expected to take charge of the national bank at once. Hough, besides being treasurer of the savings institution, was paying teller of the national bank.

The closing of these banks created considerable excitement in the city, but the depositors recognized the fact that they could do nothing until the books were examined and action is taken by the courts. It was learned today when notices were posted on the bank doors that State Bank Commissioners Hatch, Baker and Cummings were in the city last Saturday and made an examination of the books of the savings bank. They learned that the accounts were not straight and after holding a brief conference Commissioner Cummings applied for a warrant for the arrest of Treasurer Hough. A shortage of $3500 was found in Hough's accounts. It is not known whether or not a greater shortage will be unearthed.

The treasurer could not be found today and it was learned after investigation that he left Dover yesterday morning. His friends believe that he will return. The suspension of the two banks leaves this city with no financial institution except the Strafford National and Strafford Savings banks. The Dover National bank and Dover Savings bank having collapsed several years ago following the discovery of a heavy shortage in the accounts of Cashier Isaac Abbott, who afterward committed suicide.

A FARMER SHOT

Ralph Flynn's Gun Was Accidentally Discharged.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., June 5.—Royal Kellar, a well-to-do farmer, at Brier Hill was accidentally shot by Ralph Flynn, his hired man yesterday. A flock of crows settled down in one of Kellar's fields and he and Flynn took shot guns and attempted to drop on them. Kellar was about 10 feet in advance of Flynn when the latter's gun in being dragged along the ground struck a stone and went off. The charge of shot entered Kellar's leg above the knee and he died four hours later from loss of blood. Flynn has given himself up to the authorities.

GREEN BRAKEMAN

Caused a Wreck on Consolidated Road.

HE GAVE NO SIGNAL OF DANGER.

Two of the Cars Were Wrecked.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 5.—Through the mistake of a green brakeman there was a smash-up on the Consolidated road near the Charles street bridge just before 4 o'clock this morning.

A train of eighteen freight cars was backed up on a side track on which a locomotive and tender were waiting for a chance to cross over to the round house.

The green brakeman at the rear of the freight train gave no signal of danger and the cars crashed into the locomotive's tender. One car mounted the tender and crushed the cab but fortunately the engineer Frank Williams and Fireman Frank Morton, were not hurt and crawled out uninjured from under the pile of wreckage.

Two cars weer wrecked and two others thrown from the rails, blocking traffic for some time.

The Whites and Howards also put guards to pick out the Bakers if they attempt to enter town. The Bakers are camped down on Bear Creek, one hundred strong. There are fully one hundred of the Whites and Howards.

VIOLENT SCENES

In the French Chamber of Deputies.

"LOUBET IS NOT HONEST."

Shouted One of the Conservative Leaders.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PARIS, June 5.—There were violent scenes in the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon owing to Royalist denunciations of President Loubet and the soldiers on duty had to expel the chief anti-Loubet speaker, Mr. Cotes du Nord. M. Rious de Largentaye, conservative, representing the seventh division of Dinan, Cotes du Nord, shouted: "Loubet is not honest. He is a Panamist." These statements called forth violent protests and shouts of "Order," but M. de Largentaye persisted in declaring honest men were arrested yesterday. This was followed by shouts of "Down with Loubet!" and a scene of wild excitement ensued. The Leftists shouted at the top of their voices, "Censure with temporary exclusion."

President Deschanel ordered M. de Largentaye to withdraw, but the latter refused and the session was suspended the deputies being required to withdraw in order that M. de Largentaye might be expelled.

JOHN FIELDS

A FORMER LOWELL RESIDENT DIED IN WYOMING.

John Fields, formerly of this city, and well known by the older residents, died recently in Cheyenne, Wyoming. He was a brother of the late Mrs. Carolin and an uncle of Mrs. Terrence Leonard of Concord street.

The local paper of Cheyenne contained the following account of his death.

After many weeks of intense suffering, the angel of death brought relief to Mr. John Fields at 8.30 o'clock this morning. He suffered for a long time from pulmonary troubles which developed into consumption. Deceased leaves a wife and four young daughters to mourn his loss. The youngest daughter is 16 years of age.

John Fields was born in Ireland 55 years ago and came to America when he was 7 years of age. Twenty-three years ago he came to Wyoming and resided for a long time at Fort Laramie, where he was highly respected by all who knew him. A few years ago he located in Cheyenne and engaged in the drug business with Dr. Crook and a year ago was appointed steward of the county hospital. He was a man of considerable knowledge and good common sense and was honest and upright in his dealings.

There was a large concourse of friends in attendance and the floral offerings covering the casket were beautiful. The pall bearers were J. L. Murray, John Roberts, Chris. O'Brien, Tom Cahill, Wm. COUNT ESTERHAZY

Makes Accusation Against Paty du Clam

PROCEEDINGS ORDERED AGAINST ESTERHAZY

For Using Official Documents.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PARIS, June 5.—The Matin today publishes an interview with Major Count Esterhazy, in which the latter accuses Lieut Col. Du Paty de Clam of having, for safety, placed in his mother-in-law's house at Brussels, extraordinary documents which protect them both, notably a long report from Gen. Gozo, discussing the plan to be followed in order to screen Esterhazy.

The Matin's correspondent at Brussels confirms the statement that Du Paty de Clam left documents in the possession of d'Ursel family. Du Paty de Clams wife is a daughter of the Duchesse d'Ursel, grand-mistress of the Queen's Household and Queen's god-daughter.

The Minister of War, M. Krantz, has ordered proceedings to be taken against Esterhazy for having taken away documents connected with the so-called "Secret Dossier," and the minister has also issued instructions that proceedings be taken against General Pellieux for the manner in which he conducted the Esterhazy case.

A CHILD MISSING

Annie Escholz Was Probally Kidnapped

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., June 5.—Annie Escholdz, the six-year-old Hartford girl who disappeared suddenly from Mountain Grove yesterday afternoon, is still missing. The woods and ponds in the neighborhood have been thoroughly searched and it does not seem possible that the child is dead or alive in the vicinity of the pleasure resort where her father took her yesterday. The latest theory which finds much credit is that a man carried the little one off on a bicycle.

The attorneys for the defendant in the celebrated breach of promise case of Rose Crane vs. P. J. Riley filed their bill of exceptions on Saturday.

MANY FATALITIES

One Day's Deaths and Accidents in Chicago

A LITTLE BOY WAS DROWNED

And a Girl Was Fatally Injured.

A STRANGE CHAIN OF DISASTER

Began When a G. A. R. Vet Was Buried.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

CHICAGO, June 5.—A special from Arthur, Ill., says: One boy drowned, a little girl fatally injured beneath the hoofs of horses, two women and a man brought to death's door by the shocks of the accident, all incidents accompanying the funeral of a man who had met with a sudden death, made Sunday a remarkable day in this city.

The strange chain of disaster began when the local Grand Army post buried T. P. Wells, who was asphyxiated by gas at a hotel in Chicago last Wednesday night. While the ceremony was in progress at the cemetery, news reached Gus Baker that his 13-year-old son had just been drowned while in swimming. The shock prostrated Mr. Baker and he had to be taken home in a carriage. When the news was broken to his wife, she became frantic and both became unconscious. Both are in a precarious condition. While the funeral was returning from the cemetery, one of the carriages ran over Mrs. William Sullivan's two-year-old daughter, mangling her in a horrible manner. Miss Ola Clark, a witness to the latter accident, fainted and was carried to the nearest house, where she lay for hours before recovering sufficiently to be removed to her home.

Capt. McCluskey Bound to Get the Wilsons.

And Accuses Persons Now Under Arrest.

A WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Captain McClusky of the detective department, said this morning that Mr. Clark, the father of the kidnapped baby, Detective Herlihy, Mrs. Cosgriff and himself would go before the grand jury today and give testimony relative to the abduction and restoration of Marion Clark. Captain McCluskey said he was not going to obey the subpoena served on him last week by the Rockland county authorities to appear before the magistrate at New City on the examination of Mr. James Wilson and Mrs. Jennie Wilson, and he thought that Mr. Clark, Detective Herlihy and Mrs. Cosgriff would also refuse to go to New City. Captain McClusky thinks that not only the Wilson women but Belle Anderson, the nurse girl, will be indicted. Soon as an indictment is found against the latter, requisition papers will be applied for. Captain McClusky says he feels sure that he will have possession of the Wilsons in one way or another very shortly. He also says he is positive that three persons under arrest were the only ones concerned in the kidnapping.

Assistant District Attorney McIntyre will apply to Justice Fursman in the criminal term of the supreme court for a writ of habeas corpus for the Wilsons and will ask that the writ be made returnable forthwith. The ground for the application will be that an indictment is now pending in this county against the Wilsons and that there is no indictment pending against the prisoners in Rockland.

The indictment is now being prepared. It will charge abduction, kidnapping and conspiracy.

This is the largest number in any single day since no-license went into effect in the up-river city. The last Lowell man taken into custody was found in the rear passageway of the Park hotel at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, having fallen from a third story window while under the influence liquor. His only injury consisted of a sprained ankle. He gave his name as Peter McLean.

BIG FOREST FIRE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BUZZARDS' Bay, Mass., June 5.—A big forest fire which started in the Plymouth woods yesterday near Bournedale is moving rapidly toward Plymouth. A large force of men is fighting the flames but with the heavy wind, which prevailed at noon, were having little success. The woods and grass are exceedingly dry and when the fire gets a hold it is almost impossible to extinguish it. The immense cranberry bogs in this vicinity were in great danger at one time.

A Mob in France Crying "Vive L' Armee."

PRESIDENT LOUBET of France.

Her Husband and His Brother Arrested—President Loubet Struck Over the Head—Stormy Times on the French Race Course.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PARIS, June 5—President Loubet accompanied by the premier, M. Dupuy, and the chief of the military household Gen. M. C. Bailloud, drove to the Auteil races yesterday afternoon, closely followed by Madame Loubet in a second landau. As they drove along the avenue des Champs Elysees, the crowd bowed respectfully, but on arriving at Auteil, they were met by a violent demonstration evidently organized and directed against the president. There was a storm of hoots, yells, and cries of "Panama", "A bas Loubet," and "Vive l'Armee." A few shouts of "Vive Loubet" were drowned in the clamor. A strong force of police kept order and arrested many of the disturbers, including a man who tried to force his way to the president's carriage. During the second race, the clamor increased to violence and was plainly directed by a committee of the League of Patriots, collected with their supporters both before and behind the presidential stand around which a formidable army proceeded.

During the grand steeplechase many blows were struck and several policemen were injured in their endeavors to prevent an invasion of the presidential stand. At the crisis of the excitement while shouts of "Vive l'Armee" and "Vive Deroulede" were heard on all sides, Count Christian rushed toward the president brandishing a stick and directed a blow against him, striking him over the head.

The crowd rushed upon Christian, who only escaped rough handling by being taken under police protection.

President Loubet remained all the time unmoved, talking to the premiers, while the officers of his military household were protecting him from violence.

It seems that it was intended to give the Marchand mission a big ovation. The government got wind of the affair and kept Marchand out of the way, although Captain Baratiere and the other members of the expedition were there. The Deroulledists balked of their opportunities, evidently vented their spite upon the president.

The race course committee apologized to Mr. Loubet who replied that he could not think of holding them responsible. He remarked to an important personage that he did not intend being intimidated into resignation.

During the demonstration, M. Rochefort, editor of "Intransigeant" was seen and an attempt was made to induce him to lead the manifestation but he discreetly slipped away.

ANNA GOULD LEADS.

Comtesse Boni de Castellane, who was Miss Anna Gould of New York, placed herself at the head of the Jeunesse Royalists and marched up and down the lawn, shouting "Vive l'Armee." Comte Boni de Castellane and his brother Jean were arrested but were soon liberated.

Count de Dion, when arrested, resisted and fought with his cane, smashing it on a policeman's head and causing the jewelled top to fly off, striking a journalist. He was detained in custody. Altogether about 150 arrests were made, one being that of Mr. Dansette, deputy mayor of Arrondissees.

SUNDAY FIRES.

The mammoth bill board on the Hamilton wall caught fire in some unknown manner yesterday afternoon and was blazing briskly when a detachment from the Warren street fire station, which was called, extinguished it.

Chemical B and the protective were called out by telephone at 9.30 o'clock to extinguish a burning pile of rags in the cellar of a tenement at 57 Agawam street.

A BOSTON WOMAN

The Suicide Who Startled New York

ELIZABETH A. HOLT OF SOMERVILLE.

She Had Lost Her Mental Balance.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, June 5—The mysterious woman who killed herself with opium at the Metropolitan hotel has been identified as Miss Elizabeth A. Holt of Boston. She registered as S. A. Brown, Boston, and soon afterward killed herself, leaving no clew to her identity. It is believed that she was deranged mentally at the time.

A man who said he was G. H. Tucker of Boston called at the morgue at 11 o'clock yesterday and when he saw the body he became greatly agitated. He hurried away without making a statement.

Tucker went that night to the house of coroner's physician, Donlan and made an appointment to meet him at the morgue at noon today. He kept his appointment and with him came Charles E. Holt of Boston, a brother of the dead woman. Mr. Holt said his sister was 33 years old and unmarried. She had been ill for two years and gradually lost her strength, suffering from melancholia. Then she lost her mental balance but her relatives did not think her in danger and did not have her watched.

DR. CHAS. E. DONLAN

RETURNS ON A LEAVE OF ABSENCE FROM HAVANA.

Dr. Charles E. Donlan of High street, who has been serving with the 7th army corps in Cuba has returned home on a twenty days' leave of absence and at the end of that time is to be prepared to go to the Philippines or Fort Hamilton.

A number of surgeons are to be sent out to the Philippines and although the selection has not yet been completed it is pretty well understood who will be named for that duty. At Fort Hamilton, in New York harbor, the station to which most of the sick from Cuba and Porto Rico are brought, will also require the services of a large number of surgeons during the summer at least and Dr. Donlan, while he would prefer Fort Hamilton, is not at all certain that he will be selected for that post. He is undecided about going to the Philippines, yet if ordered there he may go, although his mother and other relatives are very much opposed to his going there, as they believe the war in the Philippines will last for years and there is no telling how it will terminate.

Dr. Donlan seems to have a great liking for army life and says that his experience during the time he has served in Cuba has been very valuable to him. Most of his time was spent with the 7th army corps under General Lee at Havana, although the regiment made a tour across the island to the Carribean sea to meet General Gomez. This tour gave him an opportunity of seeing the country and he says it is a horrid spectacle of desolation, the homes of the people having been torn down or burned either by the Cubans or the Spaniards. Sometimes the Cubans when forced to abandon their homes burned them down to prevent their occupation by the Spaniards. Sometimes the Spaniards destroyed them in the ordinary course of warfare which has been carried on for so many years.

At the present time the suffering of the reconcentrados is practically over as the government has stopped distributing rations to them and they are expected to be able to shift for themselves. Conditions in Cuba, he says, are rapidly improving and the troops in Havana during the past six months enjoyed the best of health, better, in fact than did the troops in the United States at the same time. Dr. Donlan has enjoyed good health in Havana and looks well in his regimental uniform.

Confidence

Women confide their troubles to Mrs. Pinkham and rely upon her advice.

Mrs. Pinkham's counsel is safe counsel. Woman's life is a constant crisis. From girlhood to womanhood, then to motherhood and so on to the perils of the "change of life." The history of every step is on Mrs. Pinkham's records thousands of times and her vast experience and confidential advice is at the free disposal of every woman who writes to her for aid. Her address is Lynn, Mass.

"Your Medicine is a Godsend" Writes Mrs. Phillips.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I want to thank you for what you have done for me. When I wrote to you last June, I was almost a total wreck from female weakness. I was troubled with irregular and painful menstruation, leucorrhœa, bearing-down pains, soreness, and swelling of abdomen; pain at right and left of womb; headache, backache, nervousness, and could neither eat nor sleep well.

"Since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Liver Pills, and using your Sanative Wash, I do not feel like the same person. I am so glad that I wrote to you, for you have helped me very much. My nerves are stronger and more steady than ever before in my life, and my backache and all those terrible pains are gone. Before taking your medicine I weighed less than one hundred and thirty pounds. I now weigh one hundred and fifty-five pounds. My friends say I look better than they ever saw me, and I know that I feel better than I have for a good many years. I think your medicine is a godsend to poor, weak women."—Mrs. Carrie Phillips, Anna, Illinois.

Mrs. Barnard Cured by Mrs. Pinkham.

"DEAR FRIEND—I feel it my duty to express my gratitude and thanks to you for what your medicine has done for me. I was very miserable and losing flesh very fast, had bladder trouble, fluttering pains about the heart and would get so dizzy and suffered with painful menstruation. I was reading in a paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I wrote to you, and after taking two bottles I felt like a new person. Your Vegetable Compound has entirely cured me and I cannot praise it enough."—Mrs. J. O. Barnard, Milltown, Washington Co., Me.

The women of America have in Mrs. Pinkham a confidential friend whose advice is always at their disposal, free of charge. The knowledge that women only assist Mrs. Pinkham in her correspondence with women about health, makes it possible for the full details to be given, without hesitation.

Mrs. Cobb Cured of a Great Affliction.

"I think it is my duty to write you what your wonderful medicine has done for me. I suffered with itching of the external parts for six years, and was in misery day and night. I lost flesh and became weak. I tried everything I could think of. My husband wanted me to see a doctor, but I could not consent to that. He then wanted me try your medicine, and this I agreed to do. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, also used the Sanative Wash, and am to-day a changed woman. I am free from my misery, and can go to bed and sleep like a baby. I can work with comfort, and it does not tire me as it did to walk. Your remedies have done wonders for me, and cannot be praised enough. I would not be without them. They cured me of a great affliction, and why should they not cure others? I would advise every suffering woman to give them a trial."—Mrs. J. S. E. Cobb, Bridgeton Center, Me.

CYCLING NEWS

Emery Soule of this city, the well known bicycle rider, started at the beginning of the season to ride a century every Sunday. Up to date he has ridden one hundred miles every Sunday, and two of them were in the rain.

The police need to have one more "bicycle cop" on the force. High street is badly in need of a mounted policeman, for it is decidedly dangerous for anyone getting off a car or crossing the street after darkness sets in. For instance a crowd of riders will start down at the end of High street and just before they get to Sherman street they will start to "sprint" and if anyone happens to get in their way they are knocked down and in many cases severely injured.

To be sure there are a couple of police on High street now, but they do not seem to stop the fast riding very much for when the "cop" shouts to them to stop they only sneer at him. If there was a mounted patrolman on the street he could give chase to the offenders until he caught one or more of them, and after a fine was imposed on these dangerous scorchers, fast riding would be a thing of the past. Already a number of the residents of High street have complained to the night policemen, but they do not seem to prohibit the uncalled for acts of men whose fast riding on wheels can only can be attributed to wheels in their head. Nuff ced.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

COL. RIPLEY MENTIONED AS REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR REPRESENATIVE.

It is now generally reported that Col. Royal S. Ripley will be a candidate for representative. It is said that he has been assured by his friends in the Lowel portion of the district that should he desire to enter the contest they will guarantee him support enough for nomination and election. The nomination of Col. Ripley would materially upset the calculations of Chelmsford Centre republicans.

Another shooting match will soon be held by the North Chelmsford Shooting club at its ground in this village.

Arthur Mallalieu has accepted a position as assistant bookeeper and assistant paymaster for the firm of H. E. Fletcher, the well known quarry man.

Mr. Fletcher has about 150 men employed at the present time on his ledge in West Chelmsford and business is rushing with him.

It is not thought that North Chelmsford will have any Fourth of July celebration this year, as nothing relating to the celebration has been done as yet. Last year the village had a grand celebration.

CITY HALL NOTES

Agent-Elect Knapp Puts in Appearance.

THE LEGALITY OF HIS ELECTION.

Special Meeting of Aldermen Tomorrow.

The committee on accounts will meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The electric wire committee will meet at 7.30 this evening.

The mayor has called a special meeting of the aldermen for tomorrow evening for the purpose of clearing up unfinished business. The Fourth of July appropriation and the $33,000 street appropriation are among the unfinished matters to be considered.

A regular meeting of the common council will be held tomorrow evening.

Horace Knapp who was voted for as agent of the board of health, was at City Hall this morning and held a conference with Agent Bates. Some people claimed that Mr. Knapp is not yet elected and that the form of election must be gone through again.

This is not so, however. The law specifically states that the board of health may elect an "agent or agents." When the motion to elect Knapp was made by Mr. Filield it was that he "be chosen agent" and not that he be "chosen agent to succeed Mr. Bates." During Saturday's meeting Mr. Mulligan questioned whether Mr. Knapp could be elected till there was a vacancy and the law bearing on the matter was cited.

Among the marriage intentions recorded at city hall today were the following: Robert Dalziel 38 to Helen A. Plummer 24 both of Manchester, N. H.

FIREMAN DEAD

JAS. P. SMITH OF THE HIGH STREET ENGINE PASSED AWAY.

James P. Smith, aged 36 years, died last evening at his home, 51 Chestnut street, after an illness of about three years' duration. The indirect cause of death was an accident which occurred to the deceased in 1896. Mr. Smith was then in the employ of of T. J. McDonald, the Dutton street grain dealer, and while at work delivering goods from a delivery wagon a bale of hay fell on him and severely wrenched his back. Although the doctors assured his family that the injury would not prove fatal, spinal disease ensued ,and after great suffering the deceased passed away early last evening.

Mr. Smith was a clerk for Mr. McDonald for three years preceeding the accident was also a call fireman. He was connected with Engine 4 on High street since September 1, 1896.

He had lived in Lowell practically all his life and his friends who are legion will be pained to learn of his death.

During his long confinement at home, Mr. Smith was never forgotten by his acquaintances whose calls were very frequent.

He leaves, besides a widow, his mother and two sisters, and a large circle of sorrowing friends to mourn his loss. The funeral will take place at 10.30 o'clock tomorrow morning from the Immaculate Conception church.

POLICE COURT

SIXTEEN DRUNKS BEFORE JUDGE FISHER THIS FORENOON.

There were sixteen drunks before the court this forenoon and Judge Fisher in nearly all of the cases imposed fines. Margaret Cavanaugh and Ellen Hannan were each fined $6.

The following each received fines of $5: Joseph A. Paris, Emile Gray, Thomas Hoye, John J. Welsh, Joseph Deslile, James Daly, Moise Lavignac, Michael Higgins.

Albert Berrand was adjudged guilty of drunkenness and also of assault upon Officer Markham and was continued until tomorrow forenoon for trial.

Dennis Wood pleaded not guilty to a charge of drunkenness and also with threatening his wife Annie Wood. The latter testified that on Saturday last the defendant chased her out of the house where they resided with a knife in his hand and threatened to kill her.

Officer Crowley testified to the inebriated condition of the defendant on Saturday.

The defence was a denial of the government witnesses' testimony and he kept up continued talking in court and begged of Judge Fisher to let him go free and he would at once go to Canada. Judge Fisher could not see it in that light and fined Wood $6 for drunkenness, or for non-payment of the same to be committed to jail. For threatening Wood was ordered in $100 to keep the peace for a period of six months.

VETERAN FIREMEN

Gen. Butlers and Burkes May Contest.

The tub of the General Butler Vets arrived in Lowell Saturday afternoon from Natick, having been hauled by horses from that place to South Framingham where it was loaded on a flat car, but not shipped until Saturday.

The Burkes are thinking of making an effort to secure the Vixen, the tub of the Lowell Vets, for the summer with a view of participating in musters. They have been getting in a little practice and may challenge the Butlers to a trial of speed. There are no tournaments announced for June 17. Last summer the Butlers went to Lynn this date. There is to be a muster at Central Falls, R. I., July 4, but the Lowell organization will probably not attend.

SPLENDID CHARITY.

"W'at youse lookin' for mister?"
"I dropped a nickle right here."
"Well, here's a dime; now go along an' don't cry."

Real Unionism.

Real unionism is not an attempt to squander your employer's money as rapidly as possible, to see how little you can give him in exchange for pay, to take the money weekly and feel no further interest in whether it has brought him good or ill. Nor does it consist of a constant suspicion and a close watching of every loophole in the effort to discover something wrong about which to find fault. Real unionism is something higher and better than that. It is, and should be, protection for the employers against crookedness and incapacity, an earnest desire to give a generous return for the wage allotted, a sympathetic interest in the employer's doings, and an honest, earnest endeavor to do work cheerfully, promptly and well. Time serving is not unionism, and time servers do more to detract from the benefit of organized labor than any other known quantity. Give faithful service on the lines you contract for, or be too manly to take pay.—Typographical Journal.

Mr. William A. Buckley, for four years President of Lowell Central Labor Union, residing at 7 Chestnut street, says: "It is hard to say more in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills than their great merit warrants. I had attacks of backache and pains through my loins for over 12 years. I doctored, used liniments, plasters and remedies without number, but nothing did me any permanent good until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Ellingwood & Co.'s drug store. The use of three boxes absolutely cured me. I regard it a pleasure to testify to the great value of this preparation."

CIRCULATION COUNTS . . . .

In estimating the cost of advertising, remember that circulation is what counts. When a paper with one-half or one-third the circulation of The Sun asks Sun rates for advertising space, you can readily see how cheap our rates really are.

The real cost of advertising is not the rate per inch, but the rate per inch per thousand of circulation.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

The Springfield Union says: Forty-six "drunks" were arrested in no-license Lowell last Saturday night. Either the police of that city are showing extraordinary diligence or else the people find something to drink besides sarsaparilla.

The two daughters of General Wheeler were present at the mock session of the legislature Saturday. They must carry away with them a high idea of the dignity and refinement of the Great and General Court, when that body undertakes to burlesque itself. It is bad enough at best.

The committee on commons, it appears, is limited to the amount of money it has to expend on the new Rogers Park. That being so, the construction of a pond had better be abandoned as none at all is preferable to a cheap one that would not harmonize with the surroundings.

The decision of Judge Fisher in favor of the defendants in the native wines case has been favorably commented upon. It is not to be supposed that everybody brought into court on the charge of selling liquor should be convicted. There should be some unmistakable proof of their guilt.

The legislature of 1899 has been prorogued and its work has now gone into history. It would be futile to examine the records of its enactments for anything that would improve the laws or widen the scope of state policy. Perhaps the most notable measure passed was the trades unions' insurance bill; at least, it was that which appears to be the most popular measure enacted during the session.

The legislature, as usual, gave a large portion of its time to tinkering at the municipal affairs of Boston, changing and re-changing the method of electing officers and transacting business, the effect being to restrict that city's right to home rule.

The decision of the Lowell judge that under the law a newspaper in a no-license city or town cannot publish liquor advertisements, and the fact that the Massachusetts legislature refused to pass the bill making such publications legitimate can have but one effect and that is the creation of a sentiment that will result in repeal of the law. The Times does not permit the use of its columns to such advertising, but it nevertheless believes that such an application of the law as is involved in the decision at Lowell is an invasion of personal right. It is a pity that most temperance legislation seems to labor under some such handicap to toleration as this.—Brockton Times.

It is possible that the decision of the police court judge may eventually be overruled, but if not, the law will undoubtedly be repealed. It is doubtful if the framers of the law ever intended it should have this effect. It is not fair to have papers published outside Lowell and circulating here granted a privilege in this respect which Lowell papers are denied. This is an important question which will be properly cleared up in due time.

THE OHIO REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

In the nomination of the state ticket in Ohio, the republicans have given the forecast of their platform in 1900. Mark Hanna is still on top in Ohio, the boss of the factions, the political corruptionists, rings and bodlers through his high-handed methods, by appeals and threats as the spokesman of the administration. Mark Hanna speaks for McKinley in his role as dictator to the republican party of the state and nation and although to the latter he is particularly obnoxious, his influence with the president gives him the power to overcome his enemies and to win political battles, as he has done in Ohio, securing by corrupt means his own election to the United States senate, and now the nomination of George H. Nash, in spite of the strongest opposition in the state.

The order recently issued by President McKinley withdrawing four thousand offices from the merit system was given out undoubtedly for the purpose of providing a sufficient number of places for Mr. Hanna's disposal in dictating the nominations in Ohio and elsewhere. When Mr. Hanna is not dispursing boodle, he is distributing patronage that is usually given out by the president. He is the president's political manager and agent and is recognized throughout the nation as the greatest political corruptionist in the country, not excepting Tom Platt or Ex-Senator Quay.

The anti-civil service order of the president served to conciliate some of the most bitter opponents of Boss Hanna. Sen. Foraker was perhaps the most humiliated man by the nomination of Nash, but all factions were made subservient to Hanna's purpose. The platform adopted is particularly worthy of note as forecasting the platform of 1900; it gives the republican administration full credit for whatever degree of prosperity exists now, has existed, or will exist in the near future; gives it credit for the victory in the war with Spain, and for the great territorial expansion of which we hear so much and for which there is a sort of reckoning still pending in the Philippinet Islands. But perhaps the most inditerous feature of all was the adoption of an anti-trust plank by the organizers, defenders, stockholders and representatives of the trusts. This anti-trust plank is a piece of political slap trap put in to offset any provision of this nature which may be embodied in a democratic platform, but it means nothing except an attempt on the part of republicans to delude voters.

The president was, of course, commended in the platform for his judicious modification of the civil service rules recently promulgated and the anti-trust plank stated that: "We commend the action of the 73d general assembly of Ohio, in placing a stringent law now on our statute books, prohibiting the organization of trusts and we denounce such unlawful combinations as inimical to the interests of the people." This from a republican convention nominated by Mark Hanna is too absurd to be laughable.

SOCIAL GOSSIP.

The local courts of Foresters have already appointed committees to arrange for the grand court convention to be held in this city next May. It is expected that Huntington hall will be ready by that time and if so, it will be used for the grand concert and ball to visiting delegates. The convention will be held in Foresters' hall.

Everybody is privileged to spend their money for whatever and wherever they please, but it does seem very [illegible] will trouble themselves to go to Boston to do their shopping where the prices are higher than those in this city. I had occasion to call on a friend of mine in Boston who is employed in one of the retail stores and was surprised to see people from Lowell making pretty heavy purchases of ladies' shoes. The funny part of it was that some members of the family of these individuals are in the shoe business in Lowell. My friend informed me when I commented upon the fact that it was nothing strange or unusual as every day you might see Lowell people trading at his store. If that is so, in that particular branch of business I presume it is so in every other. But the fact still remains that it is poor economy as they can get surely better bargains at home when you take into consideration, the expense of travel, luncheon, etc. Some people grow that it is necessary to go to Boston in order to get a variety. We are rather inclined to differ with them as we believe that they can get everything they need in this city at as low prices and as good quality as in Boston.

It has been known for several years that Robert B. Mantell was unable to appear in New York save on Sundays, owing to some legal difficulty. To overcome this Mr. Mantell recently filed a petition in bankruptcy in the Chicago courts. His liabilities are placed at $14,000, which in part includes a judgment secured in that city for $10,000. If Mr. Mantell secures his discharge in bankruptcy he will be able to play in New York, a desire which his manager, M. W. Hanley has cherished for some time. Scottish Sovereign Remedies Cure

Dyspepsia Has No Terrors Any More.

Mackintosh Scottish Remedy Co.:
Gentlemen—It affords me great pleasure to report to you the great benefit I have received from your wonderful Dyspepsia Remedy. I have been a great sufferer from Dyspepsia, gastric and intestinal indigestion. At times I was on the verge of nervous prostration, and life seemed a burden. I was so depressed in spirits that a sharp word from a friends would cause me to shed tears. I was so weak and melancholy I often thought—am I a sufferer this way all the rest of my life? Meeting a friend one morning, he advised me to try the Scottish Remedies. After using for three days I noticed a change coming over me—nature seemed to be taking on new forces, and life was returning again. My tired and nervous system was so much better from the delightful sleep I commenced to have that I would awake in the morning feeling rested, and life no longer a burden. I cannot give you praise enough for your wonderful indigestion Remedy, and allow me to thank you heartily and accept my gratitude for my renewed health. Yours with success,

OFFER TO LITTLE

By Harvey Parker a Famous Athlete

SAYS HE CAN THROW LITTLE EASY

Five Times Within Hour or Lose.

A wrestling match has practically been arranged between John J. Little of Brockton and Harvey Parker, the famous athlete considered the best wrestler of his weight in the world. Parker went to Brockton a few days ago and deposited $10 with the Times as a forfeit for a match with any wrestler in the city, also Dick Casey of Lowell. He preferred Little and offered to go for $100 a side at 140 pounds, catch-as-catch-can. Little knowing Parker and what he has done didn't care to meet him under those conditions and refused to wrestle. A meeting of the men was arranged for and they came together.

Parker simply stated that he desired a match with Little. Little stated that he did not believe he had any business with Parker. Parker looked Little over and Little made a close inspection of Parker. Little is much taller than Parker and looks fully as weighty. Little stated that he weighs 140. Parker weighed 156 with his clothing on. He stated that he would get to any weight Little would name for a match.

After some discussion Parker finding that Little was not anxious to wrestle made a very fair proposition, one that Little will, no doubt, take on. He stated that he will guarantee to throw Little five times in succession in one hour or lose the match. If Little wins one fall in an hour, Little wins. Little told Parker, point blank that he would agree to do so or lose and make the falls in succession to that. The men agreed to meet later and make terms.

Little has many friends in Brockton who look upon Parker's offer as a cinch for Little. Little has not been put to his utmost yet, except in the Lowell match the other evening. He is in prime shape for a match, his knees now being on the way to quick recovery and the go between the men should be well worth seeing. It is known what Little can do. In view of that Parker's proposition looks monstrous.

HOMELESS AND HUNGRY IN STREETS.

Tramps Wearing the U. S. Uniform.

Private Patrick M. Buckley of Co. M, First infantry, after a year's good service at Puiar del Rio has returned to his home in this city, having been mustered out. In conversation with The Sun reporter Private Buckley stated that many of Uncle Sam's ex-soldiers in Cuba are destitute and starving. In support of his claim to that effect he showed the reporter a copy of the Daily American, an American newspaper published in Havana, which contained the following under the date of April 28:

The United States is looked upon as not only a civilized country, but a Christian one as well. Millions of dollars are sent annually by the good people of the States to the missionaries in heathen countries, even cannibals are fed on some of the good missionaries that are sent to convert them. While missionaries for feeding purposes are not needed in Havana, food and shelter is sadly needed for men who have received honorable discharges from the United States.

For months relief stations have been busy issuing rations to the Cubans, while Americans have been waiting our streets homeless and hungry.

This is not a fancy picture, but stern reality. Tuesday morning, The Daily American told the story of the 19 men who were honorably discharged from C company, Eighth infantry, and who were refused a meal or a night's shelter in their old company, though they were discharged on Sunday afternoon.

This time it is Company A, Eighth infantry, where a number of honorably discharged soldiers were refused a meal and shelter. They received their discharges Wednesday afternoon, and it being too late to get their final statements cashed that day, they naturally expected to stay with their old company until they received the transportation and money to which they are entitled. Their surprise can be imagined when they were informed that they could neither eat nor sleep there.

Yesterday they failed to get their money, and as a result they are compelled to live on charity, and sleep on the benches in our park.

Yet the United States is feeding fat "starving" Cubans right here in the city of Havana, and the Boys in Blue are allowed to go hungry. There will be a day of reckoning for some one, and let it be hoped in the very near future.

Besides the cases recorded above there are a number of discharged soldiers in the city from the First infantry, who are in the same predicament, Micawber like, waiting to get their transportation and final statements cashed. Until then they must walk Havana's streets or sleep in the park.

At the Second Division Hospital a large number of men were discharged last Monday and Tuesday, and Major Ira Brown, the officer in charge, issued an order that all soldiers would have to leave within twenty-four hours after receiving their discharge, but when shown The Daily American's article of last Tuesday he rescinded the order."

GOOD FOR TROLLEY LEAGUE

"So Lowell and Lawrence have been dropped from the New England circuit and no clubs have been substituted in their places" observes "Heard About Town" of the Nashua Telegraph who adds that this move on the part of league officers should and doubtless will help the Trolley league out, for it has teams in both Lowell and Lawrence.

REBELS COMPLY

With the Orders of Admiral Kautz

THEY HAVE STRENGTHENED THEIR POSITION

And are Engaged in Manufacturing Cartridges.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

APIA, Samoa, May 19 (via San Francisco, June 5). When Admiral Kautz issued his proclamation of April 29, directing Mataafa and his followers to keep beyond certain defined limits around Apia, the prescribed district covering an area 12 miles long and six miles broad, followed by a notification to Mataafa that unless the rebels were outside the prescribed limits in 24 hours, fire would be opened upon them wherever they could be reached, this brought about an immediate and unconditional compliance with the admiral's demands. From that time up to date there has been no conflict with the rebels. Since the rebels went to Fulenta, a strong patrol of 500 or 600 men daily make the round seeing that all is quiet and that no looting or damage is done by the Malietoa followers. The large fort at Letopia has been destroyed by the Malietoans and it is reported that Mataafa is highly enraged at this claiming that in the event of his wishing to return to the fort after the commission has given their decision it ought to have been allowed to do so. In the meantime he is building forts inland at the town of Falenuta, and his followers stoutly declare that even if the commissioners are unanimous against him, he will never acknowledge Tanu as king and will fight it out to the bitter end. In the meantime the rebels are strengthening their position, sending out messengers for their sympathizers to come and join them and are busily engaged in manufacturing cartridges. Deserters from the Mataafa camp say that on the occasion of the Falke last visiting Salamfata, that some of the rebel chiefs went off to the ship and asked for a supply of ammunition but that the same was refused them to their great disgust. The loyalists on the other hand are fortifying their intrenchments around Apia and are being daily drilled and instructed by officers from the different warships. A four inch gun has been taken from Her Majesty's ship Tauranga and is now mounted at Mulinu in such a position as to command the whole of the western portion of the municipality. The great question is whether the commission will order the disarmament of the natives. If they don't, it is the opinion of almost every white resident that these islands will no longer be safe to live in and many declare that if the natives are to retain their rifles, no matter what other solution of the Samoan question is made, they cannot and will not live here with their wives, families and property at the mercy of the next lot of rebels.

It is the intention of Admiral Kautz to leave here three days after this writing. He sees that the commission will be a long time over its labors and that during that time nothing will be done by the war vessels. The Badger and the Brutus are both here in American interests and the Newark is expected in three weeks at least and therefore there is no need for him to wait here a lengthened period doing nothing.

TOMORROW AFTERNOON.
AT FIVE O'CLOCK.

I am out of health, all alone, and unable to take care of my property; in other words, I have either got to sell it or actually neglect it. Under the circumstances I have chosen to sell it and will on Tuesday, the sixth day of June, 1899, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, regardless of weather or any conditions sell a two and half story house of nine rooms and cellar, 1027 Gorham St. Corner lot at the corner of Gorham and Lincoln streets, containing about 3500 square feet of land, 40 or more feet on Gorham street and 82 feet on Lincoln street.

The two parcels adjoin each other. The house was built by my late husband, who was a carpenter and builder and he built it to live in himself and occupied it to the end of his life. The lumber and finish was all selected; never was a house more honestly constructed; closets, chests, sets of drawers, and many other conveniences all through the house. It is in perfect order and repair; has two tenements, one of five rooms and one of four rooms; has water closets, sewerage, etc.

The lot has sewerage, sidewalks, and all city conveniences facing it on both streets and all assessments are paid for same. Seven minutes' electric car service pass the premises. The house will be open for inspection after 10 a. m. on day of sale. Three-quarters of the purchase money on each lot can remain on mortgage if purchasers so desire. The property is well located, is in a neighborhood that has always held its own in values, will always rent, is a safe place for investment or improvement, the property is going to be sold. The purchaser of house and lot must deposit with or secure to the auctioneers $250 as soon as the lot is struck off. The purchaser of corner lot must do the same with $160.

WHOLE DAY'S FIGHT

Futile Attempt to Surround Rebel Forces

Thirty Lost in Killed and Wounded—Antipolo Captured But Deserted by Filipinos—Gen. Hall's Battle.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MANILA, June 4—For nearly twenty-four hours General Hall's troops have been engaged in fighting scattered bands of rebels. Some of the skirmishing has been very severe and in one fight the Americans lost four killed and fifteen wounded.

In the movement which began under General Lawton, late Friday night, the Americans have lost probably thirty in killed and wounded. The killed probably number about eight. The movement was intended for a general round-up of the rebels in the Laguna de Bay district but the Filipinos are too wily to permit themselves to be caught. Time and again they have slipped away to safety when it was thought they were in a trap.

The position of the American troops tonight indicates that they will tomorrow sweep the peninsula of Morong, the land projecting to the south into Laguna de Bay, where the insurgents are supposed to have a large force near the town of Morong as well as the battery on the western shore of the peninsula, which recently smashed the propeller of the gunboat Napidan.

General Hall is marching from Antipolo, about six and a half miles northwest of Morong toward the peninsula, with his forces spread out to cover a large section. Colonel Truman, with the First North Dakota regiment, and the Twelfth Infantry, is advancing along the coast of the lake from Taytay incidentally clearing several small towns while Colonel Wholley, with the First Washington regiment, has landed on the peninsula above the town of Morong. The army gunboats Napidan, Covadonga and Oeste are in a position to co-operate.

The original plan was to surround the forces of General Pio del Pilar so that he must retreat to the Morong peninsula, where capture would have been inevitable. This was not a complete success, because General Hall's column found the country full of handicaps to marching. Colonel Wholley having successfully completed his share of the movement, brought the Washington regiment to the river Pasig, where last night about midnight, the men embarked upon cascoes and started for their destination under the convoy of the gunboats. They encountered a repetition of the experience undergone by almost every expedition on attempting to enter Laguna de Bay, as the boats went aground in the shallows in the mouth of the river and were detained there several hours. Major General Lawton in the meantime was indefatigable, riding from one force to the other and supervising the loading of the cascoes, without sleep, for two nights.

HALL MAKES A FIGHT

General Hall's column, which assembled at the water works, or pumping station, late last Friday night, consists of the Second Oregon Volunteers, a battalion of the Second Wyoming regiment, four troops of the Fourth Cavalry, one mounted on the big American horses, which so impressed the natives, the others unmounted, two battalions of the Fourth Infantry, one battalion of the Ninth Infantry, the first six companies of the First Colorado regiment and two mountain guns. The men rolled themselves in their blankets and lay upon the wet grass for a few hours under a drizzling rain.

At 4 o'clock yesterday morning (Saturday) they began to cross San Mateo river and about noon repulsed a large band of Filipinos about 12 miles east of Manila, between Mariquina and Antipolo.

HALL'S 24-HOUR FIGHT.

General Hall's column in the movement upon the Morong peninsula completed a circuit of over twenty miles over rough and mountainous country, having two engagements with the insurgents, one of them severe, and keeping up an almost constant fire against scattered bands of rebels for nearly twenty-four hours from 4 o'clock Saturday morning.

General Hall's objective point was Antipolo, 10 miles off, and there was desultory firing all along the line of march. The gunboats could be heard shelling the hills in advance of the column.

The column, after driving the rebels from the foothills near Maria Chino about noon yesterday, with a loss of but two or three slightly wounded, proceeded with all possible haste toward Laguna de Bay, the Fourth Cavalry in the lead, the Oregon regiment next, and the Fourth Infantry last.

At 5 o'clock these three regiments fought their second battle of the day, and it resulted like the first, in he complete rout of a large Filipino force located n the mountains and having every advantage of position.

In this fight the American loss was four killed, three of the Fourth Cavalry and one Oregonian, and about fifteen wounded. The Filipino loss could not be ascertained, but the terrible fire which the Americans poured into them for half an hour must have inflicted severe punishment.

In this engagement our troops made one of the most gallant charges of the war, and the enemy was forced to flee in the greatest disorder.

The troops, after camping for the night on the battlefield, started at 5 this morning for Antipolo, where it was expected a strong resistance would be made. Antipolo is a place far up in the mountains, which the Spaniards had said the Americans could never capture. It has cost Spain the lives of 300 troops.

The progress of the column was considerably delayed while passing up the steep mountain grade by a small band of insurgents; but these were effectually routed by the Fourth Cavalry, which was in advance, and the troops reached Antipolo in a few hours.

Our lines were immediately thrown around on three sides of the town and then the final advance was made. But it was found unnecessary to fire a shot. Not a rebel was visible, and the town was entirely abandoned.

Two hours later, after a conference between Generals Lawton and Hall, the column proceeded towards Morong, to drive away the rebels found in that quarter. The loss is estimated at thirty killed and wounded.

NINE REBELS KILLED.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MANILA, June 5.—1.04 p. m.— Two battalions of the Washington troops, under Col. Wholley, on board cascoes, were towed from Pasig to Morong on Sunday and landed under cover of a well directed fire from the "Tin-clad" army gunboats Napidan and Covadonga.

The rebels who were entrenched in the outskirts of of the town, reserved their fire until the troops were ashore and in the open. The American artillery opened fire on the insurgents and drove them from their positions, killing nine of them and wounding five. The Washington troops then took the town the rebels fleeing to the hills.

While the Americans were on their way to Morong, the insurgents opened fire from a shore battery at Ancona, their first shot striking the Cobandonga's awning aft, at a range of 3500 yards. The Napian also was fired at.

CORPUS CHRISTI

Beautiful Feast of Catholic Church

ELABORATE EXERCISES HELD AT ST. PATRICK'S

Services Held at Rustic Altars

BENEDICTION GIVEN IN CHURCH YARD

First Communion at Immaculate Conception

That most beautiful of out-door religious events, the annual Corpus Christi procession of the societies and sodalities connected with St. Patrick's church was observed yesterday, an attendance of over 1500 persons participating in the grandly solemn exercises.

The weather was most auspicious and the beautiful observance was completely successful. In honor of the event the convent grounds were very prettily decorated and two rustic altars were erected in the convent yard and a third at the monument in the church yard. The parochial residence, the home and the exterior of the church facing the church yard, was adorned with the national and the papal colors while the beauty of the scene was enhanced by the presence of numerous American flags.

Vespers was sung in the church at 2.15 o'clock and at its conclusion the Corpus Christi procession was formed and filed out into the academy grounds. John J. Lonergan was chief marshal, and Bernard Brown, Thomas Delaney, and John Golden were aids. The procession was led by the chief marshal and his aids, followed by the cross-bearer and acolytes. Then followed the Cadet band playing alternately with the chimes "Graces from My Jesus Flowing" and other beautiful hymns. After the band were the several sodalities of little girls attired in white dresses and wearing wreaths and sashes of different colors and carrying banners representing the fifteen mysteries of the Rosary. The members of the Children of Mary sodality in white dresses and white veils followed with the Immaculate Conception sodality and a choir of girls. The altar boys escorted the Sacrament, bearing lighted candles and immediately preceding the Sacrament were the flower girls, from whose basket flowers were strewn before the Blessed Sacrament. The sacrament was borne by Rev. R. S. Burke of St. Patrick's church, under a red canopy. Fr. Burke was accompanied by Rev. Fr. Boland of St. Michael's church and James Duffy of St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore. Rev. Michael O'Brien, P. R., of St. Patrick's was master of ceremonies and his assistants were Rev. Frs. McHugh and Leonard of St. Patrick's.

The canopy bearers were His Honor, Mayor Crowley, John J. Hogan, Esq., Thomas J. Enright, Esq., Humphrey O'Sullivan, Dr. T. F. Harrington, Dennis Wholey, Patrick Gilbride and Joseph McQuade. Following the canopy were the altar boys acting as guards of honor and carrying lanterns.

The procession proceeded in the academy grounds to one of the rustic altars where a brief stop was made during which St. Cecilia's choir of the Notre Dame academy sang "Veni Jesu" and "O Cor Amoris," and the Immaculate Conception choir sang "Peace, Be Still Our God is Dwelling on His Silent Throne." At the second altar, benediction was given, the academy choir singing "Tantum Ergo."

The procession then proceeded into Fenwick street, thence to Suffolk, to the church grounds and the third altar the church choir under the direction of E. F. Faulkner singing "Laudu Sion." Prior to benediction at the third altar, the combined chorus accompanied by the chimes rendered "O Salutaris" and "Tantum Ergo."

After benediction the procession entered the church, the congregation singing "My Lord, My God, My All." Benediction again took place at the main altar, the congregation singing "Te Deum" at the conclusion of the services and dismissal of the procession.

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION.

At the Immaculate Conception church yesterday morning at the 7.30 mass, two hundred boys and girls received their first communion. Mass was celebrated by Rev. William D. Joyce, O. M. I., who also delivered a brief yet beautiful sermon to the young folks in which he told them of the happiness that is theirs on this occasion, the happiest event in their lives, when for the first time they are permitted to receive the Holy Eucharist, the body and blood of our Blessed Lord. The children received communion from Father Joyce, and the prayers for the communicants were read by Rev. Fr. Gigault, O. M. I. the responses being by the children. At the high mass the celebrant was Rev. Fr. Lawrence, O. M. I., and Rev. Fr. Mangin, O. M. I., pastor of St. Joseph's preached on the mass. In the evening hymns in honor of the Blessed Sacrament took place and in line were the boys and girls who were the first communicants of the present year and the Children of Mary. The procession passed through Columbus park as the church yard is called and the girls sang hymn in honor of the Blessed Sacrament to the music of a small organ. The scene in the yard was as it always is, exceedingly beautiful. Benediction was given in the church and the service closed with the singing by the congregation of "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name."

AT ST. PETER'S.

At St. Peter's church at 10.30 o'clock yesterday forenoon a solemn high mass was celebrated by Rev. John H. McKenna. Rev. Edward F. Saunders, deacon, and Rev. W. George Mullin, sub-deacon. A procession of the Blessed Sacrament took place in which the different sodalities of the church participated, also the officers of the mass and the pastor, Rev. Fr. Ronan, the whole making a very impressive spectacle.

CATCH BY ROCHE

Saved the South Ends From Probable Defeat.

PLAY WAS BEST SEEN HERE.

The Mathews Were Defeated by Haverhill.

The game played by the South Ends and the Newtowne A. C. on the Fair grounds Saturday afternoon was by far ahead of any other contest seen in this city since the well remembered days of the contest between the Unions and Emeralds and South Ends.

By the way the visitors were getting onto Moore's curves, things began to look dubious for the South Ends.

Moore sent a teaser over the corner of the plate, which however, did not tease the experienced Clarkson. Encouraged by the failure of the latter to negotiate the first, he sent another, which would have reached Farley's hands on a parallel with the centre of the base, had not Clarkson interrupted and sent it flying through the air at an express pace headed for the point where it says "100 doses, one dollar." Meanwhile Jack Roche who was then in centre field having previously nothing to do was seen to be going at a rivalling rate to the same place, to the enjoyment of the spectators, who had given up hope at the crack of the bat. Roche went, however, and by a wonderful piece of luck and ball playing brought the ball down into his hands. The catch was made by a spring in the air, which almost involved a somersault.

When Roche came in to the bat he had to do what made Hugh Duffy's name a household word in the homes of local base ball cranks. He was again and again obliged to respond to the deafening applause.

For the visitors H. Clarkson made a great catch of Connors' fly in the sixth inning and in the eighth Sands nailed one sent up in short left field by Silnes that took the spectators off their feet. Sands had a long run before he got anywhere near the ball. Pote, the catcher, gave Clarkson excellent support. Clarkson allowed the South Ends just nine hits. Moore gave the Newtowne boys five hits with a total of twelve. Roche did not allow them a hit. H. Clarkson with one of the longest hits ever seen on the grounds, made a home run. Sands and Lane made three baggers.

Umpire Thornton was at his best. The score:

Newtowne A. C. .....0 0 0 1 0 1 0 1 0—3

Earned runs—Newtowne, 1; three base hits—Sands, Lane; home runs, H. Clarkson. Stolen bases—Roche, Connors, McVey, Farley, Dolan, Sands, Pote. Double plays—Regan and Farley; Connors and Regan; Pote and H. Clarkson; base on balls, by Moore, 3; by Roche 1; by Clarkson 2. Struck out, by Moore 4; by Roche 2; by Clarkson, 3; passed balls, by Pote 1; Time—2h. 11 minutes. Umpire, William Thornton. Attendance, 800.

MATHEWS VS. HAVERHILL.

Jack Fahey's pitching was a material factor in the defeat of the Mathews by the Haverhills at the Mountain Rock grounds Saturday. The score:

Haverhills ..... 5 0 0 3 0 2 1 2 3—16
Mathews .....3 0 1 1 1 2 1 0 1—10

Earned runs—Haverhill 4, Mathews 2. Two base hits—Vaughn, Dunlavey, Channel, Dorsey; three base hits, W. Lewis; stolen bases, Royle, Dorsey 3, W. Lewis 2, A. Lewis, Mitchell; double plays, W. Lewis, A. Lewis, and Perry; bases on balls, by L. alle 3, by Fahey 2, hit by pitched ball, W. Lewis 2; struck out, by Leslie 2; passed balls, Small, 3, Dunlavey, 3; wild pitches, Fahey; time 1h, 46m.; umpire, J. J. Gorman; attendance, 250.

The Collinsville nine, Jim Rogers, captain, defeated the Clippers of Lowell in a one-sided game Saturday afternoon as the score will show, 31 to 12.

Collinsville ..... 6 4 3 2 5 3 3 5 0—31
Clippers ..... 5 0 1 0 1 2 0 0 3—12

TEWKSBURY'S CASE

AIRED IN THE POLICE COURT TODAY.

In court today there was a family affair, James, George and Thos. Miller of Tewksbury were charged by Officer Lynch, with profane language to the officer, who on the stand testified that the defendant made use of a series of profane phrases which witness recited on the stand.

Lawyer Donahue appeared for the defendant, while Lawyer L. J. Trull took up the government's cause. Officer Lynch was severely cross-examined by the former and after a long string of objections to the form of questions of the government counsel, the officer was excused.

A little girl named Dawson who lives in Wigginville where the offense was alleged to have been committed and who knows all the persons involved in the case said in answer to queries that she heard profanity. Other witnesses for the government who were subsequently called testified corroborative to the former.

Mr. Donahue then made a motion that the charge be dismissed.

Mr. Trull then wanted to reopen his case by recalling Officer Lynch. Lawyer Donahue objected but his objection was not sustained by the court which allowed further testimony by Officer Lynch. Nothing of importance was brought out in the continuation of the officer's testimony.

Eight witnesses for the defense then stepped forward and were sworn.

The defendants were found guilty and were each fined $3. They appealed and then withdrew the appeal.

As a result of the case, a warrant will be taken out this afternoon against Officer Lynch for alleged assault on George Miller and civil proceedings will also be taken.

A LIVELY RUNAWAY.

There was quite a lively runaway about three o'clock this afternoon. While Mr. S. K. Chase was in Brock's drug store on Bridge street, his horse which was hitched to a light democrat wagon, started to run away. The animal came over Bridge street and struck the telegraph pole in front of The Sun building and collided with a light buggy when it was stopped by Officer Lane. The horse did no damage either to the buggy or the wagon.

GLORIA

IS NOT A MEDICINE.

Love tickled the young man's ribs one day.
He squirmed and scratched, but the tickle would stay;
Little he thought the young lady's heart
Had the same trouble as his from the start.
He had to drink GLORIA in order to see,
How to get out of the difficulty;
Young Lady's answer, I'll surely be with you,
My mother and sisters will come along too.
He drank more Gloria and counted his cash,
Now thinks he will have to scratch gravel for hash.
Then all drink GLORIA before it's too late,
And look out well for this ticklish state.

YACHTING DRESSES CLING TO THE FIGURE AND IN ALL WAYS FOLLOW THE PREVAILING STYLE.

GOWNS FOR THE BRIGHT, BLUE SEA.

A Duck Comes for Yachting Suits Which is as Heavy as Light Wool.

PLAIDS FOR TRIMMINGS.

The Blues and Browns are Enlivened By the Most Brilliant Scotch Effects.

HOW DRESSES ARE CUT.

(From Our Special Correspondent.)

Yachting days are at hand, and the most delicious creations designed for summer seas are being selected by well-dressed women.

Many of the larger steam yachts were pressed into the country's service last Summer and most of the smaller craft kept to the old adage and "staid near shore," if, indeed, the owners moved them at all from the snug winter berths. But with the promise of an international boat race, and no fear of a "shot across the bows," the coast resorts will fairly swarm with elegant yachts.

BLACKMORE HEROINES.

The Blackmore heroines were always so charming at sea that they captivated the hearts of all aboard; not only the hero fell a victim to the trim waist and blowing skirt, but the other yachtsmen succumbed as well, and the poor heroine found herself in the predicament of a girl wooed by many suitors, all properly pedigreed and suitably introduced.

The yachting girl of the summer can look even smarter than the Blackmore heroines, for in those days there were only the blues and the browns from which to choose, navy blue and seal brown being the favorites.

But to-day there is the great family of Irish tweeds, and not second to them is the variety of Scottish plaids which embrace many families, each with its separate colors. The Lindley plaid, which can be produced in small sizes, is of green and red and blue, the middle color predominating; the Simpson plaid runs more to the brilliant red; while the Fergus is a green. It is well if you have a Scotch ancestor buried somewhere over in the banks to hunt him up and to find out what his plaid was. Engraven it upon your memory and select your tweeds and your hat bands to match it. If possible, have it handed across the top of your stationary. So shall you be a very cleverly designed yachtswoman.

Fashion is making an awful effort to get away from the blouse. The makers of ready-made waists, on the other hand, are advocating the blouse. For them it has its recommendations; it fits everybody. Given your bust measure and you can wear any waist provided it has a blouse front.

But the fitted waists are neater, and you find them basted in all sizes ready for the final fitting around the waist and on the shoulders. Ready-made waists of this description are high-priced, and you can hardly get one less than $5.00, of chambray, or cambric.

NEW EMBROIDERY TRIMMINGS.

They are making a yachting dress this year of very heavy duck trimmed with the coarsest kind of embroidery, which, indeed, looks more like a piece of cloth decorate. This is with holes cut out to show the fabric underneath. The style, while it is extremely effective, is hardly to be recommended for the amateur dressmaker. The openings must be cut with great accuracy and the outside fastened—many tailors use glue—to the inside. The effect is that of an open work pattern, designs being cut out in scroll shape to show the material underneath. Decorate, they call it.

The heavy duck which is used for yachting dresses is different from any duck you ever saw. A simple skirt alone—priced in a Broadway shop this week—cost $10.00. You would have sworn that it was of cloth; even to the feel it was like cloth. Its advantages are that it washes so well. The embroidery, which may be simply set over the duck, extends down one side and around the foot, also around the hips. The waist was profusely trimmed with it.

They are making pique in many weights, some of the pique being quite manageable so that it is really a pleasant waist material. Other grades of pique are very heavy and are more suitable for coats and skirts. A pique coat can be worn over a dotted mull vest, to which is attached the stiff collar and the broad flat white necktie.

A DELIGHTFUL DESIGN.

One of these delightful yachting gowns was of china blue bunting trimmed with blue and white checked taffeta. The wide sailor collar of silk opened over a vest and stock of white silk muslin, laid in fine tucks.

Two wing-shaped revers buttoned on the sailor collar with round clear white glass buttons, and ended in a point at the belt. The bloused waist was trimmed with bands of the checked silk laid in three tucks. Two rows went around the figure and also around the sleeves at the same lines. The skirt was one of the new habit style with no fullness at all across the back and fastened in front a little to the left under folds of the silk. Around the hips were tucked bands of silk and also at the foot of the skirt. A belt of white kid, embroidered in silver paillettes, was worn with this gown.

Another costume that was unusual in color and very pretty was of cream white serge, trimmed with cream silk braid and sea green taffeta.

The skirt was so carefully fitted that no fullness showed across the back except to fall around the feet in graceful folds.

This skirt buttoned down the center front with crystal buttons caught through braid loops. A broad band of the silk was around the skirt eighteen inches above the hem in front and sloping down at the back. This was brought over in scrolls and lattice designs with braid.

The jacket was a close-fitting little Eton, with the silk and braiding carried elaborately across the back and sleeves and down the jacket fronts which opened over a dainty white tucked taffeta shirt waist.

INEXPENSIVE AND DAINTY.

A very inexpensive but effective yachting gown was made of coral-colored pique, plaided by fine black lines and trimmed with white duck. The short bolero, worn over a white dotted muslin shirt waist, had a narrow sailor collar of duck laid over springing revers of duck which tapered down to slightly below the belt.

The skirt was scant, and the hidden box pleats in the back were held down by tiny white cotton buttons. A stitched band of duck ran from belt to hem slightly to the left of the front continuing around the hem, and an anchor of white duck was stitched just above it, directly in front.

Sailor hats are the most popular, though soft caps are used; the smartest sailors show a soft silk scarf tied around with large loops and ends falling over the hair. These scarfs are in delicate shades of rose, mauve and turquoise, and the sailors so trimmed are called the "Zaza."

Gloves are of palest gray, tan or white silk fastening with large pearl buttons, and low shoes can be obtained in almost any colored canvas to match a gown, but white duck or kid, trimmed with patent leather, are very new.

For cleaning these semi-wash goods there comes gasoline, which is excellent for removing spots. Alcohol takes out stains other than grease. And magnesia rubbed into the goods, and afterward brushed out, seems to obliterate traces of dust. A lump of starch, moistened and rubbed into the goods and left to dry, will clean very dirty waists. Brush the starch out after it is dried in, and you will be surprised at the transformation.

There is a tendency to line skirts less with silk. The silk lining cuts so easily that a silk substitute is used. But the silk petticoat remains in style. It is so dainty that it will be hard to drive it out.

Some women always demand the stiff-bosomed shirt waist, and they are not quite so formidable when the starched front is cut like a gracefully curved shield. The shield is rather long and gives the appearance of a blouse. It should be worn only by tall, slender women of perfect figure.

The white shirt waists promise to be as popular as ever, and one dainty June bride-to-be has ordered a set of six, all to be made of white in different materials—pique, lawn, cambric, mull, lace and wash silk.

The dressy shirt waists are made with tucks and entre deux of lace or embroidery sloping down in points toward the belt, somewhat the same as those used last season, but the sleeves instead of being plain, as formerly, are tucked and trimmed.

SIMPLICITY OF THE CZARINA'S COURT.

Gowns Made in the Palace and She Has Oatmeal on Her Table.

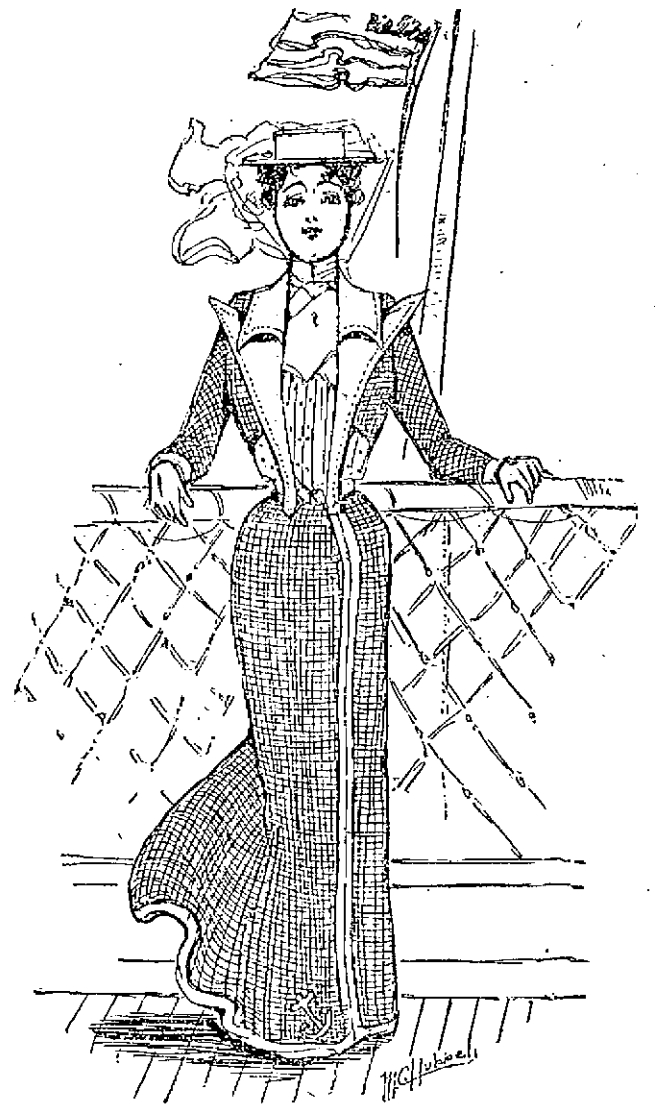

The Czarina is as unique as the Czar in the originality of her ideas. Royalty, which is not supposed to have new thoughts, is perpetually astonished at this young couple, who throw down traditions and lay aside customs as lightly as though they were mere nobodies. The Czar and his curious peace conference you know all about, but the Czarina, in her palace at St. Petersburg, has hidden behind the privacy which the palace gives her. Yet occasionally facts about her come to light which are most interesting. Her first remarkable action was in refusing to give up her baby, little Olga, to hired nurses. Her own mother had nursed her children, so had Queen Victoria. Olga should receive the same care. She did the same with the second little girl, who is called by the English name of Vicky at home.

The Czarina's second act to astonish Russia was her persistence in refusing to take a retinue of ladies with her to drive. She would have one or two, but no more. The former Czarina, now the dowager, had always ridden with a mounted equerry on each side of her. The Czarina before her had been accompanied by two carriages of ladies. But the Czarina, Alice of Hesse, wanted nothing of the sort—only a lady to act as companion.

The Czarina then took to making her own dresses, or at least to having them made in the royal palace by a seamstress. It was the etiquette of the Court to send to Paris for the evening gowns, to London for the tailor-made suits and to very elegant establishments in St. Petersburg for the every-day gowns. But the Czarina ordered all her dresses made at home by her own seamstress, brought from England, except a few that were purchased at the shops.

The Czarina likewise ordered the table furnished prettily and meals served in simple fashion. She placed oatmeal upon the breakfast table, and ordered the draperies pulled aside for the sunshine. All lights were ordered out, except in the evening, and sunshine lighted the dining room.

The Czarina has brought the Court of England into Russia, as nearly as possible, and her husband is delighted at the banishment of some of the curious old formalities.

A VACATION IN A BALOON.

The Novel Way in Which Two French Actresses Have Decided to Spend the Summer.

A story is being whispered around Paris of two pretty actresses who are going to take their vacations this summer in a balloon. They do not propose to imitate Andree and start for the Pole, but they have an idea that it will be very pleasant making short trips in a balloon. A skilled balloonist is to accompany them and manage the flight of the aerial ship.

The balloon which they will chose is an ordinary picnic balloon, such as is used every spring at county fairs. The ascension is made with the necessaries in a car suspended from the balloon, and the travelers carry with them provisions to last a day or two, also cork life preservers, and a few toilet necessities.

Ascensions will be made pleasant mornings, with the intention of journeying only as far as some neighboring town and dropping there to rest, after which a return trip is to be made home. But as all signs fail in ballooning, there may be many a slip, and it is this which the fair balloonists are provided for.

In case the balloon soars too far away and exhausts too much air for a return, a skilled balloonist, who is of the party, will lower them to the earth. Then they will pack up the balloon and journey home on the cars. The rubber suit is to be used in case of a watery descent in the middle of the ocean or river. In this case the life preserver is hurriedly put on and the party got to shore as well as they can. The provisions are for a stomach stay until shelter and food are found. It is an adventurous plan, and the capricious young women may abandon it before the summer season is here.

MARRIAGEABLE AGE.

In Austria a "man" and "woman" are supposed to be able to be capable of conducting a home of their own from the age of fourteen.

In Germany the man must be at least eighteen years of age.

In France the man must be eighteen and the woman fifteen; in Belgium the same.

In Spain the intended husband must have passed his fourteenth year and the woman her twelfth.

In Hungary, for Roman Catholics, the man must be fourteen years old and the woman twelve; for Protestants, the man must be eighteen and the woman fifteen.

In Greece the man must have seen at least fourteen summers and the woman twelve.

In Portugal a boy of fourteen is considered marriageable, and a woman of twelve.

In Russia and Saxony they are a little more sensible, and a youth must refrain from entering into matrimony till he can count eighteen years, and the woman till she can count sixteen.

In Switzerland the men from the age of fourteen and the women from the age of twelve are allowed to marry.

In Turkey any youth and maiden who can walk properly, and can understand the necessary religious service, are allowed to be united for life.

AT HOME WITH MARIE CORELLI.

Her work is done not through drawing upon the brains of others, for she borrows nobody's style, but by observing human nature. She is also a student of geography and of the physical forces, such as light and heat; and her knowledge of these and chemistry and astronomy, enables her to plunge into realms avoided by the common novelist.

Marie Corelli has visited Queen Victoria and the Princess of Wales, and were she so inclined she could be a daily caller at the door of royalty, for these ladies are greatly interested in her.

LADY BERESFORD'S CAT CLUB.

How to Organize Such a Club and How to Make Money Raising Kittens.

Lady Charles Beresford, one of the wittiest women in England, has just been elected president of a cat's club, organized for the purpose of promoting the welfare of the cat and for giving cat exhibitions every year in London. It is along the lines of the existing cat clubs. Lady Beresford's sister-in-law, Lady William Beresford, is an honorary member, as is also the little Duchess of Marlborough.

For the benefit of such ladies in this city as may wish to organize a cat club on similar conditions, some idea of the cat club of Lady Beresford and of other cat clubs in England may be given.

To organize such a club the members pledge themselves to maintain a certain number of cats in comfort, and to discourage the keeping of any that are not up to the required markings. The pedigreed cats are the ones that win the prizes, but it has been recently decided that, if an unpedigreed cat will show the required markings she can be admitted to cat shows. There are books that tell how to judge a cat. These describe the softness of coat, the slant of the eye, the fullness of the nostrils and the shape of the head. Both the Angora and the domestic cat are admitted.

One of the cat fanciers of England, a friend of Lady Henry Somerset, has built a model cat farm. It is an acre square, and she has 300 cats comfortably housed upon it. The same idea might be carried out in as small a place as the backyard. Each cat family has a small house provided with hay and food cups. At the rear there is a runway, where the cats can get the air. They travel contentedly up and down the grassy paths, bordered by wire, and roll in the heap of sand provided for them. This woman raises Angoras only, and reaps a very nice income from her annual sale of pussies.

The cat industry is one that is highly lucrative. A pair of Angoras of pure strain were the foundation for a very flourishing cat family in Kentucky—the home of thoroughbreds—from which the kittens are shipped all over the country. The animals are hardy, take care of themselves, and are much less costly to feed than dogs.

Cat clubs are a necessity where prize animals are raised, for it is in this way that the markings are kept perfect and the highest standard preserved.

EMMA BROOKFIELD.

EUGENIE HAS A NEW GOWN.

She, Who Once Averaged a New Gown a Day, Now Hesitates at One in Three Months.

The old Empress Eugenie has a new gown. Strange to call her "old," she who within a generation electrified the world with her beauty and her spirits. And, stranger still, to record the purchase of a dress, for in her day Eugenie was the most extravagant woman that ever lived, not excepting Josephine, the queen of woman spendthrifts, or Marie Antoinette, the best-dressed woman of her day.

Eugenie spent a thousand francs as easily as another woman spends a dollar, and it all went upon the wonderful filmy gowns that were her delight.

A former lady-in-waiting tells the story of a dress of fine stuff, thin as gauze, and shimmering like silk. Silver stars were woven in its pale, blue folds, and around the foot was a flounce of wonderful lace, 500 francs a yard. Eugenie was delighted when she saw it, and could not wait to put it on. That evening in the gowns in the Tuileries it was ruined, torn to shreds as Eugenie romped through the plays which delighted her so.

Now the Paris newspapers record with some pride that the Empress Eugenie has a new gown. The material, which is a soft black goods, like Henrietta, was purchased during her recent visit to Paris, and was left with a modiste to be made.

Eugenie always wears one kind of gown now—plain in skirt, round in waist, with the throat cut to a point and filled in with lace, quite like a grandmother's throat.

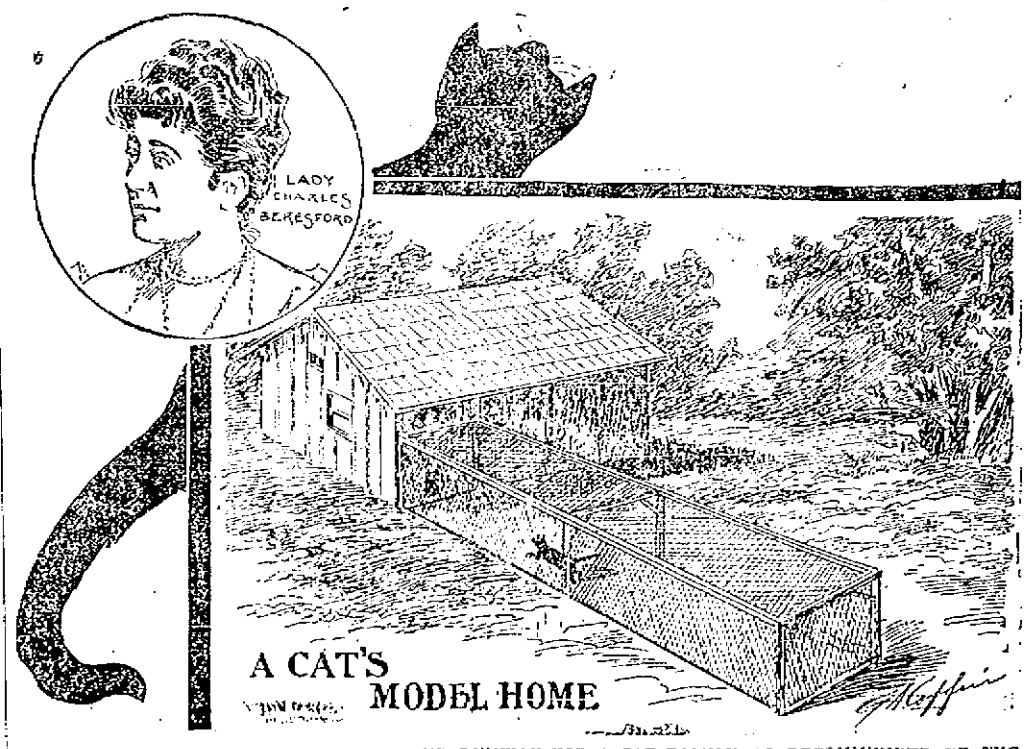

When walking Eugenie wears a long cloth cape and a small turban to match. She has never taken off mourning for the Prince Imperial, her only son, killed twenty years ago by the Zulus.

VIOLET PARASOLS.

Violets as usual are worn whenever a woman has an excuse to use them, and a pretty parasol had a bunch of them placed at the point of each spoke. The white chiffon was then so puffed and ruffled above them that it was hard to say just what the design was. But the effect was simply a white cloud. The smart coaching umbrellas are of plaid silk or the color to match a gown, and sometimes they are crimson. The color of the English hunting pinks is used, and the reflection is most becoming then.

Some of the parasols have mousseline de soie stretched tightly over the frame half way, so transparent that the shady part is small indeed. However, these are novel, and when appliqued with bow knots or medallions of lace they are bewitching.

LADY CHARLES BERESFORD, ONE OF THE MOST INTERESTING WOMEN IN ENGLAND, HAS A FAD FOR PET CATS. SHE IS THE PRESIDENT OF A CATS' CLUB AND IS THE OWNER OF VERY MANY FINE ANGORAS, AS WELL AS DOMESTIC BREEDS.

THIS PICTURE SHOWS A MODEL HOME AND RUNWAY FOR A CAT FAMILY AS RECOMMENDED BY THE CAT CLUB OF LONDON.

LOCAL MYSTERIES

BELANGER AND CHAPUT MURDERS

The Principal But There are Many Others.

From time to time the Lowell residents who keep a close watch upon criminal happenings of the day, revert to such matters around home and seem endeavor to penetrate our local criminal mysteries. But what are our criminal mysteries, the average reader may ask though the principal ones will be easily remembered by every citizen of middle age.

Lowell has only two great mysteries that are yet unsolved and they are the Belanger and Chaput murders, and striking circumstances are connected with each. These murders as I find by asking questions concerning them will never be forgotten while certain men live. The man who knows more about the Belanger case than anyone else, the late Inspector Daniel Hayes is dead. But he left some of the knowledge of the case behind him and that the murderer of Belanger is still alive and at no great distance from Lowell is firmly planted in many minds and a death confession is expected to solve the mystery. Some criticize the police department for not apprehending the murderer of Belanger.

Some also criticize the police for not apprehending the murderer of Dr. Chaput who at an early hour in the evening, committed his bloody deed, rushed down to busy Merrimack street from the O'Donnell & Gilbride block, and made his escape through a crowd that was rushing to the scene of the murder. A few days later two canadians were arrested as suspicious persons and were let go as nothing could be brought against them. One of them many believe was the man who committed the deed, but there was no proof against him. In fact the Caput murder remains the greatest of all mysteries, there being still more doubt surrounding it than that of Belanger.

The undertakers have more mysteries in their business than the police and J. W. Brooks, the nestor of local undertakers said to the Sun reporter that he has had so many cases in 35 years of his connection with undertaking that he cannot recall anyone in particular.

Now and then an unknown body is found in the river or a canal. The police gives it to the undertaker and the newspapers make an effort to have it identified, the police giving but little attention to the case unless it is pronounced one of foul play by the medical examiner. If at the time there are any persons missing from home, the friends of the missing one flock to the undertaker's shop and view the remains.

After a few days repose in the basement of the undertaker's shop, sometimes dignified by the name of "morgue" if no one has claimed them the remains are placed in a cheap pine box and driven to Potter's field in the undertaker's van and laid away without prayers or tears. I cannot recall a case when an unknown body has been disinterred for the purpose of identification.

Another class of mysterious cases which happen with distressing frequency in Lowell is that of the new born babe presumably illegitimate, often found in packages and cigar boxes in the dump and in the canal. Only recently such a case came to light in the Suffolk canal and the usual matter-of-fact course was taken. The body was removed to the undertaker's and was later interred in the Potter's field, which makes no distinction in young and old and whether or not the police made any extended effort to find the party or parties who left the body on the canal bank is not known. It would seem that the police should give special attention to these cases of infanticide by making an example of some one the prevalence of this lowest state of morality might be checked.

A searching investigation should follow the discovery of such bodies. Then there have been minor mysteries such as the incident of the thieves who stole a valuable collection of silverware from the Storey mansion at Tyler park not long ago. But in this case the police claim to be able to solve the mystery and will do so in a few months.

LABOR MATTERS

WORSHIP OF WEALTH

THIS IS THE RELIGION OF SO CALLED MODERN CIVILIZATION.

A Governor Who Voiced the Sentiments of the Dangerous Class—But He Frankly Admitted That "Our Cultivated Men Need Character."

[Special Correspondence.]

Only a few weeks ago a governor of one of our important states made a trip to another important one, and there he delivered several of those speeches with which any bright fellow can easily electrify the bulk of our fine people, with more wealth than brains, of the right kind, and also many just as short of brains as of wealth. A few brief morsels of those speeches shall be sufficient to show the mixed up, negative and fallacious ensemble of those orations in all that relates to the upheaval of humanity. The morsels are as follows:

"We need cultivated men, and our cultivated men need character." * * * "I don't believe in nations without scraps." * * * "I believe in success for the sake of success." * * * "I wish I could work with the reformers of the day, but I am not able, because of their impractibility or primitive savagery."

Nowhere in his speeches did our friend give us any specific ideas tending to ennoble the crudity, incoherence and vagueness of the sentences we have written down. And so our cultivated men have no character after centuries of education bent upon building up character! And our friend, one of those who in their own estimation must be extra well provided with character, he only believes in success for the sake of success, just the kind that all despots and monopolists, gamblers and schemers long for, work for, live and die for. If that has anything to do with character, then this world of ours has an abundance of it. We could afford to export quantities of that kind of character to other planets, and the less we had left the better off we would be, in so far as morality goes.

And what can be thought of the idea that nations should be ornamented with scraps? Scraps applied to the life of society, what can that mean but rascalities, corruption, problems unsolved which we should do our best not to solve? Because if we do then we shall have no troubles, no monopolists, no injustice, no poverty, no degradation anywhere. And that would never do for men like the one that talked that way, since he is well provided with earthly goods, being the son of a rich man.

Of course our friend cannot work with any set of reformers. To reform means to clean up, to get rid of scraps, of refuse and all that. A reformer, if he is somewhat fundamental, is down on monopoly, as it is the case with most savages. Monopoly has thus far been the concommittant of civilization, the wrong kind of course. Our governor was then logical with himself after all, with himself and his own class. The class that profits by our own scraps, our national filth, they like to play the reformer, and they see that iniquity may keep on flourishing as much as possible in respectable forms. Such people are always ready to swallow the camel—all fundamental wrongs, while making faces at the swallowing of gnats—incidental evils.

The preceding short analysis is intended to show our plain people the hollowness and vapidity of most of our good men with their loins well protected with wealth, or who are anxious to get it by any possible means compatible with wrong human laws. The less they talk or write on public matters the less such people expose themselves to unfold the barbarisms of their own civilization. Yet some of them are forced to talk, those who wish to court public favor for the sake of the eclat of public official positions and the means they offer for profitable investments, good salaries, etc. And they need to learn the science of manipulating language in such a way that they appear to say a great deal while saying nothing tangible or precise. They also must give the impression of being first class reformers, only for the purpose of making all reforms negative or ineffectual for general good.

In the midst of the fallacious language of our governor we should thank him for his rude frankness in saying that our cultivated men need character. Unfortunately he did not give us any receipt with which to improve our cultivated men, and his own language of his own ideals means nothing but the worship of unholy ambitions, success even if we can only get it through murderous wars against our brethren abroad, through conquests called expansion, and meaning in the end extending our monopoly rule beyond our natural frontiers.

As for a receipt through which to develop cultivated men with character, we suggest that there can be but one—viz A social organization resting on equal, strict justice to all, allowing all human beings to make the best of themselves under absolutely honest industrial adjustments. That would mean the complete demolition of our present industrial system controlled by thousands of modern satraps, each one much richer than the few in old Persia. We need an abundance for all. Wealth for none. And that implies a race which should not be crazy after wealth as ours is.

JOSE GROS.

Home For Infirm Union Men.

Members of the executive board of the New Jersey Federation of Trade and Labor Unions visited Lincoln, N. J., recently for the purpose of inspecting the proposed site for the location of a home for aged and infirm union workingmen, to be erected by that body. The home will be modeled after the Printers' home in Colorado, be three stories high, with all the latest sanitary arrangements and an electric light plant. It will cost not less than $20,000

COERCED LABOR.

Starved Into Subjection by a Soulless Money Making Machine.

Nearly three months ago the operatives of the American Plate Glass company, or trust, rather, of Alexandria, Ind., demanded more remuneration for their services. The company refused and shut down its works, declaring that it would not advance wages, nor ever again permit a union man to work for it. All these long weeks the works and the employees have been idle, but the company knew it was only a question of time when the operatives would have to yield. It was merely a question of which side would get hungry for bread first and surrender. The company was rich, and the employees were poor. The other day the operatives resumed work, after renouncing allegiance to the union. They could not live without bread, and their only course of procuring it was the plate glass company. Over 800 of them are now at work at their old places, but they are not the free men they were three months ago, nor are they as hungry as they were the day before they were forced to surrender their manhood. But no one will blame them for renouncing the union and resuming work. A man may face all sorts of situations and defy them, but when his wife and little ones cry for bread, and he has none to give them, what can he do but surrender?

What the American Plate Glass trust has done other trusts will do sooner or later. Meddlesome lawmakers, honest judges and organized labor are regarded by the trusts as their foes. Lawmakers may be influenced, judges may be "persuaded," but labor organizations must be crushed. There is not an industrial trust in America that feels kindly toward organized labor. The trusts are organized for the one purpose of making money for the trusts, and they would crush everything that refuses to yield to them, from raw material to skilled labor. So long as their employees maintain labor unions they know there will be organized resistance to unnecessary wage reductions, but if they can force wage earners to depend upon their individual resistance, as the plate glass trust has just done, the solution of the wage problem would be easy enough. They could make schedules to suit themselves and enforce them. But the mad rush of the trusts to destroy labor unions, influence legislation and circumvent courts will surely be their undoing. The patience of the people is about exhausted.—Kansas City Times.

Danger Ahead.

During the past year the writer has heard through various agencies a little of the sentiment that is running in commercial, political, religious, military, police and labor quarters on the great question of the time—the industrial problem—and it seems that now we are nearing a serious crisis.

During a recent sojourn in this city Father Huntington, the itinerant Episcopal priest, in a conversation with two labor men deplored the irreconcilable views he hears while traveling over the country and mingling with all sorts, from aristocratic church congregations to workingmen in their meetings. He expressed grave apprehension of widespread trouble in the near future.

Father Huntington said what most alarmed him was the talk he had heard among the well to do business men and others in various parts of the country, in which they hoped for an increase of the army and police force, for a large strengthening of the military arm of government and for the prompt and complete suppression of industrial disturbances.

Add to this what is dropped by commercial travelers and what leaks out from the officers' rooms in armories and from the nervous men in Wall street, and you have capitalism in aggressive attitude.

A few days ago there was in this city an agent and organizer of the Minute-men of America, and he did some business while here.

The labor editor has it from reliable sources that the miners in various sections have large supplies of arms and dynamite secreted and ready for use "some day."

A well known and usually conservative delegate to the Central Federated union from a large trade union in this city said he favored the calling of a convention to represent every central labor body in the United States to consider ways and means of forcibly resisting unwarranted military interference with civil relations.—New York Evening Journal.

The Uniform Working Card.

The uniform working card for all the different crafts in the building trades as issued by the Building Trades council of Chicago seems to be a happy solution of a question which is perplexing similar bodies in other cities, particularly in New York and St. Louis, and has proved itself a great benefit to the local unions affiliated. The card has the name, seal and location of the Building Trades council on one side. On the other is the name, seal, meeting night, number of the local union, blank line for name of holder and the quarter for which it is issued. The cards are not issued by the local unions, but by the council to which each affiliated union direct, according to its membership, thus preventing the cards falling into the hands of persons who are not entitled to their use and benefit. Should a faction of any union secede or withdraw from the Building Trades council and form an independent organization such union or faction would not be recognized nor receive the quarterly working card of the Chicago council, and any man working in the building trades without the card is considered a nonunion man, with the result that the other men on the building will not work with him, and a strike will follow unless the contractor discharges the man.—Chicago Times-Herald.

FINAL TRIBUTE

To Late Mrs. Almira N. Hobbs

REV. S. T. FORD OFFICIATING CLERGYMAN.

Quartette Singing and Many Beautiful Floral Tributes.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Mrs. Almira N. Hobbs were held yesterday afternoon at 281 High street. There was a large attendance of immediate friends and relatives, many being present from out-of-town. Services were impressively conducted by Rev. Smith T. Ford, pastor of the First Baptist church and there was singing of selected hymns by a quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. George Burns, Mrs. J. W. Sherburne, and Mr. W. Wirt. There was a profusion of costly and beautiful floral tributes. The remains were this forenoon forwarded by Undertaker Young to South Berwick, Me., for interment.

The deceased was the widow of the late Frank G. Hobbs, for a long time in charge of the local freight department of the western division of the Boston & Maine railroad and was the mother of the late Miss Grace Hobbs, who died only a few weeks ago. She leaves many friends to mourn her death. Two daughters survive, Misses Marion A., and Fannie G. Hobbs; also one brother, Postmaster A. G. Thompson, and a sister, Mrs. W. D. Nelson of Maine.

Mrs. Hobbs was a woman of many rare Christian attainments. Her faith firm, her piety genuine, she formed ties of affection that even death cannot sever. She had a keen insight of true worth and beauty, her tastes and ideals were all refined, her judgment sound, and a firm will in her conviction of right. In her church, too, she will be sadly missed, but her church associates will feel thoroughly conscious that although a great life has been taken and an impressive service ended, a beautiful character has attained its coronation.

Mrs. Hobbs' interest in all good work was constant and her charity was thoughtful, systematic and spontaneous. Fidelity was a great watchword of her life. In her home she will be particularly missed and the devotion to the bereaved daughters, now called upon to mourn a loving mother, will be an incentive and an inspiration for them to follow her in the path of righteousness.

Auctioneer Keyes was a busy man Saturday. He sold at his regular Saturday sale, 42 horses, 27 carriages, 5 new bicycles, 9 second hand ones. A number of the buyers came from the surrounding towns. At 3 o'clock, he sold a cottage house at No. 5 Merrill court to Joseph Flemming for $1012. The bidding was very spirited at this sale and the price obtained was considered very good for the present market. At 4 o'clock for Frederick Lawton, executor, 14,000 square feet of land on South Whipple street, was purchased by Alphonse Bibeault for 7 cents per square foot. At 5 o'clock the Monahan estate on West Third street. The attendance at this sale was very large and was purchased by Mrs. Nellie S. Fiske for $1525. HORACE H. KNAPP

FRED A. BATES WAS TRANSFERRED

To His Former Position of Inspector.

Horace H. Knapp was elected agent of the board of health at a meeting held Saturday afternoon.

At the same meeting, Fred A. Bates was transferred from the position of agent to that formerly held by him—inspector of contagious diseases—the transfer to take place upon the approval of Mayor Crowley.

After approving monthly bills, Secretary Mulligan announced that he had received from the civil service commission notice that the only persons now on the list eligible for agent of the department are John F. Murphy and Horace H. Knapp.

Mr. Fifield then moved that Mr. Bates be transferred to the office of inspector of contagious diseases after the transfer has been approved by the mayor, according to the acts of 1894, Chapter 519. Dr. Packer opposed the motion, but it passed by a vote of 2 to 1.

Mr. Fifield then moved that Horace H. Knapp be appointed agent. Chairman Packer opposed on the ground that the appropriation would not stand it and he also said Mr. Knapp had been severely criticised and had left the department "under a cloud."

Mr. Fifield denied that Mr. Knapp had gone out "under a cloud" and said that when judged by an impartial jury—the civil service commission, who heard both sides of the case—no fault was found with his conduct while in office and his name was promptly restored to the civil service list. Had there been any cause for complaint, the commission would not have restored his name.

The motion was then carried, Dr. Packer voting in the negative.

Mr. Bates said he was not prepared to say that he would ask for a hearing on his removal from the office of agent but said he would know next Tuesday. He wanted to know something about the salary in his new position if he accepted it, but Chairman Packer ruled the inquiry was not in order.

It was announced that the copy of the garbage contract was held in Toledo on account of insufficient postage and it would be here this week.

VERY EASY TIME

Bostons Not Troubled in Defeating Cincinnati

COLLINS PUT UP A FINE GAME.

Lewis Pitched a Good Game.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, June 5.—The Bostons made the Cincinnatis look like a lot of selling platers Saturday, whining hands down. The eminent Emerson Hawley was in the box, and held the champions down in good style in the early part of the game, but in the fifth his support gave way and in the next inning he was hit hard.

Ted Lewis was in the box for the Bostons and pitched a strong and steady game. The only run off his pitching was due to the only base on balls in the game, a steal and Beckley's double in the first. In five innings after that the Cincinnatis went out in order. Another run was made in the last on errors.

Selbach was back in the game, playing centre field and Steinfeldt relieved McPhee at second. Steinfeldt is easily the liveliest article in the Cincinnati infield. He did splendid work yesterday. "St. Jacob" Beckley played first in the finest possible style and was the only one of the Cincis who was able to wield his bat with effect.

The Bostons played their regular pennant game. Collins was a host at third, and put up a game well calculated to cause the spectators to stare in wonder. Hard hits or slow, bunts, wide or high, right or left—nothing escaped his wonderful maw and it was all done with the ease of a French professor of dancing.

The score by innings:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Boston	0	1	0	0	2	4	1	0	—8

Earned runs—Boston 6. Two-base hits—Duffy, Beckley. Home runs, Stafford, Clarke. Sacrifice hits,—Lowe Stafford, Selbach, Long. Stolen bases—Smith, Steinfeldt. First base on balls—Smith. First base on errors—Boston, 3, Cincinnati 4. Left on bases, Boston 4, Cincinnati 6. Struck out,—Selbach, Peitz. Double play—Corcoran and Beckley. Passed ball, Clarke. Time, 1h. 53m. Umpires—Messrs. Burns and Smith. Attendance—5500.

The other games resulted as follows:

Brooklyn 13; Cleveland 4.
Louisville, 5, New York 2.
Pittsburg 15; Philadelphia 3.
Washington 11; St. Louis, 2.
Chicago 14; Baltimore 5.

BIRDS STARTED LATE

SATURDAY EVENING NONE OF THOSE SET FREE HAD SHOWN UP IN LOWELL.

The fly of the Lowell Homing club Saturday from Paterson, N. J., to Lowell was not a success, owing to the lateness of the hour, 11.45 a. m. at which the birds were set free.

The number of birds entered was: Dyer 10, Youngjohns 9, Fletcher 2, Stanley 2, Fralich 1.

The weather was fair at the time of the liberation. None of the birds reported at 8 p. m. The timing will be resumed at daylight, Sunday.

The next fly will be from Philadelphia next Saturday and a request will be made to let the birds loose at 6 a. m.

ANNUAL OF DEPUTY SHERIFFS.

The deputy sheriffs of Middlesex county will hold their annual meeting next month at Lawndale Farm, a 90-acre place on the Nashua road, as guests of Deputy Sheriffs Baker and Stiles, the owners of the farm.

MACK IN TROUBLE.

James J. Mack, who was found asleep in a doorway on Newbury street, Lawrence had on a United States regular army uniform. He told Judge Stone that he had only money enough to take him back to Boston, where he was obliged to report for duty this afternoon and his honor allowed the case to be continued for sentence.

Mack recently appeared in the Lowell police court for drunkenness and making a similar plea was allowed to depart by Judge Hadley. He is a slick chap who at one time resided in Lowell.

MISS McLAUGHLIN HOME.

Miss Louise McLaughlin, Lowell's well known soprano has returned home after a two months' engagement with the Alice Neilson opera company. Miss McLaughlin joined this large company of 100 people in Providence, R. I., which has since that time appeared in all of the larger cities including New York City, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Cincinnati and Chicago where the season was recently closed. In the company were 100 people who presented the "Fortune Teller." Next season the Neilson company will present the "Singing Girl" and will cross the Atlantic, opening in London. Miss McLaughlin was the guest of honor at a trolley party given in her honor by Lowell friends last evening.

BASE BALL NEWS.

NOTES OF LOCAL PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

Neither of the local rival semi-profs. knew until the eleventh hour which team Billy Connors was going to play with.

The entrance of Flo Murray of the Shamrocks into a higher class is noted with pleasure by the base ball editor who predicts that manager Callahan of the Mathews with whom he has signed will find him "worthy of his steel," and an inspiration to his fellow-players.

On next Friday the greatest game of the season between two teams composed of school boys will take place at the Atherton grounds, where the Belvideres and Lowell High schools will contest for honors. Manager Murphy of the Highs is already out hustling for the success of the event and it is assumed Joe McCaffrey and the other Belvideres are also.

Both teams will be considerably strengthened as they have more than an ordinary wish to win. Cronin will most likely pitch for the Highs and he will be received by Bruce.

The Shamrocks have suffered more than any other amateur team this season by departure of players to bigger teams. Six of the Shamrocks have been taken away from Manager Kavanaugh's paternal fold and if the remaining ones continue to play as they are now doing, nothing will be left of the original team.

An attempt is being made by Mike Keegan, et. als to reorganize the old Wannalancits, which started out last year on a victorious career, which was seriously interrupted by only the Shamrocks. The Keeganites which were always a part of the Reds do not doubt that they can put that team in an even better condition than it was last year.

Ganley of this city is as persistent in his campaign against pitchers' curves as the Globe man who has never corrected his mistake in writing the Lowell boy's name "Gauley." Ganley has not made an error for almost a week, while his total number of hits in the same time run into the 20s.

Jimmy Slines who will go to third base for the South Ends in the future is as experienced in that position as behind the bat and he is good in both places.

The Fairmonts and Shamrocks will play at Atherton grounds for a purse of $25 on Saturday next. Manager Queenan is trying to get Kavanaugh to sign an agreement to play for that amount.

At the New England league meeting Connie Murphy of the Brockton team said that he had money enough on hand to pay all his players and leave something for himself. There was nothing said about the finances of the Cambridge-Lowell aggregation. There was talk of trying the Lawrences at Haverhill, but nothing certain could be promised and it was decided not to take any more chances.

PRESENTED SILVER SERVICE.

The friends in this city of Mr. John H. Anderson, for the past four years overseer of carding in the Lancaster mills, Clinton, will be pleased to learn that he has resigned his position to accept a more lucrative one with the Bibb Manufacturing Co., Covington, Ga. He assumes his new duties June 10. At the close of his work, Saturday, his help came to the office and presented him with a silver tea service—butter dish and fruit dish, also a fine amethyst ring, as tokens of their esteem. He has the best wishes of a large circle of friends as he goes to his new field of labor.

Mr. John and Miss Mary McCarthy of Lawrence were among the out-of-town visitors at the Textile school graduation exercises.

Miss Edith Pollard will sail from New York Wednesday, June 14th with a party of young ladies from Miss Dana's school, in Morristown, N. J., under the chaperonage of the teachers.

Prosperity Circle C. of F. intends to soon present the drama, "The Two Orphans." The play will be portrayed by members of the circles, several of whom have dramatic experience.
